WILLKIE HURLS NEW CHALLENGE AT ROOSEVELT

He Gets No Answer on Dictator Bill.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rushville, Ind., Aug. 30.—Wendell Willkie today challenged President Roosevelt's assertion that he does not comment on pending legislation. The assertion was Mr. Roosevelt's answer to the Republican nominee's demand for a statement of the President's attitude toward the Overton-Russell dictatorship amendment to the military conscription bill.

Willkie also declared that his Democratic opponent had subscribed to a misrepresentation when, by implication, he approved the charge of his running mate, Henry A. Wallace, that the Republican party is the party of appeasement.

"Read the Platform."

If the President will read the Republican platform and his acceptance speech, the misrepresentation will be clear to him, Willkie said.

Willkie's statements were made after he had been shown a report of the Roosevelt press conference this morning in Hyde Park, N. Y. This carried the Presidential assertion that he would not meet his opponent's demand for an expression on the Overton-Russell amendment, which Willkie yesterday described as an attempt to sovietize American economy.

He cannot answer, the President said, because since he came to the White House in 1933 he has followed a rule of not commenting upon legislation or amendments while they are being considered by congress.

He Charges Politics.

Mr. Roosevelt said it was obvious that Willkie was attempting to involve him in a political discussion. Let us all acknowledge it, he said, and let it stop there.

"It is difficult to believe reports of the President's press conference," Willkie said. "I cannot believe the President meant to say he has never commented on pending legislation.

"Did he have nothing to say about the legislation packing the Supreme court while that legislation was pending in congress?

"Did he not tell congress to pass the Guffey coal act irrespective of doubts about its constitutionality?

"If my memory serves me correctly, the President has commented many times on pending legislation, but even if he has not, I think it is the clear duty of a President of the United States to state his position on important pending legislation.

Repeats His Question.

"Again I ask the President, without regard to my motives—is he for or against the Overton-Russell amendment? Was it introduced in the United States senate with his knowledge and approval? Does he believe in its principles?"

The Republican nominee met another of Roosevelt's Hyde Park statements—that Willkie is attempting to draw him into a political discussion—by saying that the President was correct "if he meant to imply that I am doing my very best to induce him to state his position on problems confronting the American people."

"I think," Willkie continued, "it is the duty of a man running for President to state his position on such problems, and doubly so when he is seeking a third term."

Accepts Debate Invitation.

"I can think of no more appropriate place to discuss one of the important issues of the day in the tradition of Lincoln and Douglas—each of whom felt a deep obligation to present their views to the public when they were seeking office."

Referring to Wallace's acceptance speech, to which he listened by radio last night, Willkie repeated his asser-

LAWYER BARES BIG DEALS FOR GAMING JOINTS

Goldstein on Stand Against Ex-Client.

BY FRANK CIPRIANI.

The government struck its first major blow yesterday against William [Bill] Johnson, reputed gambling overlord, in his trial in the federal District court on charges of income tax evasion.

William Goldstein.

It called to the witness stand William Goldstein, for many years Johnson's friend and lawyer. And thru Goldstein's testimony it put into the record the details of numerous real estate transactions in which Johnson acquired properties in Chicago and in Cook and Du Page counties. Some of those properties later were converted into gambling houses. All in all, Goldstein testified, he spent approximately $430,000 of Johnson's money—all in cash.

Johnson and eight co-defendants are accused of conspiracy to evade the payment of $1,887,864 in income taxes for the years 1936 thru 1939.

Charge Concealment of Income.

Johnson is charged with evading the payments and the others with conspiring with him by posing as the owners of gambling places which allegedly were his own. In that manner, the government contends, Johnson was able to conceal his actual income and to cheat the tax collector.

The trial is before a jury in Judge John P. Barnes' court.

The government introduced Goldstein's testimony in an effort to build up what it described as the expenditures phase of the case. By revealing the sums Johnson spent it expects to show that his income was higher than he reported in his income tax statements. The government estimated that his income was nearly $3,400,000 during the disputed years as against his reported income of $700,000.

Goldstein, thin haired and gray and with a close clipped mustache, created a stir when he strode to the witness stand. The traditional gambler calm of some of the defendants seemed shaken.

Co-defendants Eye Him Silently.

All eyed him silently. Then Johnson, immaculately dressed in a light summer suit blending with his nearly white hair, began rocking back and forth in his swivel chair. Andrew [Red] Creighton, one of the defendants, rubbed his lips nervously. Ed Wait, another defendant, cast his eyes down. John Flanagan and the remaining defendants stared stonily ahead.

Goldstein, who for years was reputed to be the lawyer of the Johnson-Skidmore gambling combine, is himself under indictment on a charge of perjury and originally was indicted with Johnson in the income tax case. The income tax charge against him was dropped Tuesday at the opening of the trial, and it was reported then that he might be a government witness.

Earle C. Hurley, assistant United States attorney in charge of the prosecution, guided Goldstein into Johnson's real estate deals.

The government considered his testimony damaging, but when it was over Goldstein remarked he "had been and still was Johnson's friend."

Tells of Buying Lots.

Under Hurley's examination, Goldstein told of buying lots at 97th street and Western avenue, where later the Club Western was born; of buying a bank building at 3424 Lawrence avenue, which eventually became the gambling outfit's clearing house; of purchasing buildings and land near Wheeling, which later blossomed into the Bon Air Country club, and of acquiring an old roadhouse in Morton Grove, which afterward was reborn as the Dells casino.

These were only a few items. There were others, including Sunny Acres

Rep. F. E. Hook Sued by Clerk as Love Pirate

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 [Special].—Representative Frank E. Hook [D., Ironwood, Mich.] was named defendant today in a $50,000 damage suit filed in federal District court, accusing him as a love pirate who won the heart of a government employé's wife.

The plaintiff is Earl D. Griffin, a statistical clerk for the Public Works administration. He charged that his wife, Helen M. Griffin, left him in 1938 as a result of Hook's wooing. Mrs. Griffin is a secretary in the office of Representative Joseph A. McArdle [D., Pa.].

Career Stormy One.

Congressman Hook's career in Washington has been a stormy one, both off and on the floor of the house. In March, 1935, he was in a free for all fist fight with several men in the Mayflower hotel and emerged with a black eye. Later that year he was defiant when it was discovered his father and three of his brothers had received government relief.

In October, 1938, Hook was sued for $50,000 slander by Wilbur M. Brucker, Republican candidate for United States senator from Michigan. It was charged that Hook called Brucker a member of the Black Legion.

Last January Hook placed in the Congressional Record copies of letters [later shown to be forgeries] purporting to link Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.], head of the committee investigating subversive activities, with William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts, an anti-Semitic group. This material and Hook's remarks were expunged from the record after Hook apologized to the house.

Married for 21 Years.

Griffin's petition today said he was married in 1919, has a son, William, 20 years old, and had lived happily with his wife until Jan. 1, 1936, when Hook "took an undue interest" in Mrs. Griffin's personal affairs. Hook was alleged to have entertained her, written her endearing letters, and enticed her from her husband.

As a result, the bill said, Mrs. Griffin's affections turned from her husband to Hook and she left Griffin on Dec. 5, 1938, taking her son with her.

Hook, who is married and has two children, is in Michigan, his capitol office said today. His secretary, W. H. McNamara, said the congressman would be informed of the suit immediately.

NORWEGIAN PRINCESS GIVEN REFUGEE FUND IN ROOSEVELT HOME

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 30 [Special].—In the big drawing room of President Roosevelt's Hudson river home this afternoon, Crown Princess Martha of Norway and her children participated in ceremonies wherein $135,000 contributed in pennies by American school children was turned over to various organizations for the benefit of the refugee children of Europe.

Norway's royal refugees were represented by Princess Ragnhild, 10 years old, who solemnly accepted eight checks in behalf of the children of Europe.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt are expected to bring the crown princess and her children to the annual meeting tomorrow of the Roosevelt Home club, an organization of Dutchess county Democrats. The President will speak and the crown princess also may be asked to talk.

NAZIS FIND BODY OF WOMAN PILOT BELIEVED BRITISH

BERLIN, Aug. 30 (AP).—The body of a young woman believed by the Germans to have been an English military flyer, was washed ashore today on the Schleswig-Holstein coast. A pocket of the trousers, of a brown green material similar to that used in some British uniforms, held a watch on the back of which was an engraved design of an airplane.

Roosevelt Won't Discuss Campaign Book Charges

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 30 [Special].—President Roosevelt in a press conference today refused to comment on charges involving the Democratic party's campaign book. The President also refused to talk about the proposed transfer to Great Britain of 50 or more American destroyers. The subject is too involved, he said.

Seek Little Bird That Isn't Here, a Red Canary

BY MARCIA WINN.

Scientists lament that nature, the nature that Rousseau and Darwin knew, is being neglected or destroyed in various parts of the world today. So a cluster of men and women met in the Hotel Sherman last night to give nature a helping hand.

The men and women are members of the Red-Orange institute of Chicago, and their current goal is a new blood line, the blood line of the red canary. Only there is no red canary.

You may ask them why, and they will remind you that once cardinals were green, with only a scarlet pate. Now find a green cardinal if you can.

The Time May Come.

Some day, by the same reasoning, there may be no yellow canaries. All will be red, if the institute achieves success, but at that unhappy date, the struggle will be considered useless, for a red canary no longer will be valuable. Right now it is, or would be, if it existed.

The institute has heard that some one in Middletown, O., has achieved a mahogany canary, but no one has seen it, and none of the 39 members is willing to accept this sight unseen. No one in Chicago, according to Fred E. Daw of 545 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, spokesman for the institute, has even achieved a red-orange one yet, altho he has a cinnamon wonder he refused $50 for.

May Take 10 Years.

To get a red canary, breeders are crossing a buff or yellow canary [Mr. Daw goes for buff] with a red hooded siskin, a little South American bird with black wings and a plaintive, chattery song. Breeders think it will take at least 10 years to get a canary even faintly red out of this. Mr. Daw's was only cinnamon on the fifth generation.

The first generation usually is of a mottled, darkish hue that isn't listed in routine art class color spectra. Then all sorts of delightful surprises come. Some are apricot, some light orange, some deep orange, some lemon, some ivory, and some seashell pink.

When the red canary finally arrives, both its size and its song probably will be attenuated, but, says Mr. Daw, "The public will be fascinated by that beautiful color—we want carnation red—and they'd pay a large price for it."

HEART OF CITY ATTACKED; BRITISH REPEL FOUR RAIDS

Homes and Offices in German Capital Are Wrecked.

BERLIN, Aug. 31, Saturday (AP).—British warplanes dropped dozens of bombs on Berlin today, some of which fell near the center of the city, started fires in two apartment houses and slightly damaged an electrical appliance factory in the west end of the capital.

One high explosive bomb fell in the court yard of the fire department headquarters on Linden street, blasting a seven foot hole in a concrete floor and smashing windows in the neighborhood. One bomb fell within two blocks of the Associated Press office, Zimmerstrasse, 68, S. W. 68, in the heart of the city.

[The fire department headquarters on Linden street is only four blocks east of the Wilhelmstrasse, on which the reichs chancellery, the foreign office, and other important government buildings are located.]

Call Military Damage Small.

Authorities said damage to establishments which might be regarded as military objectives was extremely small.

A number of bombs also fell in the southeast section of the city, causing large fires. This was the section bombed Thursday morning, when 10 civilians were killed and 28 injured.

The raiders were greeted with an ear-splitting barrage from hundreds of antiaircraft guns as they roared over the capital in several groups. Tracer bullets cut arcs thru the darkness and searchlights stabbed the sky.

Two incendiary bombs crashed thru the roof of tiny Evangelical Christus church in Diefenbach street in the southeast section, starting a blaze in the choir loft which was quickly extinguished. An apartment house next door to the church was damaged extensively by fire and the walls of nearby Bethesda hospital were scorched. All patients of the hospital were safe in underground shelters.

Authorities said the nearest thing to a military objective struck by the bombers was the vast Siemens Schuckert electrical works in west Berlin.

Big Factory Is Damaged.

Newspaper correspondents rushed to the plant in five automobiles, where they saw the effect of one high explosive bomb which hit the corner of a one story brick building in which lumber was being seasoned. The bomb ripped out about 60 feet of the wall.

In another part of the big factory two incendiary bombs started fires in a yard where lumber was stored in scattered piles. The blazes, which the works foreman said destroyed about $50 worth of lumber, were quickly extinguished.

As the correspondents inspected the damage several thousand workers filed in to take over the early shift. The plant manufactures electrical cables.

The largest fire started by the bombs broke out in Ritter street in the southeast, only a few blocks from the spot where the most serious damage occurred in last Thursday's raid.

Blaze Rages an Hour.

There explosive and incendiary bombs smashed into the roof of a building occupied by small workshops and some workers' apartments, starting a blaze which burned for several hours and destroyed the homes of several dozen families.

In Linden street a few doors from the bombed fire department headquarters an explosive bomb unroofed and extensively damaged the two top floors of an office building occupied by the Reichs Medical chamber [an organization corresponding to the American Medical association].

Thruout this region in the south and southeast of Berlin numerous small fires were started by incendiary bombs, many of which were recovered. They were metal tubes two inches in diameter and a foot long.

An explosive bomb smashed into the middle of Sebastian street, also in the southeast, blowing all the windows out of a school on one side and an apartment house on the other.

The fire near Christus church was said to have given authorities the most concern, because of the possibility of its spreading to Bethesda hospital. But it was brought under control after wrecking ten floors.

Fight Over London Area Goes on for Seven Hours.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Aug. 31, Saturday (AP).—A government communique announced today that Nazi air attacks last night were "dispersed over many parts of the country" and that there was no "heavy damage" despite a "considerable number of German planes engaged. The communique said that damage was done to houses in residential districts by incendiary bombs and that some casualties were reported.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 31 [4:30 a. m., Saturday].—The British air force was reported to have routed 1,500 German warplanes yesterday and early today in fierce battles over the London area and other sections of England and Wales.

At the end of more than 24 hours' fighting in the sky, which included four attacks on the London area by Adolf Hitler's air fleet the air ministry announced that the Germans had lost 62 planes to 19 for the British. The ministry also declared that more than 1,000 German planes had been destroyed this month.

[In Berlin the Germans put the British losses during the day at 80 planes and acknowledged the loss of 21 of their own.]

Fourth Alarm Sets Record.

Three of the attacks on the London area occurred during daylight. For the first time the capital had four alarms in a day.

For almost seven hours the drone of German and British planes, bomb explosions, and the roar of antiaircraft guns were heard. The all clear signal sounded shortly before 4 a. m.

The extent of the damage inflicted by the so-called German "pest patrol" last night and early today was not known tho some fires were observed. Contrary to the previous attacks which were beaten off, the last raid apparently was carried out by planes flying in small groups.

Report Bombs Hit Hospital.

Five incendiary bombs were reported to have struck a hospital in the outskirts of London. Another institution was said to have been fired.

In one section of the metropolitan area searchlights held a bombing plane in their beams as red splashes of bursting antiaircraft shells appeared around the raider. Later news agency reports said one raider had been shot down.

The raiders loosed salvos of bombs on the suburban areas and were given a surprise when they found British fighting planes waiting to engage them in the web of searchlights as they sought to pierce the defenses.

A dozen heavy explosions were heard in rapid succession. One tremendous explosion shook buildings in one section of the city. Later a brilliant flare was visible in the sky.

400 Planes in First Raid.

In all four raids bombs plunged to the earth on the edge of London. The first alarm came about noon Friday. The high explosive bombs dropped, damaging gas and water mains and houses. The air raid sirens wailed following reports that a fleet of 400 enemy planes had crossed the English channel. This attack was reported to have been repelled by British planes.

During the second raid shortly afterward, antiaircraft fire was heard in the distance. Tho some bombs were said to have been dropped by the invaders, no explosions were heard in mid London.

The third alarm, however, disclosed an insistent attack in the direction of London's airdromes. The Tribune correspondent heard nine bombs explode. Smoke appeared in the direction from which the explosions had been heard.

The ministries of air and home security acknowledged that an undisclosed number of persons had been killed in the raids on England.

Nazi planes pounded British industrial centers in the northwest, the southeast, and south Wales, giving Manchester, a great textile center, its worst drubbing of the war. A mother and her two children were reported killed in Manchester.

RUMANIA YIELDS TERRITORY UNDER DICTATE OF AXIS

Tribune Reporter Sees Historic Meeting.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Aug. 30.—Amidst a setting of high drama in the golden cabinet room of historic Belvedere palace, Germany and Italy this afternoon took approximately half of Transylvania from Rumania and gave it back to Hungary.

Under the settlement, Rumania must transfer the whole of northern Transylvania within two weeks. In return, the axis powers pledged to protect the shrunken Rumanian frontiers against new encroachments from any direction, be it Hungary, Bulgaria, or Russia. If new friction should arise, the axis again will arbitrate the issues.

This newest amputation of its national territory, combined with the loss of Bessarabia and northern Bukovina to Russia and the already agreed to cession of southern Dobruja to Bulgaria, will have reduced Rumania from a nation of close to 20,000,000 people to one of about 15,000,000 within less than three months. All of this, too, without going thru a war. The agreement today cost Rumania about 2,000,000 of her population.

A Dramatic Scene.

It was a dramatic scene which the correspondents in Vienna witnessed this afternoon. We filed solemnly into the high ceilinged, small room with its graceful rococo curves and big windows overlooking the French gardens of Belvedere palace.

To the left of Von Ribbentrop sat the Rumanian foreign minister, Mihail Manoilescu. He was deathly pale as Von Ribbentrop and Ciano read their speeches assuring the delegates that everything had been done to safeguard peace in southeastern Europe.

Recovers After Drink.

For a few moments it looked as tho Manoilescu would faint. Germany's chief of protocol, 6 feet 6 inch Herr von Doernberg, saw his plight, however, and sent a young Schutzstaffle [picked Hitler guard] officer rushing to the rescue with a drink from a cut crystal water bottle and a goblet that may have served Archduke Franz Ferdinand, whose murder in Sarajevo precipitated the world war. The archduke was the last occupant of Belvedere castle in Austria's imperial day.

Manoilescu recovered by the time Ciano and Von Ribbentrop had finished their speeches and proceeded with the official party to the signing ceremonies.

Manoilescu's partner in the negotiations, Valer Pop, sat outwardly unmoved. It was asserted that Pop, a Transylvanian, had refused to consider a compromise and resigned, but that Bucharest had ordered him to remain at his post.

Axis intervention in the territorial dispute had been precipitated by the collapse last week of direct negotiations between Hungary and Rumania at Turnu-Severin.

BOWS RELUCTANTLY

VIENNA, Aug. 30 (AP).—The axis decision to award approximately half of Rumanian Transylvania to Hungary returns to that country the territory she lost after the world war and to which she never renounced her claim. Rumania made it plain that she was bowing reluctantly to the axis shaped agreement.

Options regarding citizenship and other formalities were taken care of in today's seven point award which the Rumanians and Hungarians agreed to abide by. Rumanians living in the ceded area automatically become Hungarian citizens, with the privilege of acquiring Rumanian citizenship. Those who do this must leave the ceded area within a year, taking their movable property with them and being permitted to liquidate their more substantial holdings.

A protocol attached to the award set forth that Hungary and Rumania, in asking the axis powers to arbitrate their dispute, would consider the decision binding and without reservations.

The protocol said it was on this understanding that Germany and Italy agreed to act as arbiters.

The settlement was described as a sort of "swap" with Rumania giving up northern Transylvania, including some of her own people, and retaining in return a number of Hungarians in the south who could not be returned to Hungary except by an awkward corridor. Included in the ceded territory is the Szekler area, which formed a sack in the very heart of Rumania, and which the Hungarians particularly were determined to get.

Authorized sources emphasized that the Rumanians are keeping approximately 500,000 Germans in the southern Transylvania regions.

Last Problem Settled.

Joachim von Ribbentrop, the German foreign minister, stressed that the last territorial problem now has been settled in the Danube area and indicated the axis would stand for no further revision. He characterized the decision as "impartial and just."

The Hungarians, sources close to the Magyar delegation said, received roughly two-thirds of their original demands.

In the conferences Germany took the opportunity to put into writing measures to secure in Hungary and Rumania the right of German minorities to organize along Nazi lines in sports, youth training, liberal arts, and other activities.

Hungary Rejoices.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 30 (AP).—Hungary's army awaited eagerly tonight the signal to advance into that part of Transylvania which Rumania ceded under pressure from Germany and Italy. The nation was in a high state of jubilation.

The settlement imposed by the axis appeared to make both Rumania and Hungary satellites of German and Italian foreign policy. Its main point, as seen here, was to cut short any further Russian expansion into the Balkans.

For this nation the return of northern Transylvania is the realization of a long dream. Eager crowds pawed for newspaper extras thruout the country; into tens of thousands of Hungarian homes radio loudspeakers brought military marches. Thousands of Hungarians who had fled Transylvania more than two decades ago made plans to go back to their old homes.

Rumania Gives Up Another Slice

Diagonal shading designates portion of Transylvania which Rumania yesterday agreed to return to Hungary because of pressure from the Rome-Berlin axis. Bessarabia and northern Bukovina recently were given up to soviet Russia.

HERE'S NEW FRONTIER OF RUMANIA AS CUT OUT BY AXIS POWERS

VIENNA, Aug. 30 (AP).—Rumania's new made-in-Vienna border roughly cuts Transylvania in two, leaving southern and southwestern portions of the province in King Carol's domain, but restoring to Hungary a larger area in the northern portion and giving back to her a long stretch of her old prewar mountain border in the east.

Specifically, the new border begins at a point southwest of Nagy Szalonta [Salonta], runs northeast to a point about seven miles southeast of Oradea Mare [Grosswardein], then in an easterly direction, but always south of and near the railway from Oradea Mare to Cluj [Klausenburg], thence south past Cluj to a point approximately 20 miles northwest of Tirgu-Muresului [Neumarkt].

From there the new border runs to a point southwest of Tirgu-Muresului and then proceeds in a southeasterly direction, but leaves in Rumanian hands the railway from Segisvara [Schaessburg] to Brasov [Kronstadt]. About 14 miles northeast of Brasov that line makes an elbow bulging to the south and then running eastward to the ridge of the Carpathians, which it then follows in accordance with the old prewar mountain border northward to a point where it reaches the new Rumanian-Soviet boundary.

RUMANIANS FACE TRAGIC FLIGHT IN HUNT FOR HOMES

Bitter Over Surrender of Transylvania.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 31, Saturday.—The crown council of this dismembered kingdom, having surrendered nearly half of Transylvania to Hungary yesterday, conferred into the early hours of this morning on steps to take in view of that capitulation.

There will be many tears shed over the settlement as it becomes known. Some families who had already lost their holdings in Bessarabia when the Russians took it over in June now will lose what they have in Transylvania.

Most of those who will leave the area will not be able to take enough with them to live comfortably. Those with money are all right, but they are comparatively few. The great majority of those moving will be peasants who have only tiny farms and live stock and no capital with which to start over again.

Bitter Resentment.

There is bitter resentment among the Rumanians who have heard of the country's loss. That resentment is directed both against those leaders responsible for trusting Germany and the Germans themselves. It was Germany, acting in accord with Italy, that dictated Transylvania's surrender at a conference in Vienna yesterday.

In return for the ceded land, Rumania received an axis pledge to maintain the integrity of its new boundaries. This will permit German soldiers to occupy Rumania's eastern frontier and stand face to face with Russian troops.

Some leaders such as Juliu Maniu, Peasant party chieftan and former premier, would like to disown the settlement and fight against any odds to keep the territory. There is little chance of that, however. Such a move probably would mean Russian invasion from one side and German from the other. There is still a good chance that Maniu may be called upon to head a new cabinet.

The Russians are not believed working in agreement with the Germans, but it is believed they would take advantage of any chance to grab something for themselves and certainly would not support Rumania against Germany.

No Mood for Sacrifice.

The consequences of giving up Transylvania may be much more serious than expected. The country is in no mood for new sacrifices, even tho it is hard to see how the government could have resisted the axis pressure.

It is yet too soon to say that Rumania's neighbors are thru with their grabbing. It now even is reported that the Jugo-Slavs have designs on the Banat region in the southwest.

Even as Transylvania was surrendered, the government had before it other pressing problems, including two notes from Russia objecting to what it called "provocative action" on the frontier and predicting "grave" consequences if there were any further incidents.

Mass Exodus Under Way.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 30 (AP).—Tens of thousands of Rumanian public employés, judges, army officers, and politicians, with their families, began a great exodus tonight from northern Transylvania, which soon will belong to Hungary.

They headed toward the old kingdom of Rumania by train, automobile, river boat, and even in horse carts heaped high with personal possessions, as soon as the German-Italian ultimatum for the partition became known.

J. EDGAR HOOVER ON WEST COAST IN BRIDGES QUIZ

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 30 (AP).—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, arrived today for an investigation to determine whether there was any new or additional evidence warranting the deportation of Harry Bridges, Australia born west coast labor leader.

The F. B. I. chief said a picked group of special agents already is at work in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, and Seattle, and that he thought the inquiry would be completed in a week.

"We want to find out what Bridges' status is," Hoover told newsmen. "We are interested to learn whether he ever was or is a member of the communist party. We will not interview Bridges himself."

The F. B. I. was instructed by United States Attorney General Robert H. Jackson several days ago to investigate Bridges' status under the alien registration act.

The Seatrain Texas, a 14,200 ton freighter used for carrying loaded freight cars, is owned by Seatrain Lines, Inc., and operates between New York and Texas ports. It was launched last March 9.

GREECE CALLS UP MAJORITY OF HER RESERVE CORPS

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 30 (AP).—Greece called up substantially all of her reserve officers tonight, while informed quarters predicted Italy might use a projected session of the Albanian parliament tomorrow as a sounding board for new oral attacks on this pro-British country.

Greek officials said the meeting would be watched anxiously for some sign of Italy's intention toward this kingdom.

60 MILLION LETTERS RETURNED TO SENDERS BY NAZIS IN FRANCE

GRENOBLE, France, Aug. 30 (AP).—Return to their senders of 60,000,000 letters piled up in three weeks by severance of mail service between German occupied France and the unoccupied zone was interpreted here as indicating the Germans plan to suspend mail service indefinitely.

The letters were piled up on the Vichy government's side of the line separating the occupied and unoccupied zones.

The newspaper Le Petit Dauphinois said the suspension order was "understandable" since the Germans are determined to prevent any leakage of military secrets from the occupied zone to the unoccupied region.

926,189 IN STATE ARE DEPENDENT ON PUBLIC AID

A total of 926,189 persons in Illinois, or one in every eight, were dependent upon five major public assistance programs during July, E. E. Ferebee, director of the division of allocations and statistics of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, reported yesterday.

In Cook county there were 394,655 persons dependent on the five programs, or one in every 10 persons. The number in Chicago was 357,498, or one in every nine.

The total for Illinois showed a decrease from the June figure of 998,735, or 7.3 per cent. General relief assistance accounted for 447,474 persons, Work Projects administration for 343,302, old age assistance for 138,448, mothers' pensions for 16,600, and blind pensions for 7,492 persons.

CHICAGO COLORED REGIMENT TO BE ARTILLERY UNIT

Training for Changeover to Start at Once.

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp McCoy, Wis., Aug. 30.—Chicago's 8th infantry, colored National Guard regiment, is to become a field artillery regiment. It was confirmed from Washington today that the 8th, with a record of 45 years of distinguished service, will be reorganized and armed with 155 mm. howitzers.

Plans are being made to start on the changeover. Artillery classes will be started at once for officers and noncommissioned officers in the unit's armory in Chicago. Later the regiment will go to Fort Sill, Okla., it is reported, for training as a unit. The army artillery school is at Fort Sill.

Col. William J. Warfield, commander of the 8th infantry; Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commander of the 33d division to which the 8th previously has been attached for training, and Adj. Gen. L. V. Regan of the Illinois National Guard all are pleased with the distinction accorded the 8th. As a field artillery regiment it will be, as now, classed as corps troops.

War Service in Record.

The 8th will mark its 45th anniversary in the National Guard this fall. On Nov. 4, 1895, the 9th battalion, composed of four companies of colored troops, was admitted to the Illinois Guard as part of the 5th infantry. When the Spanish-American war started in 1898 the battalion was expanded into a regiment and became the 8th volunteer regiment. It was mustered with other units of the Illinois Guard into federal service. The 8th was under fire in Cuba.

Again in 1916 it was mustered into federal service for duty on the Mexican border. When the United States entered the world war it became part of the 93d division and was designated as the 370th infantry.

The 93d division did not serve as a unit in France. The 370th was brigaded with French troops and participated in heavy fighting in the Champagne district.

71 Decorations Won.

Members of the regiment received 71 medals and citations for valor from the allies in addition to 21 distinguished service crosses from the United States army.

Gen. Vincendon, commander of the 59th division of the 10th French army, under whom the 370th had served, sent a communication to the officers and men of the organization in which he said: "The 370th regiment has contributed largely to the success of the 50th division."

As far as could be learned here the 8th will be the first colored field artillery regiment since the world war. There are two all colored regiments and two cavalry regiments in the regular army. There are two other colored National Guard regiments—the 372d infantry, which draws its units from several states, and the 369th of New York, which served in France with the 8th and which recently was converted into an antiaircraft regiment.

Cavalry to be Revamped.

Another change for Illinois troops was predicted here today in a report that Illinois units of the 106th cavalry, from Illinois and Michigan, will be reorganized and expanded at once into a corps reconnaisance regiment of both horse and mechanized units. All units now are horse cavalry.

With the exception of troops E and F [Black Horse], most of these units are from downstate. Troops E and F are to become A and B under the reorganization and will retain their horses. A third mounted troop [C] will be recruited.

A mechanized squadron will be located in Springfield and a service troop at Urbana will have 55 trailer trucks for hauling the horses of the mounted squadron and other animals of the regiment. These are known as "porte cavalry units." the 23d reconnaissance squadron of Springfield will be incorporated into the mechanized squadron.

Col. Kenneth Buchana of Urbana, present commander of the 106th, will retain that position. Lieut. Mark Plaisted of Springfield, now commander of the 23d reconnaissance squadron, will be second in command. The regiment will be recruited from its present strength of 612 officers and men to a peacetime strength of 1,160 officers and men.

HOUSE APPROVES BILL TO EXPAND NAVAL R. O. T. C.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—Legislation expanding the naval reserve officers training corps from 2,400 to 7,200 men was passed by the house today and returned to the senate for action on a minor amendment.

Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the naval committee told the house that the expansion would permit creation of 16 additional naval R. O. T. C. units. These schools, he said, already have applied for the establishment of units: Brown, University of Virginia, Washington and Jefferson, North Carolina state, Texas A. and M., Holy Cross, University of Pennsylvania, Western, Temple, Duke, University of Houston, University of Texas, and Carnegie.

LORETTA SAYERS.

New York, Aug. 30 [Special].—In an elopement which included waking up a justice of the peace at midnight, Loretta Sayers, Larchmont society actress, and Richard Van Conover, wealthy aviation enthusiast, were wed yesterday—and tried hard to keep it secret.

But their efforts went to naught. At noon today they were discovered by reporters in their honeymoon suite on Manhattan's midtown east side.

"Yes, we were married at Hartsdale by Justice Channon Press," the dainty blonde bride admitted, as she struggled into a satin hostess gown. "But I'll keep right on acting; marriage won't make a bit of difference—I'll even have children," she added.

REDS PUT ON WAR SHOW 'AS VIENNA CARVES RUMANIA

Russia Soon to Take Up Her Own Borders.

MOSCOW, Russia, Aug. 30 (AP).—Realistic Red army drill in "offensive tactics" in a special western military district and maneuvers of the Red fleet in an unidentified sea were disclosed today while Russia viewed with an attitude of cool detachment the newest movement of borders in the Balkans.

The soviet union was awaiting Rumania's reply to two protests charging Rumanian border troops with "provocative actions" on the soviet Rumanian frontier—protests which warned of the grave consequences which any future trouble might bring.

However, some diplomatic sources expressed belief this situation was not now serious. They said Rumanian frontier guards had been ordered to keep the peace strictly during the Vienna territorial negotiations which today resulted in the loss of approximately half of Rumania's province of Transylvania to Hungary.

Move to Fix Boundaries.

Nevertheless, foreign observers took note of the fact that the soviet union's armed forces were tuned up to the alert, both on land and sea.

The western army maneuvers [there was no indication of their exact locale] were conducted under the eye of the commissar of defense, Marshal Semen Timoshenko. Theoretically under fire, the troops marched 30 miles, then crossed a river on pontoon bridges under an artillery smokescreen and with the protection of the air force.

Warships in Mock Battle.

The fleet maneuvers, disclosed by the naval organ "Red Fleet," began with submarines scouting out theoretical enemy bases, thus permitting warships to take to the sea for a mock battle.

SOUTH ENGLAND'S AIRPORTS BOMBED BY STUKAS: NAZIS

80 British Planes Shot Down, Berlin Says.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 30.—German bombers and Stukas [dive bombers] pounded air fields, hangars, and barracks of the British air force in south England today, the German high command announced tonight.

The main German attacks were directed against air fields in Hampshire. The German bombers were escorted by strong formations of air destroyers and pursuit ships which engaged the British fighters attempting to repel the raiders. The Germans reported 80 British planes were shot down. They admitted the loss of 21 of their own planes.

Battle Over Dover Strait.

Early this morning a German vanguard of twin motored Messerschmitt destroyers left their bases in northern France for the south English coast. Their task was to blaze a trail thru British fighter squadrons and air defenses for German bomber formations.

An air battle ensued between the German destroyers, reenforced by German Messerschmitt fighters, and British Hurricanes and Spitfires over Dover. The Germans acknowledged the British fighters had offered stubborn resistance.

The majority of the disabled machines, the Germans said, fell into the Strait of Dover. On both sides of the English channel rescue boats put to sea to save the planes' crews swimming in the water or holding onto pieces of wreckage. One German flying boat was said to have rescued three British pilots and two German airmen.

Report Hits on Hangars.

This noon German planes bombed the British air field of Farborough near Aldershot. The Nazis reported destroying a number of planes on the ground. Bomb hits were scored on hangars and barracks, the Nazis said. One of the German raiders was shot down by British pursuit ships over Hastings. On the return flight German bombers were reported to have put several antiaircraft batteries out of action.

Last night German bombers attacked harbors and armament works on the British east coast from the mouth of the Thames in the south to Dundee in the north, the high command announced. Air fields in Lincolnshire and Suffolk as well as airplane works in Weybridge and Langley, and port facilities in Dundee, Leith, and Hartlepool were "extensively bombed."

British bombing raids in the Ruhr district, the Germans said, did "only slight damage. Fires caused by the bombs were quickly extinguished by the 'security service.'"

British Spurn Nazi Note.

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP).—Britain announced today her refusal to recognize as Red Cross ships immune from attack those German vessels which are used to rescue airmen shot down at sea.

Replying to a German note sent by way of Switzerland that Germany intended to mark with the red cross 64 rescue ships, the government said the claim of Red Cross privileges for such vessels was "wholly inadmissible."

Officials here asserted that the Germans had attacked British vessels engaged in saving both British and German airmen; had "repeatedly and flagrantly" attacked bona fide hospital ships. They added that the "character and functions" of the 64 German vessels were open to "the gravest suspicions."

Report 19 French Planes Join British at Gibraltar

ALGECIRAS, Spain, Aug. 30 (AP).—Four French bombers and a fighter, guided by a British plane, landed at Gibraltar today. Two French seaplanes reached the British base yesterday, and witnesses said they had counted a total of nineteen French plane arrivals in the last few days.

REPORTS TAVERN LOOTED.

Walter Buhr reported to police yesterday that burglars entered his tavern at 2232 Irving Park road Thursday night and took 45 bottles of whisky and three cartons of cigarets valued at $145.

PROPAGANDIST PAISH TOLD TO GO BACK HOME

Briton Is Said to Be 'Deeply Hurt.'

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—Sir George Paish, British economist and propagandist who is being investigated by the department of justice as a result of charges made on the senate floor that he is trying to involve this country in the European war, has been advised by a representative of his own government to return home soon, it was revealed today.

Lord Lothian.

According to a British embassy spokesman, the advice was given to Sir George by Lord Lothian, British ambassador. The spokesman said that the ambassador suggested to Paish that his early departure from the United States would be in the best interest of preserving friendly relations between the British and American governments.

Accused by Wheeler.

Paish was quoted by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] in a senate speech on Monday as boasting that he got the United States into the last war and thru his current speaking tour expected to do it again. Senator Wheeler said that he had personally investigated and learned that the English economist is not registered with the state department as an agent of a foreign government.

The department of justice projected itself into the matter with the announcement that it would investigate Paish's status. If Senator Wheeler's charges are proved, the justice department explained, it would be necessary to revoke the visitor's permit under which Paish gained entrance to the country.

The visitors are required to state all their reasons for coming to this country when they apply for permits, it was explained. Paish merely stated he was on a lecture tour. But if it develops that he is engaging in propaganda, there will be sufficient grounds for revoking his permit, according to the justice department.

He Is "Deeply Hurt."

Meanwhile word reached the capital that Paish, who is staying with friends at Larchmont, N. Y., had expressed his "deep hurt" over Senator Wheeler's charges. He denied he has any intention of trying to involve the United States in war.

"I have been a friend of America for more than half a century," he was quoted as saying. "I am a lecturer and a man of science, and I am not going to do any of the things it was said I was going to do. But I would rather address any further discussion of those remarks against me directly to the government."

It also was learned today that the Dies committee on un-American activities will make a formal reply to the protests of the German embassy over a committee report involving another alleged foreign propagandist, Dr. Colin Ross, Nazi writer and lecturer. The report, filed last December, asked that Ross be barred from the United States as a Nazi agent.

This was personally discrediting to a well known German citizen, said the German protest, which was handed to the state department on Aug. 8. The protest charged that Ross was unjustifiably accused.

Fingerprinted

OLYMPE BRADNA.

Beverly Hills, Cal., Aug. 30 (AP).—French born Olympe Bradna, screen actress, was fingerprinted as an alien today. This was really nothing, she said, to what happened when she was made a princess of the Chippewa Indians July 4 at Cass lake, northern Minnesota. Then she had to make a thumbprint on 1,000 cards for members of the tribe. Miss Bradna has applied for citizenship.

UNION'S BAND WANTS PAY FOR LABOR PARADE

Racine, Wis., Aug. 30 [Special].—Racine's organized labor will have to whistle its own accompaniment as it marches, 15,000 strong, in a three mile Labor day parade on Monday.

A sour note was struck today for the otherwise harmonious C. I. O.-A. F. of L. celebration when the musicians' union band refused to march unless it was paid the union scale. Officials of the union asked six other musical organizations to refrain from parading.

The six others, all of which had volunteered their services to the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. gratis, don't know what to do. Five members of one of them, the state championship American Legion drum and bugle corps, are union members. One member of the Belle City lodge is a member. An instructor of the Boy Scout drum and bugle corps is a member. And the other three organizations, the Salvation Army band, the Public Service band, and the Y. M. C. A. Kiltie Drum corps, don't want to incur the ill feeling of the union. Still, all six would like to do their part to help the 15,000 marchers.

Adolph Larsen, general chairman of the Labor day committee, said:

"Carpenters are donating their services to build platforms and their services to wire the park grounds; bartenders will serve at the stands; electricians are donating bars gratis; truckers are hauling equipment to the park free. We feel that the musicians should play without pay as their donation to the celebration of Labor's own day."

DICTATOR PLAN'S INTRODUCTION IN HOUSE APPROVED

Rules Group Acts; Fears Rise Over Proposal.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.— In reporting a special rule for the consideration of the Roosevelt administration's peace time conscription bill, the house rules committee today authorized the military affairs committee to offer an amendment corresponding to the Russell-Overton dictatorship amendment adopted by the senate.

The senate amendment authorizes the government to take over and operate any plant or facility in the United States which is deemed necessary for the national defense. Altho the house military affairs committee is expected to approve some less revolutionary compromise at a special meeting next Tuesday, before the house begins debate on the draft bill, the proposal to conscript property as well as man power has potentialities about which some of its senate supporters are gravely disturbed.

Fear Grave Consequences.

Conservative Democrats in the senate, including some who voted for the Russell-Overton amendment, privately express the fear that a Frankenstein monster has grown out of the conscription controversy. The present state of mind in both the senate and the house, they declare, is such as to make the possible consequences of this issue frightful.

Many of the conservative Democrats privately admit that they voted for the Russell-Overton amendment because, as a political proposition they could not defend voting to draft man power and not voting to draft property. Thus they confirmed the contention of the senate noninterventionists that the conscription of property and wealth—totalitarianism—is the politically inevitable result of resorting to compulsory military service in peacetime.

Senator Josh Lee Quoted.

The excess profits bill already passed by the house is expected to result in a demagogic field day when it reaches the senate. The state of mind of the New Dealers, as expressed by Senator Josh Lee [D., Okla.], Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.], and others, is one that frankly seeks to out-Hitler Hitler.

"We are asked, 'why be like Hitler in order to stop Hitler?'" said Senator Lee in supporting the Russell-Overton amendment. "I do not think much of that argument. I think it is fairer to say that we must fight fire with fire; we must fight poison with poison; we must make it possible to temporarily surrender some of the liberties which we enjoy in normal times in order to be in a position to protect those liberties against a dictator who would destroy them permanently."

Georgian Assails Willkie.

In the senate today, Senator Richard B. Russell [D., Ga.], co-author of the dictatorship amendment, denounced Wendell L. Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee, for coming out against the amendment. Russell's argument was typical of the sentiment expressed by the New Dealers in supporting the amendment.

"If I understood Mr. Willkie's statement, he is a strong advocate of drafting the blood and lives of American youth without the consent of the individual affected, but is violently opposed to any action whatever by the government not suggested by business itself, which will assure the boys drafted the proper implements and machinery of warfare to defend themselves and this country," Russell said.

Asks Nominee Question.

"Mr. Willkie is great on asking questions. I should like to have him answer one: Whether he favors any limitation whatever on the swollen profits which may accrue to the manufacturers of war supplies in this period when we are spending billions to prepare our nation for any eventuality?"

Russell's speech encouraged similar attacks on Willkie by a dozen or more New Dealers, including Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, who recalled that 10 senate Republicans voted for the Russell-Overton amendment while only 8 voted against it. With great merriment, Barkley and the other New Dealers suggested that Willkie should debate the dictatorship issue with some of the members of his own party and not ask President Roosevelt to debate it with him.

Burke Makes Challenge.

Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.], who voted for the Russell-Overton amendment but is a supporter of Willkie for the Presidency, threw the inconsistency challenge back at the New Dealers.

"As I understand the position of the senator from Georgia [Russell], any one, particularly a candidate for President, who opposes this amendment takes a position which is un-democratic, un-American, and 'fraught with peril to our free institutions,'" Senator Burke said. "And, if I may couple that up with this idea of a general debate, it occurs to me that it might be well at this time, since Mr. Willkie is not running against himself but is running against a candidate for a third term, to have our distinguished leader [Barkley] debate with himself, or any of the 16 Democratic senators here who, a few short years ago, recorded themselves as believing that a third term for any occupant of the White House would be undemocratic, un-American, and 'fraught with peril to our free institutions.'"

Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.], a member of the rules committee, and Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] of the house military affairs committee both expressed opposition to the Russell-Overton amendment today. Cox said it appeared that the New Dealers were "taking advantage of the present situation to turn this country further to the left."

The rule adopted by the committee allows two days of general debate on the conscription bill, after which amendment will be considered under the general rule permitting only five minute speeches. With the debate to begin Tuesday, the house is expected to pass the bill before the end of the week.

WHERE RECRUITS ARE FEW, DRAFT WILL BE HEAVIER

Area's Quotas Based on Enlistment Totals.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—Communities in which voluntary enlistments in the national defense forces, including the National Guard, have been the smallest will have to bear the brunt of supplying men for conscription, war department officials said today.

In setting up the draft quotas, the federal government will give each state credit for its men already under arms in the army, navy, marine corps, and the Guard. Then, as provided in the conscription bill, it will be up to the state drafting boards to extend this credit to counties and cities, down to the small communities, on the same basis.

The army command explained that in the first group of 400,000 conscripts to be mobilized by Jan. 15 each state is expected to offer one out of every 10 men who are eligible for the draft.

Credits to Be Applied.

This is regarded as the gross quota of each state. The net quota will be arrived at by applying the credits allowed for voluntary enlistments. For instance, a state might have a quota of 27,000 for the over-all strength of all the armed services. If its residents already serving numbered 15,000, then the state's draft quota would be 12,000.

The gross quotas were arrived at on the basis of world war statistics, which show that 10 per cent of the total male population is between 21 and 30 years of age. This group is estimated to number approximately 12,000,000 men at the present time. About two-thirds of this group, according to the same statistics, will be exempted outright or placed on the deferred list as having dependents or being employed in essential industries, leaving 4,000,000 eligibles.

Area Enlistments Shown.

Recent enlistment figures compiled by the war department show that the 4th corps area, composed of southeastern states, leads the rest of the nation in recruiting, with the 8th corps area of the southwest in second place. In last place are the New England states, while the 2d corps area, made up of New Jersey, Delaware, and New York, is next to last.

The 6th corps area, which includes Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, ranks fourth out of the nine areas in the country.

Youths Drift on Lake

Heavy arrow points to island on which young men landed.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 30 [Special].—Two Canadian youths who spent 55 hours being buffeted about the rough North channel of Lake Huron in a small boat were recovering from the ordeal today while they waited at Detour, Mich., for a boat being sent to take them to their homes in Ontario.

The youths, John E. Curry, 18 years old, of Gore Bay, Ont., and William McGenerty, 21, of Keswick, Ont., left Blind River, Ont., Sunday in an 18 foot runabout for a trip to Gore Bay. Sunday night their craft developed motor trouble.

All that night and Monday and Tuesday the boat drifted while the helpless pair became sick and hungry. They tried without success to attract the attention of a plane that flew low over them Tuesday. On Wednesday their boat was driven on the rocks at Colton bay on the north side of Drummond Island. The youths waded ashore and ate berries yesterday. They met Walter Stevens and he took them to his home.

JERSEY GUARD UNIT ORDERED OUT FOR YEAR

Teaneck, N. J., Aug. 30 (AP).—The New Jersey National Guard battalion, 104th U. S. army engineers, with headquarters here, has been ordered to report at Camp Dix on Wednesday for a year of active duty and training, Maj. John Sharp, commander, said tonight.

Sharp said the orders were received from Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commanding the 2d corps area. The outfit is comprised of 200 men and 10 officers of companies A and C and the headquarters service company.

Sharp said the battalion had been ordered to prepare the camp for the arrival of other Guard units expected before Sept. 16. He said the unit probably would spend two or three months at Camp Dix and then would entrain for maneuvers "elsewhere."

MEXICO SEEKS WAY TO BRING IN REFUGEE THRONG

Nation 'Adopts' 250,000 Spaniards in France.

The refugees have been in France since the Spanish civil war, and Mexico agreed with the Vichy government last night to provide a haven for them, as soon as she can find means for transporting them.

Mexico hopes to charter ships for this purpose with the financial aid of private organizations in the United States and other American republics, a responsible government official said. The ships would be transferred temporarily to Mexican registry.

Provisions of Agreement.

The transfer agreement was signed at Vichy, temporary French capital. The text will be published Sunday.

As reported from France, the principal conditions are:

1. Mexico will pay transportation expenses and upkeep in France for the refugees, beginning as of yesterday.

2. All Spanish refugees will be accepted without regard to creed or political beliefs.

3. France reserves the right to hand over any common law criminal in the refugee ranks, if the Spanish government so requests.

Thousands Set Aside.

Several hundred thousand dollars have been earmarked for establishing the refugees on agricultural and industrial projects by the Mexican government and the Spanish Republican group.

President Lazaro Cardenas' administration, already host to 11,000 refugees, regarded the Spaniards as highly desirable immigrants, government officials said, and recently modified the naturalization laws to facilitate granting them citizenship.

The Spanish Republicans now in Mexico have found difficulty in making a living, and various relief organizations, some financed by private groups in the United States, have contributed steadily to their maintenance.

DIES AFTER FALL OUT OF WINDOW.

Casimer Koc, 52 years old, died in St. Anthony's hospital yesterday three hours after he had fallen out of a window he was trying to raise in his third floor apartment at 2324 South Sacramento avenue.

PETAIN'S VICHY IS CITY OF SECRECY; AUSTERE, DARK

Flood of Decrees Pours Out from French Capital.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Aug. 30. — Vichy, France's most noted watering place, after two months has adapted itself to the unexpected circumstance of serving as the nation's capital.

Its hotels, once inhabited at this season by rich guests, are requisitioned as offices from which issue edicts, regulations, and decrees transforming what was the Third French Republic into a new state envisioned by Marshal Henri Philippe Petain—unique and all powerful chief of unoccupied France.

The Petain government, as the marshal recently announced in a broadcast, expects to return to Paris as soon as certain technical details have been worked out with the Germans. Meanwhile, it waits.

Surplus People Fade Away.

Vichy has lost much of its overflow population. Slowly the trains and cars stream north, returning refugees to the German occupied area of France. Restaurants are no longer overcrowded as in mid-July. The famous park around which the hotels cluster is less filled with strollers or crowds watching the notables come and go from the Hotel du Parc—one of the summer's main amusements.

Life in the improvised capital has become routine, monotonous, and austere.

Idlers in the park during the day brush shoulders with civil servants, members of the government, and distinguished soldiers and try to discern from their faces what is going on, for a pall of secrecy hangs over everything for the moment, with perhaps the chief subject of interest the "war guilt" trial at Riom. What revelations will be made? Who will be called before the court as the "war responsibles?"

Curfew Hour Observed.

At night the town is plunged in blackness. To enforce the severity and dignity required in the capital cafés and cinemas have been closed an hour earlier again and must finish at 10 p. m. The wartime blackout and other restrictions still prevail.

Sharing popular interest and curiosity with the handsome park is the Pavillion de Levigny, where Marshal Petain lives and where he once in a while holds his cabinet sessions, altho he prefers to do most of his work at his Hotel du Parc office.

The cabinet sessions also draw crowds to watch the ministers. They are always held at 6 p. m. Thru the tree lined streets the ministers arrive—Marshal Petain, looking hale and hearty and always cheered by the crowds; Vice Premier Pierre Laval, always dressed in black; François Pietri, minister of communications, and Jean Ybarnegaray, youth minister, always wearing black berets, and Gen. Maxime Weygand, minister of national defense, who always walks with rapid steps.

The cabinet session is held behind the ivy clad walls of the Pavillion. It lasts a couple of hours usually. Then Minister of the Interior Adrien Marquet comes out and reads a brief communique.

Tell of New Moves.

These communiques have told how the marshal and his aides are trying to renovate France—reforming the civil service, revising the diplomatic corps, abolishing secret societies, enforcing partial prohibition, trying to get refugees home, reforming education, and setting up youth organizations.

But the communiques do not tell much. And there is such a large crop of decree laws. You begin to wonder how the rest of free France outside Vichy is taking to the changes and how it is faring, cut off from the region occupied by the Germans. What is the situation in the other great cities of Lyons, Marseilles, Toulouse, and Nice? Communications and transport are still abnormal and one knows little outside an immediate circle.

Red Tape Restricts Travel.

Inquiry shows that it is not easy to travel. A correspondent already has a wide assortment of permits and papers. He needs still another safe conduct paper. An application to the foreign office results in a special audience with a Vichy city hall official. The safe conduct paper, certified by the local gendarmerie, is issued and is good for three weeks of travel around the unoccupied cities.

It is harder to get gasoline now as it is strictly rationed. You must carry a can filled with gasoline in the car, for roadside stations are few.

Finally, along the main road, on which there is no traffic and amid the fields and meadows where the workers are tolling to bring in the crops, it is possible to set off for Lyons—France's second city, center of the silk industry and of which former Premier Edouard Herriot is mayor—which is now connected with Vichy by train and is four hours away, also by autocar.

FRANCE ORDERS CULTIVATION OF ABANDONED SOIL

Great Reclamation Plan Launched.

VICHY, France, Aug. 30 (AP).—The French government embarked on a sweeping land reclamation program today by ordering prefects of all departments to place under cultivation immediately all arable property which has been abandoned more than two years.

A decree published in the official journal stipulated property owners who had abandoned the land would be given one month in which to return to cultivate their farms before the prefects would appoint new tenants.

No Rent for 3 Years.

All Frenchmen "having sufficient means and technical knowledge" can be accorded nine-year tenants' rights over such land, with priority going to farmers living nearest the property and to fathers having the most children.

The prefect-appointed tenants will pay no rent to the owners of the property the first three years and thereafter will pay only half the normal rent.

Mayors of all communities were ordered to report immediately to agricultural directors of their departments all abandoned property in their communities, stating whether it was tillable, untillable, or suitable for forest planting.

Young Farm Apprentices.

The property reclamation decree was backed up by another ordering constitution of groups of agricultural apprentices between the ages of 14 and 17, who will be hired out to any farmer approved by a committee of local officials.

The farmer will be obliged to pay the apprentices' board and lodging, as well as a salary to be fixed by the government. In turn, the farmer will receive a 900 franc [nominally between $15 and $21] indemnity from the state.

ITALIANS' KILLING OF 2 AMERICANS REPORTED TO U. S.

Government Told of Air Attack on Mission.

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 30 (AP).—The United States legation informed the state department tonight that Dr. Robert Grieve, 28 years old, an American medical missionary, and his wife, about 25, had been killed Aug. 23 in an Italian air raid on their outpost in an isolated region of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, near Ethiopia.

Arrow indicates point near where missionaries were killed.

Information received at Khartum from Dr. T. A. Lambie, field director of the Sudan Interior Mission, with which the couple was associated, confirmed British reports of their death, the legation said.

Besides Dr. and Mrs. Grieve, the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Oglesby, also Americans of Brooklyn, N. Y., were reported by Dr. Lambie to have been gravely injured. [In Washington, the state department said Dr. and Mrs. Grieve were from Spokane, Wash.]

High British sources said the Italians dropped 30 bombs and machine gunned the missionary station at Doro in Upper Nile province near Kurmuk, despite frantic efforts to signal them with American flags.

The governor-general of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, a British official, charged the Italians with "deliberate" machine gunning of the remote missionary station.

An army communique later gave substantially the same report, declaring that Dr. and Mrs. Grieve were killed "by machine gun fire as they ran out waving American flags."

Three boys of the Marwan tribe nearby also were wounded. A Miss Walsh, an Australian in the mission, was unharmed.

The Grieves were described here as a studious couple who began their missionary careers six months ago at the lonely Doro post. Mr. Grieve was said to be a graduate of Wheaton [Ill.] college.

In addition to reporting the killing of the American missionaries, the British high command at Cairo also said the South African air force destroyed "several hundred" machines in a raid on a large motor transport concentration at Mogadishu, on the Italian Somaliland coast.

A communique said the raid was carried out yesterday in several waves and that when the last wave of planes reached the target, dense black smoke was rising 3,000 feet and fires had broken out in the center of the depot.

The communique also said British troops fought a "successful" action against Italians near the Sudan desert outpost of Gallabat and killed 10 and wounded 15.

A few casualties were caused by an Italian bombing of Matruh when that Egyptian Mediterranean point was raided twice yesterday. The British also reported they dispersed an enemy ambush in the Buna district today.

Victims Visited in Decatur.

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP).—Friends here recalled today that the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Oglesby, American missionaries wounded in an Italian attack in the Sudan Aug. 23, visited Decatur in March, 1938, and told of their expulsion from Ethiopia by the Italians. After they were forced to leave Ethiopia, they took an American vacation and then went to the Sudan.

Couple Once Kidnaped.

Los Angeles, Aug. 30 (AP).—A Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Oglesby, names identical to those in a dispatch from Cairo today, were kidnaped by bandits in Ethiopia four years ago. The Oglesbys are from Los Angeles. They were kidnaped in February, 1936, but their plight did not become known until after their release two months later.

Pipeline Closed, Say Italians.

ROME, Aug. 30 (AP).—The newspaper Il Popolo di Roma reported today in a dispatch from Athens that the British oil pipe line from Iraq to Haifa, Palestine, had been closed as a result of Italian air bombardments of ports of British-mandated Palestine.

LEADING GLIDER PILOT REPEATS LONGEST FLIGHT

2 Others, One a Ladybird, Soar Cross Country.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

Three motorless sailplanes — one piloted by a woman—rode a gusty, southwest wind for varying distances yesterday in cross-country flights from the Lewis School of Aeronautics airport near Lockport, where the third annual American Open Soaring meet is being held.

Pilots of the three sailplanes were the only ones among the 30 competing in the meet who succeeded in getting off on distance flights. They were Mrs. Helen Montgomery of Detroit, the only woman entrant in the contest; Joseph Steinhauser, 1641 Addison street, Chicago, and Stanley Corcoran of Joliet.

Mrs. Montgomery's flight was her first successful cross-country hop of the contest. Towed to an altitude of 1,500 feet over the airport by a powerful Waco biplane, she turned the nose of her Midwest sailplane eastward with the wind. Sixty-three minutes later she brought her plane to a landing 6 miles north of Blue Island, and 14 air miles from the Lewis field.

Duplicates Record Flight.

Corcoran, who at 24 is a veteran glider pilot and designer, outdistanced the other pilots Thursday by soaring his single seated Frankfort Cinema sailplane to Michigan City, Ind. Yesterday he duplicated Thursday's performance by landing his ship less than 100 feet from the spot on Michigan City's lake front where he alighted Thursday.

The flight, estimated at 61 air miles by contest officials, again was the best for the day. The trip to Michigan City took 3 hours and 2 minutes.

Steinhauser brought his German built Rhonesperber sailplane to the ground 2 miles southwest of Palos Park after a sixty-eight minute flight from the Lewis field. The distance is 12 air miles.

Corcoran Far in Lead.

Corcoran's two flights to Michigan City, which by far are the longest of the meet, place him far in the lead in the soaring contest. At takeoff time yesterday he had 153 points, gained on Thursday's flight. Points are awarded for distance, altitude and duration of flights. The grand prize of the meet is THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE award of $400 and a trophy to the pilot amassing the most points.

John Robinson of San Diego, Cal., is second with 113 points won on a 50 mile flight to a point 10 miles east of Gary, made on Thursday. J. Shelly Charles of Atlanta, Ga., an Eastern Air Lines pilot, is third with 42 points for an 8 mile flight.

Points made on yesterday's flights will not be computed until the barographs which automatically record the altitude and duration of flights are returned to the airport.

The soaring meet, which will continue thru Monday, is sponsored by the Catholic Youth organization. Lewis airport is six miles north of Joliet on alternate highway 66. Admission to the meet is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

NAZIS FLEE CAMP ON SHELF BUILT UNDER A TRUCK

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 30 (AP).—Internment operations headquarters announced tonight that two German war prisoners escaped late today from an internment camp in the Muskoka district of Ontario. They were Fritz Pietsch, petty officer in the submarine service, and Herbert Naumann, army sergeant major. Pietsch was captured in the North sea last November and Naumann was taken prisoner during fighting around Arras, France. The prisoners made a shelf of two planks under the chassis of a dump truck, and rode out of camp on it, unnoticed.

9,500 SOLDIERS GUARD CENTRAL AMERICAN LANDS

6 Countries Look to U. S. for Protection.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Aug. 30.—The six countries of Central America from Mexico to the Panama Canal zone could put 9,500 men—these only partly trained and poorly equipped—into the field tomorrow. This is less than one of the new streamlined divisions the United States army is organizing on a basis of 10,000 men.

This statement is made from personal observations of the writer, who spent three weeks traveling in Guatemala, El Salvador, Nicaragua, Honduras, Costa Rica, and Panama. It has been confirmed by United States army officers stationed as military attachés at various legations. From what I saw and from conversations with military men and politicians in each of these countries, it is apparent that they all are counting on the United States to protect the Central American zone.

No mere recital of numbers can portray the pathetic state of the military forces of any of these countries. Most of the soldiers have never been allowed to carry ammunition or fire the weapons they carry. Most of them are led by officers who never have been allowed to command larger groups of men than a battalion, which down here usually contains fewer than 500 men.

Rifles of Many Makes.

The term "standardization" has not yet been heard in Central American military circles, with the result that men in the same squad will carry three or four different makes and models of rifles. The same machine gun company will be equipped, for instance, with Mexican, Spanish, American, and Italian guns. The one point that is more or less standard in central America is the caliber of the small arms. This universally is 7 millimeter for both rifles and machine guns.

All of the armies are roughly half cavalry and half infantry. El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala have air units. El Salvador and Nicaragua have units that are considered artillery battalions. They usually are equipped with two ancient French 75 millimeter field guns on light carriages, and from two to four mountain cannon ranging from one to two pounders. These guns are demountable and carried on mule back.

Guatemala Has Most Men.

Specifically, the numbers in the standing armies of these six countries, according to United States military attachés are as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Guatemala | 3,000 |
| El Salvador | 2,500 |
| Nicaragua | 2,000 |
| Honduras | 1,500 |
| Panama | 300 |
| Costa Rica | 244 |

American army officers who have been stationed in Central America to observe military affairs, however, rate the armies in fighting strength as follows:

El Salvador, Nicaragua, Honduras, Guatemala, Panama, Costa Rica.

El Salvador's Force Trained.

El Salvador is supposed to have the best army because it receives the most practice in using its arms and in field maneuvers. It is led personally by the president. Gen. Maximiliano Hernandez Martinez. He frequently has target practice for the entire army and constantly has groups of from 300 to 500 men engaged in tactical problems that take them into the jungles of this little Pacific coast state.

The result is that the men and officers know their country. They have cut trails and roads thru every section of it. The roads, tho poor, allow foot and horse soldiers to get around. In none of the other countries are there more than the poorest and fewest of mule trails, which make slow going for men.

El Salvador has a small air force. This unit of 15 pilots and 8 assorted American and Italian airplanes constantly is flying. This is extraordinary for Central American air units. Most of them are forbidden to fly, either because the authorities do not trust the pilots or because financial difficulties make it too expensive to permit pilots to practice.

Nicaraguan Force Trains.

Nicaragua, in the words of an American military attaché, is "carrying on with some of the impetus given by the marines when they were chasing Gen. Augusto Sandino," the marine baiting rebel and patriot. The marines to whom this officer referred, of course, were Americans. The marine units trained native soldiers and officers, encouraged these units to practice with rifles and machine guns, and in general created an efficient native army.

Nicaragua now has one brigade in her army, made up of four battalions of four companies each. They include cavalry and infantry, with two companies of artillery. The Nicaraguans use Springfield rifles and ancient Krag carbines that were introduced into the country for the native troops while the American soldiers were still there.

There are officially 1,500 men under arms in Honduras, but at least 1,200 of these should be considered a national police force. The remaining 300 are in the Honduran air service. President General Tiburcio Carias Andino has the finest Central American air force, with 27 trained pilots and 17 other youths in his national air school at Tegucigalpa.

24 Planes Purchased.

He has purchased 24 assorted airplanes, of which the best fighting ships are an enormous Curtiss Condor biplane capable of cruising at 170 miles an hour with a ton of bombs and three squads of soldiers aboard. Then there are four ancient Boeing 40-B-4 biplanes with Hornet engines, for medium bombers, and a fleet of three new North American NA-16 two seat fighters that cruise at 190 miles an hour and carry five machine guns and several light bombs.

Nine years ago Carias saw how an Honduran blitzkrieg worked when, with three commercial airplanes flown by a New Zealander and two American pilots, the government forces were smashed and he was put into power. The New Zealander, Lowell Yerex, built one of the world's finest air lines, TACA [Transportes Aereos Centro Americanos], around concessions granted after Carias' victory.

TACA also has created more than 50 airports in Honduras, and an air force could be based in virtually any section of the country where trouble might arise.

Carias counts on these preparations to perpetuate his régime. The airports also would be extremely valuable to the United States if American intervention for Central America's protection should become necessary.

Air Force That Never Flies.

Guatemala's army, while numerically the largest in Central America, is rated by American officers here as one of the poorest. The troops drill well, apparently taking to the teamwork and rhythm of drill instinctively, but they are never allowed to practice with their arms or to engage in field maneuvers.

I was told that Gen. Jorge Ubico, president and dictator of Guatemala, does not trust his generals sufficiently to allow them to engage in maneuvers. They are not given ammunition, I was told. Most of these men never have fired their rifles, and even the officers and cadets of the Escuela Polytechnic, Guatemala's West Point, are allowed only 10 shots for practice every 60 days.

The Guatemalan air force, according to American observers, is a farcical sort of unit. President Ubico has forbidden the planes to fly, and the modern Browning machine guns mounted on the airplanes are locked and sealed so that they cannot be used. There are some 20 pilots in the unit, a number of them good airmen who have been graduated from the American army air schools, but they are never allowed to take to the air.

50,000 Indians Drill.

One of the supposedly strong forces in the Guatemalan military scheme is the 50,000 Indians from the jungles who are enlisted in a militia. The government furnishes these troops materials from which they have made colorful uniforms, each unit being differently garbed from the other, but they are forced to drill with wooden guns or with rifles from which essential firing parts are missing.

"Ubico has his own people well fooled," said an American army officer, "but the Germans in Guatemala know the conditions there as well as we do. Any group of 300 or 400 determined, well disciplined and well armed men could seize and hold Guatemala City without any trouble. If they held the capital they would control the rest of the country."

Neither Costa Rica nor Panama has an army, in the strict sense of the word. Both countries have small forces of armed police charged with the duty of keeping order. Panama is close enough to the Canal Zone and United States forces there to need no other protection. Costa Rica has been blessed with some 40 years of order and peace and the authorities prefer to spend the republic's income on developing the country's resources instead of upon an army.

HELD TO JURY ON RAPE CHARGE.

'INVISIBLE' PLANE STORY RECALLS AMERICAN FEAT

Our "Secret Varnish" Was Lampblack.

Nazis Puzzeld

BERLIN, Aug. 30 (AP).—Something "resembling rough black soot," which is smeared on some British planes and makes them difficult to see at night is giving German chemists something to analyze, informed sources said today. This new "war paint" absorbs the rays of German searchlights so that on clear nights the planes are hard to detect, it was said. The planes are shown up against clouds, however.

New York, Aug. 30 [Special.]—Reports from Berlin that British bombing planes employ a secret black varnish to make them invisible to anti-aircraft searchlights, together with a British retort that this is nonsense to excuse the Nazis' failure to stop the planes, recalled today the general headquarters air maneuvers over Long Island in 1938.

On May 16 of that year the first blackout tests in the United States were held at Farmingdale. Bombing planes were supposed to "destroy" the little city, and searchlights, anti-aircraft guns, and pursuit planes were on the ground to turn back the "invading" squadrons.

Heard, But Not Seen.

After the blackout began huge mechanical "ears" picked up the drone of airplane engines. Searchlights pierced the overhead darkness, but picked up nothing, altho the drone continued. Those on the ground were unable to say whether the planes had theoretically bombed their objective, and it was not until these planes returned to their Schenectady, N. Y., base that it was learned they had been over Farmingdale at the appointed time.

It was later learned, altho never officially announced, that the underparts of the invading planes [which were Douglas B-18s] had been smeared with lampblack.

Invisibility at 200 Yards.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 30.—Development of a paint which on hazy days makes an airplane almost invisible at 100 to 200 yards was claimed today by a San Francisco manufacturing concern.

The new compound still is in the experimental stage, but its effectiveness already has been determined, Harold Acker, chemist for the W. P. Fuller company, said. He described it as a flat gray, very dull, with no pigment. An aluminum ingredient provides the color.

It is one of three aircraft camouflage paints developed by the company. The first and oldest type was described as a dull black which absorbs light and makes a high flying plane hard to pick up with searchlights. The other is a somewhat bright aluminum compound which does not camouflage effectively on hazy or cloudy days, but works well in bright sunshine.

Acker said the dull black stuff the Germans reported finding on British planes probably is similar to the first and oldest type.

AIR LINE TO OPEN FASTER LINK TO SOUTH AMERICA

Pan-American Starts Route Tomorrow.

The United States will establish commercial air supremacy in South America tomorrow with the inauguration by Pan American Airways of fast substratosphere flights which will clip 1,000 miles and two days off present schedules from Miami, Fla., to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Pan American at the same time will begin triweekly flights to the Panama Canal Zone in the same type of four engined Stratoclippers which will be used on the eastern route. Flying time from Miami to the Canal Zone will be only 6½ hours. For the first time in nearly six years the United States will have more route air line mileage in operation in South America than all European subsidized air lines combined.

Sydney D. Smith, manager of the Chicago office of Pan American Airways, said yesterday he had received an announcement of the new services from the New York office of the air line.

Surveys Made for 10 Years.

Inauguration of the substratosphere flights follows 10 years of preliminary surveys and development work. In addition to the time saved by flying "above the weather" at 20,000 feet, the new eastern route will lop off the bulge of the South American coastline extending into the South Atlantic to a point 2,600 miles east of New York city.

The Stratoclippers will fly directly from Para, at the mouth of the Amazon river, to Rio de Janeiro, a distance of only 1,600 miles, compared with the old 2,600 mile route.

The overland route was surveyed by Pan American engineers, who in 1934 discovered wide savannas [plains country] where it had been thought the interior was covered with impenetrable jungles. The Brazilian government and air corps laid out airports thru the region, air line officials said.

Flying Time 35 Hours.

Flying time from Miami to Buenos Aires over the new route will be 35 hours 45 minutes, spread over a total period of little more than 3½ days. Initial schedules between the United States and Buenos Aires required nine days. This was cut two days in 1932 when the four engined Clipper ships first went into service, and another two days in 1935.

The Stratoclippers are of the Boeing 307 type, powered by Wright Cyclone 1,250 horse power motors. The planes, with a wing span of 107 feet and a length of 74 feet, carry 20 passengers, a crew of six, and 3,000 pounds of mail and express. Cruising speed is 240 miles an hour. Passengers and mail will be transferred to twin engined DC-3 transports at Rio de Janeiro.

On the Canal Zone route passengers may transfer to Pan-American Grace Airways at Cristobal, Canal Zone, and arrive in Buenos Aires via the west coast of South America in only four days.

RUNAWAY STEER KILLED.

Police from the Burnside district enacted a wild west roundup yesterday near 87th street and Drexel avenue when they shot and killed a runaway steer that had jumped from a cattle truck.

Fifth Recent Class

Kelly Field, Tex., Aug. 30 [Special].—Nine flying cadets from the Chicago area were graduated today from the advanced flying school of the United States Army air corps. They were commissioned second lieutenants in the air corps reserve along with 199 other cadets.

The Chicagoans are John C. Ruse of Congress Park, Robert R. Brouk of Cicero, Frederick S. Harlow and Richard Bedell of Evanston, and Murdoch W. Campbell, Robert J. Hoss, Arthur J. Kush, Charles A. Polansky, and Albert Orance of Chicago.

The class was the fifth of more than 200 men to be graduated from Kelly field since March 23. One hundred of the graduates will be retained at either Kelly field or Randolph field for training as instructors. The rest will report to the Kelly field tomorrow for their first flights on active duty with the air corps.

CROMWELL URGES DESTROYER DEAL TO AID ENGLAND

Assails Lindbergh in Toronto Speech.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 30 (AP).—James H. R. Cromwell, former American minister to Canada, today assailed isolationist senators but voiced conviction that the United States "can do more to assist the British empire's cause" by remaining a benevolent neutral than by taking an active part in the war.

The average American, he said, addressing a press luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition, is turning away from isolation.

The former minister also asserted the United States should transfer 60 over age destroyers to the British navy and urged strong coöperation between the United States and Canada on defense measures.

In a passage his hearers understood to refer to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, he declared:

"A great aviator, who is far more credit to his country in the air than on the air, professes to view with equanimity the spectacle of America isolated in a totalitarian world. Now if our aviators are henceforth to assume the raiments of statesmanship and shape our foreign policies, I hope that a course in political economics will be included in the air training curriculum."

"Despite all that has occurred since May 10 [when Germany invaded Holland, Belgium, and Luxembourg] we find these same groups continuing their campaign of abuse and calumny against any official who has the courage to point out to his people the dangers now so imminent.

"You have witnessed only recently the threats and insults heaped upon the head of Ambassador Bullitt for his courageous speech in Philadelphia."

ARMY BOMBER'S MOTORS FAIL; 8 LEAP TO SAFETY

Kalama, Wash., Aug. 30 (AP).—All eight occupants of an army bomber parachuted to safety today after the motors failed. The bomber of the 73d bombardment squadron, McChord field, Washington, crashed on a farm north of here.

William Huntley, mechanic, said: "The first we knew anything was wrong was when the motors stopped." He said the men were ordered to bail out and that he jumped from 6,000 feet. The others who reached ground safely were:

First Lieutenant Jack B. Donohew, pilot; Second Lieutenant Henry P. King, Sergt. H. A. Davis, Sergt. D. T. De Long, Privates H. W. Dullinger, T. H. Stitt, and W. A. James.

FOUND DEAD IN GARAGE.

George Carlson, 56 years old, a partner in the Variety Enameling and Finishing company, was found dead of motor exhaust fumes yesterday in his car in the garage of his home at 6419 South Green street. His widow, Agnes, told police he had been missing for a week.

REVOKE DAIRY'S PERMIT AS PAPER BOTTLES APPEAR

Health Board Acts; Test Case Arrest Denied.

BY EDWARD WILSON.

After several conferences behind closed doors the board of health yesterday banned the Dean Milk company from selling any more milk in Chicago. It revoked four previously issued permits relating to plant and truck operations and asked Mayor Kelly to revoke the concern's truck and store licenses.

The action was taken at a special, unannounced, and hurriedly called board meeting shortly after the company began selling milk in paper containers, at its store at 3819 Southport avenue.

Permit Sought for Years.

For more than four years the Dean Milk company has sought permission to sell milk in paper bottles in Chicago. For several years it has been selling the paper bottled milk in surrounding suburbs. S. E. Dean, company president, announced Thursday night he would begin selling it in Chicago and let the city "take the next action."

Yesterday more than 1,000 quarts of milk bottled in paper were sold at the company store. Dean described the sale as "phenomenal," even tho it was bolstered by a special offer of a free half-pint of cream with every two quarts of milk.

When news reached city hall that milk was being sold in paper containers Dr. Herman Bundesen, board of health president, and Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, board member, were called to the office of Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes yesteray morning. Following a conference with the two physicians, Hodes told reporters another conference would be held in the afternoon.

Board Convenes Unscheduled.

The afternoon conference proved to be an unscheduled board of health meeting attended by three of the five members, Dr. Bundesen, Dr. Schmidt, and Harry Reynolds. Three assistant corporation counsels, Fred V. McGuire, Alexander Resa, and Charles Horan, also were present.

Charles O. Rundall, attorney for the Dean company, and P. C. Livingston, the firm's sales manager, likewise were there. They explained they "stumbled on the meeting by accident," having come to the city hall to confer with Bundesen about any action the city might take.

Before the board discussed the sale of milk in paper containers by the Dean company, Reynolds asked for a short recess. He said he had an "important telephone call to make" and walked from the board room to an adjoining office.

Then, one by one, with the exception of Dr. Schmidt, board members and city lawyers followed Reynolds into the private room.

Urges Permit Revocations.

Fifteen minutes later they returned to the board room and Paul Krueger, head of the sanitation bureau of the health board reported on the paper bottle milk sales. He contended that the existing city ordinance, which requires that milk be sold in "standard milk bottles," bans the use of paper containers. Thus, he charged, the sales by the Dean company violated the law. He recommended revocation of the company's permits and licenses.

Before the board voted concurrence McGuire advised members that it was the legal step to take.

Rundall objected. He declared the violation of an ordinance calls for an arrest, not a license revocation.

"An arrest is what we wanted," he said. "We hoped to make this a test case."

Defiance of City Charged.

Later Hodes issued a statement declaring the company had "openly and willfully defied an ordinance of the city council." He contended the ordinance was shown to be valid in hearings on the two suits the company now has pending against the city in federal and Circuit courts. He further alleged that the company was defying those courts by ordering sales in paper containers before final decisions had been obtained.

In reply Dean said: "The city did not take the legal step and make an arrest. Instead it took the more dictatorial step and tried to put us out of business by taking away our licenses. We will continue to fight."

It was indicated the company will seek an injunction against the city next week.

DISABLED VETS ELECT DETROIT MAN COMMANDER

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 30 [Special].—Victor Shoeck, Detroit, tonight was chosen national commander of the Disabled American Veterans in the closing session of the nine day convention here. Milton D. Cohn, Buffalo, N. Y., was the only other serious contender for the honor.

At the final meeting the veterans approved resolutions indorsing elimination of the fifth column and all others working against the present form of government, and compulsory training in high schools and colleges.

Shoeck, the new commander, succeeds Lewis J. Murphy, South Bend, Ind. New senior vice commander is Joseph Deuster, Green Bay, chairman of the convention. Others included John Golob, Hibbing, Minn., first junior vice commander; William J. Dodd, Union City, N. J., second junior vice commander, Elton M. Morel, New Orleans, third junior vice commander, and A. C. McCarthy, Rosendale, Mass., fourth junior vice commander. Sylvester Hoffman was reelected judge advocate.

GIRLS ON STRIKE TRY TO HUG RAISE OUT OF MANAGER

Use Wiles as Formal Dealing Flops.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 30 (AP).—Girl cigar plant strikers, jitterbugging to company furnished music, today turned womanly wiles on a vice president in an effort to win concessions which two days of formal negotiation had failed to get.

Several hundred young women employés of the John Swisher and Son cigar factory—one of the biggest in the world—are demanding increased pay and the reinstatement of a plant manager.

So far the strike has been on "happy family" terms, the girls dancing to music from a company sound truck in the plant yard, making speeches and picnicking on ice cream and cold drinks furnished by the factory.

Girls Hug the Manager.

Carl Swisher, vice president and general manager, was swarmed upon by the girls when he came into the plant yard today. They hugged him, mussed his hair, kidded him, tried to get him to make a speech and smilingly pressed their demands.

Swisher laughed and took the kidding but was unable to get back into the plant until police came to his aid. Shortly afterward he met with spokesmen for the strikers.

Strike Leader Otto Nolte said at least 2,000 of the 3,000 Swisher employés would not return to work until J. C. McCorkhill, former vice president and assistant general manager, had been reinstated and wage scales increased.

2 Million Cigars a Day.

Company officials said McCorkhill resigned and declared the strike resulted from a "misunderstanding." McCorkhill told reporters he had been fired.

Company officials said the factory was continuing operations. Strike leaders said it was impossible for the skeleton force to maintain the daily production quota of 2,000,000 cigars.

BANDITS NAB $25,000 IN DAYLIGHT HOLDUP AND ESCAPE BY AUTO

Three gunmen yesterday afternoon seized six bags containing jewelry valued at $25,000 from Jacob Jentleson, jewelry merchant of New York, in a robbery at Roosevelt road and Campbell avenue. The three forced to the curb Jentleson's car which was being driven by his chauffeur, Furio DeLuca of Brooklyn. After threatening the two with pistols, the bandits took the jewelry bags and sped northward in Campbell avenue.

VETS DEMAND PERKINS RESIGN, BRIDGES' OUSTER

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 30 (AP).—The national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars adopted resolutions today demanding the resignation of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and the deportation of Harry Bridges, C. I. O. west coast maritime union leader.

The Perkins resolution termed her "an appointee who knows but little, if any, of the sacrifices made by laboring classes" and asked her replacemen with "a secretary who will have a true and accurate feeling and sympathy for the needs of American labor in the democratic processes thru which American labor has gained so much."

CANADA TURNS FOUR FRENCH VESSELS OVER TO MERCHANT MARINE

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 30 (AP).—Four French merchant ships in Canadian harbors when France surrendered have been requisitioned and turned over to the Canadian merchant marine, Naval Minister Angus MacDonald announced today.

The ships are the St. Malo, 5,770 tons; Maurienne, 3,259 tons; Lisieux, 2,594 tons, and Limoges, 2,256 tons. The Lisieux, formerly the Mumani, and the Limoges, formerly the Wallingford, had been obtained by France from the United States.

MacDonald said they would be added to 21,184 tons of Danish shipping taken over by Canada after the German invasion of Denmark.

SO-CALLED PEACE RALLY OPENS IN STADIUM TODAY

A three day conference called the Emergency Peace Mobilization, sponsored by the Committee to Defend America by Keeping Out of War, will open today in the Chicago Stadium. The meeting, reputedly sponsored by communist forces, is expected to attract several thousand persons, according to the sponsoring committee.

Senators D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho] and Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], who were scheduled to address the gathering, canceled their appointments in telegrams to the Rev. John B. Thompson, committee chairman. They said they did not see how their participation would help in keeping this country out of war.

Paul Robeson, Negro baritone, will sing "Ballad For Americans" at tonight's meeting. Among speakers will be Joseph Curran, international president of the National Maritime union [C. I. O.]; Oscar Ameringer, publisher of the American Guardian; Dr. Francis E. Townsend, Jack McMichael, chairman of the communistically flavored American Youth Congress, and Congressman Vito Marcantonio of New York.

VOTES TO HOLD JOBS FOR MEN IN U. S. SERVICE

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP).—W. Emery Lancaster, president of the state civil service commission, announced today that civil service rules had been changed to guarantee reemployment of civil service employés if they join the military or naval forces during a "national emergency."

The old regulation permitted leaves of absences only during "time of war," but the amended rule was described as "of great importance for the reason that in many departments of the state government are many young men who are being called to the service at this time."

JAMES CHARGES WALLACE FAKES NEW DEAL AIMS

Calls Speech a Glib Bid for One Man Rule.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 30 [Special].—Gov. Arthur H. James, in an open letter today to Henry A. Wallace as "proxy for the cautious Mr. Roosevelt," told the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee that in his acceptance speech last night, "true to New Deal precedent, you placed the campaign at once on a basis of misrepresentation and demagogery."

The governor described President Roosevelt as an exponent of government "by a band of arbitrary burocrats subject to no court review, with Roosevelt himself as the dictator at the top."

"Only one body in the United States has stood successfully in the path of the President during this eight year siege of democracy, and that body has been the elected representatives of the men and women of this nation who constitute the national congress," Mr. James wrote.

Dictator Ambitions Curbed.

"Had it not been for the successful resistance of senators and representatives, in many instances coming from the ranks of the Democratic party which President Roosevelt purports to represent, President Roosevelt long ago would have surpassed Hitler himself as a one man dictator."

Analyzing Wallace's speech, the governor said this country faced two dangers: "One from abroad which menaces us today only because of the failures of the New Dealers to prepare for it at the proper time."

"The second is at home. Under your eloquence and glibness last night lay a bid for permanent control of America thru burocracies centered in one pair of hands."

Trying to "Chain Freedom."

Concerning the Roosevelt domestic policy, James stated the President had sought "by every means at the disposal of the national administration, to chain democracy and freedom to the chariot wheels of the New Deal."

The administration's foreign policy, he asserted, consisted of "endless meddling and muddling," and of "hazardous attempts to play the jealousies and selfish interests of one nation or group of nations against the others."

He accused the Roosevelt régime of "talking big and carrying a popgun," and of using highly important ambassadorships as "political rewards for those whose golden wealth and tawdry lip service have been placed at the disposal of the New Deal's political overlords."

Urges "Common Sense" Return.

James said the Republican party "is the only available instrument for a return of common sense and common honesty in government."

He assailed the Overton-Russell amendment to the conscription bill permitting the taking over of factories by the government.

"At the very time you were accumulating your elaborate defense and eulogy of the President as one who has been battling for democracy and freedom, what was happening in congress?" the governor asked Wallace.

"Unobtrusively an amendment was being introduced in the draft bill which would give President Roosevelt personal and final control of all the private resources in the nation.

"Have you disclaimed the Overton-Russell amendment to the conscription bill? Has President Roosevelt disclaimed it?

"Calling such a policy democracy doesn't stop it from being dictatorship. It is the same type of tyranny which America has always fought. It would be unlimited monarchy.

"I am against it, and I am both glad and proud to say that I know the overwhelming sentiment of the men and women of this nation also is against it."

BOAT FIRE HERO IS FLOWN FROM CANADA TO U. S.

Special Permit Granted for Mercy Flight.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 30 [Special].—A United States coast guard amphibian plane made a 750 mile mercy flight today to bring Frederick Bager, Milwaukee advertising executive, from Little Current, Ontario, to Milwaukee for hospital treatment.

Bager was burned seriously in Georgian bay on July 12 in preventing the yacht Islander from catching fire. He grabbed a flaming oil stove from the yacht's galley, ran up the galley steps, and dived overboard with the stove.

Suffering from first and second degree burns on his face, hands, forearms, and legs, Bager was taken to the Mindemoya hospital in Little Current. Recently it was decided his improvement would be accelerated if he could be brought to Milwaukee, where he would be among home surroundings and under the care of his family physician.

War Problem Arises.

However, a problem arose over his transportation. Because of his serious condition, it was deemed advisable that Bager be moved only by air. But war restrictions in effect at the Canadian-United States border prevent private planes from entering Canada.

The state department in Washington finally arranged with the Canadian government to permit the plane to land in that country. Then arrangements were made thru the coast guard offices in Chicago for the services of a government plane.

Arrives Back Home.

Lieut. A. E. Harned of the coast guard station at Elizabeth City, N. C., flew a ship to Little Current and brought the patient here this afternoon. After landing at the Milwaukee county airport at 3:45 p.m., central standard time, Bager was taken to St. Luke's hospital. His physician, Dr. Charles L. Rumph, said he was doing well.

Bager is 35 years old and lives at 422 Hawthorne avenue, South Milwaukee. He is art director of the Scott Telander Advertising agency. The yacht Islander, on which the accident took place, is owned by M. L. Telander of the advertising firm.

A. F. OF L. ROSTER SETS NEW HIGH, GREEN REPORTS

The American Federation of Labor's membership is now at an all-time peak, William Green, president, revealed yesterday in a Labor day message. It was printed in the Federation News, organ of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

"Employed workers have made progress despite the depression," he wrote. "But progress for the employed is offset by the number of unemployed who are denied places to earn a living in our business structure."

Green warned that labor must remain united in its fight to maintain shorter working hours, and to continue its move for a 30 hour work week, so that all of the unemployed can be returned to industry.

HELD FOR STEALING DUCK.

Fulton, Ill., Aug. 30 [Special].—Peter Bush, 57 years old, was at liberty today on $1,000 bond following his arrest on a charge of stealing a duck. Claus Webenga, Fulton farmer, charged Bush shot with a rifle one or more tame ducks on a highway near here and took at least one of the ducks. Bush was held to the Whiteside county grand jury.

Reliefers' Daughter Wins Healthiest Iowa Baby Title

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 30 (AP).—Sharon Kay Conn, whose unemployed parents are on relief, was named Iowa's healthiest baby at the Iowa state fair today and set an all-time record in the event. Doctors gave her 99.4 points, .02 of a point above the record set by the girl winner in 1934, and .26 of a point more than the score of the healthiest boy, Donald Merrill Parker. Sharon Kay is 22 months old. Her father is 22 and her mother 20. They live near Des Moines.

DEMOCRATIC DAY FADES AWAY AT ST. CHARLES FAIR

Republicans to Hold Big Rally Tomorrow.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Today should be Democratic day at the St. Charles Fall festival with third term campaign speeches in the big natural amphitheater on the banks of the beautiful Fox river. But it won't be.

Tomorrow certainly will be Republican day. Wayland Brooks and Dwight H. Green, nominees, respectively, for United States senator and governor, will speak and probably will have an outdoor audience of 10,000 or more.

But the prominent places on this afternoon's program that ordinarily would be filled by Brooks' and Green's opponents, Senator James M. Slattery and Harry B. Hershey, will be taken by beautiful young women.

It's Style and Fashion Day.

Democratic day has been replaced by Style and Fashion day. One of the headliners will be Miss Roberta Lucas, the Miss Columbia, who led the Cook county Republican delegation parade at Elwood during the Willkie notification ceremonies.

There will be other girls, including Shirley Geschke, blue-eyed, blonde, and 16, chosen yesterday as festival queen from a field of 70 contestants, and Helen Martin, the New York World's fair girl, but so far as is known, none of these young women is a Democrat.

Officials of the festival, which in the past always has had Democratic as well as Republican days on its week-end programs, declined to theorize about why the Democrats are not celebrating this year. All they know, they say, is that the customary invitations were extended to both parties. Off the record one suggested that Kane county and the adjoining territory is so strongly Republican this year that there would be difficulty mustering an opposition crowd.

Elsewhere it was learned that the official invitation was extended to Attorney J. E. Altschuler of Aurora, chairman of the Democratic county committee, and that later delegations visited the offices of Mayor Kelly and the Cook county central committee in futile efforts to arouse Democratic interest.

State Chairman Explains.

In Aurora it was reported that Chairman Altschuler was out of the city. State Chairman Arthur A. Sullivan said he had not heard of this subject earlier, but, after inquiry, said he had been told that County Chairman Altschuler balked when his organization was asked to take a $100 advertisment in the festival program, and thought that the date was too early in the campaign for a Democratic meeting in his county.

Republican Nominee Brooks received what he said was a highly pleasing call from a delegation representing a newly organized Tri-County Republican Farmers' club. D. L. Brown of Bloomington, president, and other officers of the club presented Brooks with 5,000 membership cards signed by farmers in McLean, Logan, and Tazewell counties.

THE CAMPAIGN
Both Sides of it

REPUBLICAN

Roosevelt Is Always Imposing on La Guardia.

BY CARLISLE BARGERON.

(Assigned by Republican National Committee.)

Inasmuch as the great rank and file of people are so busily engaged in trying to make a living that they can't be experts in the mechanics of politics, this column will occasionally try to point out some of the tricks which the politicians use.

This one today has to do with the political term known as the "brilliant stroke." Mr. Roosevelt's ability to make "brilliant strokes" is one of the reasons even politicians on the opposite side admire his slickness.

Well, the New Dealers have been chortling for the last several days over Mr. Roosevelt's "brilliant stroke" in naming Mayor La Guardia to the chairmanship of the American-Canadian joint defense board. This board was looked upon as so important in working out a joint defense program between this country and Canada that you must be startled to know that the politicians think of it only in the terms of being a "brilliant stroke" because of the mayor's appointment.

Use Him for His Popularity.

The mayor is an able man and an honest man. He was an able and honest man when he was down in Washington, and being this, it is a safe bet that he frequently burns up inwardly over Mr. Roosevelt's using him for political "brilliant strokes." Either the joint defense board is to be taxed to its very capacity or it is to be just another board. And if it is to be the former it would seem to be downright cruel to saddle the work on the mayor's already overburdened shoulders. It is, in fact, utterly impossible for him to take the additional work on.

The New Dealers are willing to use him, however, because of his popularity, but more because the President publicly insulted thousands of his followers several weeks ago. It was utterly essential that he make some kind of a "brilliant stroke" in the hope of offsetting its effect.

If it had been left with Mr. Roosevelt and Ed Flynn, of course Mr. La Guardia would never have become mayor of New York. No one knows this better than he. But on the Saturday preceding his election in 1933, when it was known on the inside that his election was in the bag, Mr. Roosevelt wrote him a letter saying, in effect, that he, Mr. Roosevelt, had secretly been FOR the mayor all the time. At this late date he magnanimously told the mayor that he could make this letter public.

The mayor decided that he didn't want Mr. Roosevelt cashing in on his victory, so he did NOT make the letter public.

Job Promised 10 Other Fellows.

By way of further using the mayor, the New Dealers have recently been passing out stories that in the event Mr. Roosevelt is elected to a third term he intends to make the mayor secretary of war. We'd like to see the mayor's face when he reads one of these stories. Aside from the fact that he knows the job has in this way been "promised" to about 10 other fellows, he also knows that he himself had a chance at the Presidency or Vice Presidency had not Mr. Roosevelt forced his own renomination.

We can't help thinking these things are more important than talking about taxes, because they throw light on the way the government is being operated and what really goes on in the minds of those who are so "busily engaged in building up our national defense."

Surely it would have been more of a public service if Mr. Roosevelt had devoted the time he spent in working out this "brilliant stroke" to debating with Mr. Willkie.

Which Is the Greater Man?

Back in 1933, after Mr. Roosevelt had been elected but before he took office, there was an international conference scheduled in London which thoughtful men everywhere hoped, and had reason to believe, would head off the present world tragedy. Mr. Hoover was a leader in it. Now he had been defeated and no selfish ambitions could possibly be attributed to him, he sought to get Mr. Roosevelt to promise to go thru with the conference.

Mr. Roosevelt was highly amused. Those around him kept laughing, "It's his [Mr. Hoover's] baby; it's his baby."

It was a whale of a joke, and Mr. Roosevelt went thru by kicking the conference over.

Now the crisis which the conference sought to avert is here. Mr. Willkie did not laugh and say it was Mr. Roosevelt's baby. Right or wrong, Mr. Roosevelt is President until next January. Mr. Willkie did everything to cooperate a man in his present position could do. To relieve Mr. Roosevelt of any hesitancy he might have about conscription he came out for it, too.

Averts "Political Dynamite."

Notwithstanding the confidence of some editors, the politicians think there is a lot of political dynamite in the conscription business. Mr. Willkie said, in effect, to Mr. Roosevelt:

"So that the country can be best served, I'll get in the boat with you on this."

Make no mistake about it, a man of lesser stature could have made plenty of capital with this as an issue.

Now, so help me goodness, the New Dealers want him to go down to Washington and pass the bill. Mr. Willkie hasn't been ELECTED to anything YET. Full grown men in congress, who won't be browbeaten by the President with all of the power at his command, would not likely be browbeaten by a candidate.

DEMOCRATIC

Two Views of Roosevelt.

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee.)

Trying to Bury It.

A difference in mood and temperament has handicapped a normal desire on our part to debate in friendly fashion with the Republican antagonist, Good Neighbor Bargeron, in the adjoining column.

But the hardest thing in the world to debate is a snort of anger and a trumpet of rage. Anger in itself is not to be dismissed lightly. The Bible tells us about the righteous wrath of the prophets, and yet when this instrument of feeling is used in abundance by lesser mortals it has a tendency to confuse thought and submerge ideas. Like irony and satire, it should be employed in severe moderation. Very often it begets incoherence and confusion when clarity is needed.

"Get rid of that man" seems to be a fair summary of the Republican battle cry. "And get rid of every one around him." For the President, they say, has done nothing right. Even the Roosevelt they picture seems an unfamiliar fellow to us. He is a sly schemer, a sinister rascal, a man who plots evil deeds on dark nights, a man who would betray the nation and run the risk of war to consume his own consuming lust for power.

The difference between Roosevelt and Willkie, so says the opposite column, "is the difference between hypocrisy and sincerity." Harsh words and bitter language to use about a President of the United States. Except for the promise of a clean campaign, solemnly made by the candidate, it might be interpreted as a blow below the belt.

Our View of Willkie.

Unfortunately, for the sake of blood curdling debate, we have no such feelings about Mr. Willkie. He is a likeable fellow personally, full of boyish enthusiasms, who never conceals his unbounded joy at the accident of fate which lifted him from relative obscurity into the glaring prominence of a national political campaign.

He does his level best to live up to the captivating figure, created by the press agents, of a hammer and tongs executive who pulls out red tape by the handfuls, cracks down on lifeless subordinates, and gets things done by the sheer force of his drive and will-power. A Sunday picture supplement would seem bare and empty without a likeness of Willkie, his raven locks whipping in the breeze, pointing a menacing forefinger at somebody or other.

Our chief objection to Mr. Willkie is that you can never quite put your finger on him. He has that quality of mental elusiveness which so often characterizes the shrewd and subtle lawyer. He jumps at an issue with a ferocious air and a thunderous yell—the New Deal, conscription, the war, or what have you—but when the noise dies down it is difficult to grasp the precise point he intended to convey.

The noise, of course, may be responsible for this, and not his lack of forthrightness. Just the same, a great many Republicans have the same confused feeling as we do.

Forget the Past.

For example, they can't decide whether he does approve the New Deal reforms or merely says so for campaign purposes.

Mr. Willkie, pop off the bat, poured a few shovelfuls of earth on the past record of the Republican party. Nobody, he says, wants to go back to the good old days of Coolidge and Hoover. No one, Wendell? Except that mentioning Wall street brings a look of pain and sorrow to many Republican faces, we might suggest that he go back and talk to a few of the boys on the "street." If he thinks the boys are putting their dough on the line for an ersatz New Deal, he has a native Indiana innocence wholly unsuspected. He had better bring back the good old days—or else.

Killing a Few "Issues."

A space many fathoms wide and twice as deep would be necessary to take up in detail the accusations leveled against the President and his administration in the adjoining column. The majority are "sensational" off the record disclosures—how he plotted with Ambassador Bill Bullitt to start the European war; how he accepts the plaudits of the crowd and then scorns them with derisive laughter—in private.

The charge about Bullitt was repeated in the senate by men who should have known better. Bullitt answered the charge in a ringing letter to Senator Clark of Missouri, which ended that controversy definitely, finally, and effectively.

To the "I hate Roosevelt" class, the President will continue to be a conniving adventurer who can do no right. To the majority of his fellow countrymen, he will continue to be the greatest spokesman for liberty and democracy in his generation.

WILLKIE HURLS NEW CHALLENGE AT ROOSEVELT

Refutes His Reasons for Declining to Talk.

tion that Wallace, "and now the President," are completely wrong in implying that the Republican party is the party of appeasement.

"The reverse is completely true," the Republican nominee said.

Willkie had a rather leisurely schedule today. He spent several hours answering accumulated mail and received a few callers.

The nominee expressed his "very great gratification" that Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota has indorsed him. "Every day there are new Independent and Democratic supporters," he said.

Senator Shipstead, a Farmer-Laborite, has announced he will run for nomination on the Republican ticket in Minnesota's September primary. He has never before indorsed a Presidential candidate.

"As a Democrat whose political stand has exactly parallele your own," it read, "I wish to assure you of my cordial support in the coming campaign, my belief in the principles for which you stand, and my confidence in your election and the practical and impartial administration which you will give this country."

Telegram from R. W. Straus.

Another telegram of praise came from Roger W. Straus, Jewish co-chairman of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, who wired congratulations for Willkie's refusal of support of intolerant groups. He particularly mentioned the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, the "radio priest," and Joseph McWilliams, leader of an antisemitic group in New York.

Dewitt M. Emery, of Akron, O., president of the National Small Business Men's association, announced after a conference with Willkie that he would resign his post and form a small business men's committee for him.

"I am firmly convinced," Emery said, "that if democracy and all it implies—free enterprise, private property, freedom of speech and assembly, right of petition, and trial by jury—is to survive in the United States, it is essential for Wendell Willkie to be elected President next November."

Willkie announced the appointment of Walter I. Sundlun of Providence, R. I., to his personal staff. Sundlun is president of the Congregation of Temple Beth-El in Providence, and an officer in several other Jewish organizations in his state.

Pig Buried Almost Year Found Alive but Stunted

Boone, Ia., Aug. 30 [Special].—A pig buried last fall when a corn crib was filled and sealed on the Sundgren brothers' farm near here was found alive today by a boy hunting pigeons. Its weight had shrunk to only 50 pounds. It had fed on only what nourishment rain and snow leaking into the crib provided.

DIES SUBPENAS GERMAN LIBRARY RECORDS IN N. Y.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—A subpena requiring the German Library of Information to produce its books, papers, and other records at the federal court house forthwith was served late today on Mathias Schmitz, library director, by Stephen Birmingham, chief investigator here for the Dies committee.

Birmingham said the committee wished to obtain a list of the library's employés, information about their bank accounts and sources of funds, and all other matters which might throw light on activities which the committee desires to check up on.

The German Library of Information is the third German organization to have its records subpenaed by the committee, which plans to open hearings here next month on Nazi and communist propaganda. Recently the committee called for records of the Trans-Ocean News Service and the German Tourist information office.

THOUSANDS SEE GUNMAN BATTLE OFFICER AND DIE

Flying Shots Peril N.Y. Theater Crowds.

New York, Aug. 30 [Special].—Thousands of theatergoers witnessed a genuine life thriller in West 45th street off Times square tonight when a policeman shot down a gunman in a revolver duel. As he fell the gunman placed his revolver to his temple and ended his life.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 persons were in the street waiting to enter theaters when the battle began. One of the gunman's shots seriously wounded a doorman while the theatergoers cowered in doorways to escape the bullets.

The patrolman's victim first attracted attention when he accosted a man on 8th avenue between 45th and 46th streets, drew a gun, and threatened to rob him. The intended victim fled to 45th street and called Patrolman Joseph Schecker.

Flees Into Crowd.

Schecker raced after the gunman. The latter fled into 45th street in an attempt to lose himself in the crowd of theatergoers. The theatergoers, busily chatting, paid little heed.

The gunman ran to the Plymouth theater, where most of the night's audience was already inside and waiting for the curtain to rise on the play, "Separate Rooms."

Thru a gap in the crowd Schecker fired a shot, but it went wild. The gunman dashed into the theater lobby and Schecker rapidly closed in. As he did the gunman fired two shots, one of which hit James Mitchell, the theater doorman, and then took flight. As he reached the street Schecker fired two shots, both of which struck the gunman.

Fires as He Falls.

The gunman reeled and as he fell he raised his revolver to his right temple and fired a last shot, killing himself.

The shots fired by the gunman and the policeman were heard inside the Plymouth theater, where some 1,200 persons were in their seats awaiting the beginning of the play. Members of the theater staff said, however, that the shooting caused no disturbance and the play went ahead on schedule.

DEMOCRATIC MAYOR OF BALTIMORE HITS NEW DEAL POLICIES

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 30 (AP).—Democratic leaders faced the possibility today of a party breach which may have potent effect on Maryland's Presidential balloting in November.

Democratic Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore, whose organization twice has smashed the state administration in bitter campaigns, has left open the question of whether a speech he delivered Wednesday could be regarded as a blast at the Roosevelt administration.

Speculation arose as to whether it could be regarded as a "keynote" for guidance of his supporters in the campaign.

Jackson, speaking extemporaneously, had expressed concern over the fiscal policies of "this government," destruction of constitutional rights and liberties of the American people, and interference of government in industry.

"I am not afraid of Hitler," he said. "I haven't got the jitters as a lot of people have. What I am concerned about are our local and domestic affairs. What I am concerned about is that this government is spending $2 and taking in $1.

CHICAGO ARTIST DOES WILLKIE'S PORTRAIT IN OIL

The painting, a 25 by 30 bust portrait, shows a resolute Willkie in reflective mood. It will be reproduced in color in the rotogravure section of THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE in October.

Doctoroff started work on the portrait in Rushville, Ind., following Willkie's Elwood acceptance speech, and went with the Willkie party to New York, where he set up his studio in Willkie's office in the Commodore hotel. He pronounced Willkie a remarkable subject for portraiture.

"His face is a very powerful one," he said. "You get a feeling of strength and force. His eyes are piercing and penetrating, and his jaw indomitable and purposeful."

REPORT HORNER WILL STAY HERE THRU SEPTEMBER

Gov. Henry Horner, who moved from Springfield to a summer residence on the lake shore at Winnetka last June, probably will spend the entire month of September there.

Inquiry was made yesterday because of reports that the summer lease covered only the months of June, July and August. The reply was that the agreement covered four months and that up to this time there has been no discussion of the governor's return to the capital.

Dr. Maurice Rubel, the governor's physician, said his patient's condition has not changed materially.

WOMAN OVERCOME BY GAS; REVIVED.

Mrs. Edith de Francisco, 22 years old, was revived by firemen yesterday after she was found overcome by gas in the kitchen of her home at 210 South Seeley avenue.

CONSCRIPTION FOR THE THIRD TERM.

The conscription bill is a fraud. It is a political fraud. The record proves that it is. The recommendations of the general staff from September of last year until May of this year show that the army did not want these conscripts. There was no place for them in the defense preparations.

The military measures advocated by the military experts before the political commander in chief stepped in as a candidate for reelection on a war platform were based on military judgment. In September, 1939, the general staff recommended the streamlining of five divisions in the regular army. The staff asked that the enlisted strength of the regular army be increased from 169,000 to 227,000 men and that the National Guard be recruited from 190,000 to 235,000. In October the plans were for nine mobile corps, comprising four field armies of 280,000 regulars and 320,000 National Guardsmen.

In December the army high command advised Mr. Roosevelt against further increase in the army personnel until reorganization, training, and materials were combined to give the nation a complete small army with weapons which were not obsolete compared with those of other armies. In January the recruiting for the increases recommended was progressing satisfactorily. It reached new peacetime highs. More than 92,000 enlistments were made within six months. The army high command was satisfied with the results obtained in this sensible attempt to coördinate the increase of forces with the output of material and with the training of the new men.

Retired officers were called into service as instructors and the Civil Aeronautics training of pilots was given a speeding up in line with general staff recommendations. In April the army asked for an appropriation of 786 million dollars to make equipment available for a force of a million men, if needed. On May 3 the general staff recommended that more and better equipment be procured, pointing to the superiority of German weapons.

Mr. Roosevelt then opposed that recommendation, but two weeks later he was mounted on the war scare. He asked congress for 1 billion 182 million dollars for defense and demanded 50,000 airplanes, without saying who was to build them and how. Two weeks later he asked for another billion. At the same time, with the recommendation of the general staff, he requested authority to call the National Guard into active service. The war department wanted only a part of the Guard, not all of it.

The army command was trying to limit the number of men called for training to the numbers that could be absorbed, organized, and equipped. Recruiting was furnishing volunteers in sufficient numbers. The army congratulated itself on the result, as was shown in the suppressed pages of the most recent issue of Recruiting News. By the orders of some one those pages containing a congratulatory message to the recruiting staff were cut out. The conscription bill was introduced in congress June 20. The question is, why?

The general staff hadn't asked for these men. The high command knew that the army was not ready for conscripts, did not have and could not get weapons for them, and had not devised an organization to receive them. The general staff, when free to exercise its own judgment, was undertaking to put into effect a reasonable plan which would give the United States the most it can expect to have in the time period involved. This force would be sufficient for its purposes if the plans were well carried out. It would be a well trained, well equipped, mobile army, competent to meet any danger this country need expect within the period for which it is preparing.

As a military measure the conscription bill is nothing but a detriment to the service. Then why has it been insisted upon when the army doesn't want it? The answer is that it is a war scare bill. It is a part of the program of increasing the fears of the American people to justify the arguments upon which the third term candidacy is based. If Mr. Roosevelt would not have run if there had been no war, he must then have a great deal of war to excuse his candidacy. Furthermore, the conscription of property required by the New Deal for its next four years cannot be proposed or undertaken unless there is a conscription of men. Therefore, the conscription of men is to be ordered as a justification for the taking over of private property. It's the property that the New Deal wants for the third term.

ONE FOR THE BOOK.

It has been said there is nothing so dead as yesterday's newspaper, but to get a true picture of the spirit of the times and of every aspect of the social, economic, political, and cultural life of any particular period, the historian always refers to the old files of a newspaper for a mirror to truly reflect these things.

With this thought in mind, we would take yesterday's issue of THE TRIBUNE to file away in the archives. We believe it is one of our most interesting and important issues. It contains a statement by Candidate Willkie which epitomizes the basic opposition to the New Deal in the present campaign. It contains the notification speech of Vice Presidential Candidate Wallace which indicates the trend Roosevelt's bid for a third term will take.

The Battle of England and the Balkan crisis are covered by interesting stories and pictures. The local news, society, sports, and features are of special interest, and the cartoons are noteworthy. The back page gives some of the most remarkable action pictures of the All-Star football game which was played the night before. These pictures of "frozen motion" represent a new and important advance in newspaper photography, the result of the individual initiative of Tribune employés. Last, but by no means least, a fine job of printing has been done on every page.

CORNWALLACE DRAWS HIS SWORD.

Folks in Iowa and points east and west who were following Dr. Eddie Anderson's and Nile Kinnick's maneuvers at Soldiers' field Thursday night found Cornwallace taking over in the middle of the second quarter. Henry was throwing it farther than Cecil Isbell, but not as accurately.

He spent a good deal of his time telling how President Roosevelt differs from Hitler. In view of what they are doing in Washington, the New Dealers undoubtedly feel the necessity of assuring the country that there is a difference. The principal one at this time is that Hitler already has what Roosevelt is trying to get.

Probably no one will ever know whether the speech Candidate Wallace delivered at Des Moines was the same one that Nominee Wallace stuffed in his pocket as he fled in confusion from the Chicago Stadium on the night of his nomination. The delegates had nominated him but their backs were still stinging from the lash that forced the nomination, and they were in no mood to look on their handiwork.

Certainly Mr. Wallace at Des Moines did his best to distract attention from his record that had gagged the delegates of his own party in Chicago. The holocaust of little pigs went unmentioned. Neither was there a defense of the fact that while Mr. Wallace was paying farmers public funds to reduce production he and his family were cashing in on that program privately by selling the same farmers hybrid seed to increase production.

The fact that the last decade, seven years of which saw Mr. Wallace in the department of agriculture, has been the most prolonged period of low farm prices in our history went unmentioned. In defending his scarcity economics he failed to mention that his "tremendous reserve" of farm products is in fact the most tremendous surplus in history, overhanging the market and principally responsible for the low prices of this year's crops.

If there is anything wrong with agriculture, Mr. Wallace wanted his hearers to believe, it was not the fault of the New Deal but because the Republicans have chosen for their national chairman Representative Martin, who refused to vote funds for Mr. Wallace's vote buying schemes. In contrast to Chairman Martin, Mr. Wallace and his party offer that horny handed husbandman of the Bronx, Chairman Ed Flynn. Mr. Flynn no doubt heard about farms from his old pal, Dutch Schultz, who used to take people out into rural New York for the purpose of shooting them.

The record he cannot defend Mr. Wallace sought to obscure by bawling for war. President Roosevelt, he assured the nation, is the indispensable possessor of the Seeing Eye. It was he who first divined the danger that is Hitler.

"Time after time," said Mr. Wallace, "the President voiced the broadest possible warnings to the public in an effort to stir our people from their slumber. For these efforts he was called a war monger, but the President kept on telling the truth as he saw it, and events have proved both the sincerity of his warnings and the accuracy of his judgment."

What Mr. Wallace failed to explain was why, if President Roosevelt had such clear foresight of what threatened America, he did not move to prepare the country for that danger. The President started fishing in troubled waters in 1937, and thereafter took to sleeping with a trans-Atlantic telephone virtually glued to his ear, but he did nothing to defend America.

The country is now facing the waste attendant upon a helter-skelter armament race because President Roosevelt found greater political profit in spending money for WPA votes than in spending it for tanks and guns. It was President Roosevelt and the Democratic party who prevented rearmament, not, as Mr. Wallace sought to imply, the Republicans in congress.

The President has had a rubber stamp Democratic congress which could and did pass whatever measures he advanced, and when he did ask defense funds, Republicans voted for them as solidly as did the Democrats. If the Republican minority in congress has been in any way dilatory in defense measures, it has not been in the matter of voting money, but because it has refrained, from desire to avoid partisanship, from exposing more fully the incompetence of the Roosevelt administration in spending those funds.

The lost years for which President Roosevelt is responsible are already costing the country billions of dollars. We will be fortunate if we are allowed to pay for them in money alone, and not in blood and tears.

Some measure of hyperbole and misstatement is expected in a politician defending the record of his party, but few American politicians have adopted so completely as did Mr. Wallace the Hitler maxim that if you tell a lie you should tell a big one. It is Mr. Wallace's claim that the Republican party is the Hitler party. These were his words:

"Most Republicans may not yet realize it, but their party is the party of appeasement in the United States today. It is the party which the totalitarian powers will back in every way possible."

Mr. Wallace is even more ambitious than his genial associate, Mr. Ickes. Honest Harold tried to smear the Republican candidate, and ended up with most of his mud on himself. Cornwallace, or whoever wrote his speech, thinks himself capable of smearing more than half the voters in the country.

His slur needs no answer, but the premise on which it is based is false. Hitler, if he has designs on the United States, should not be unfriendly to the candidacy of Roosevelt and Wallace. If he were wise, he will do everything in his power to advance their candidacy. The retention of Mr. Roosevelt in office is the surest way possible of keeping the United States torn by class antagonism and bereft of arms, a soft touch for an invader.

SHERRY DRINKER.

Lois Long of the New Yorker staff had luncheon the other day at the Pump room with Ernest Byfield. Observing that Mr. Byfield toyed with a glass of Dubonnet while she had a cocktail, she mentioned a friend of hers who had announced he was on the wagon and took sherry at a social gathering. He drank a whole bottle of sherry.

"Did he get drunk?" inquired Mr. Byfield.

"I don't know. He ate the doily," answered Miss Long.

A Room's to Rest In.

Miss Long and her husband recently took a trip along the west coast of South America in a little coastal steamer. At one port town a burlesque company came on board. Miss Long recalled an incident of the journey. One of the girls of the company announced to the manager that she would no longer room with the girl who had been assigned as cabin mate—a strip tease artist.

"What's the matter?" asked the company manager.

STRIP-HAPPY.

It's awfully hard to be merry

I worry myself almost crazy
Over dire escapades of Dick Trazy.

I'm possessed with a feeling uncanny
When woes beset Little Orphan Annie.

For handsome and brave Smilin' Jack.

Forgive my dejected expression—

Cuff Notes.

Vincent Starrett's new book, Books Alive, a volume of gossip about books and authors, will be out in October. . . . Northwestern university students at the downtown campus get a free shine from the rotary floor polisher in the hands of one of the workmen. . . . Overheard in a loop department store college shop: "You'd better dirty up your new saddle-stitched shoes before you wear them or they'll know you're a freshman. . . . Ken Purdy, Chicago boy and associate editor of a weekly magazine, has written a story, Peace at Any Price, shortly to appear in a national publication, background material for which came from his student days at the University of Wisconsin, where he played the carillon and where he aroused the campus one morning with seven swing variations of Annie Laurie, rendered on the carillon. (His story concerns a carillon player in a Belgian town during the Nazi blitzkrieg.) . . . Will Judy's new book, Care of the Dog, and its autograph, "To June Provines, who is owned by two dogs."

George Scherban, whom you may remember from the old Petrouchka restaurant when he used to play gypsy songs hauntingly on his violin, and a particular Arabian street song, is back in town and with his orchestra will be at the Yar when it opens in its new quarters at the Lake Shore Drive hotel next month. . . . As a cultural note you might like to know, too, about the garbage wagon in Glen Ellyn which goes about its duties with a radio in the cab spilling the latest tunes. . . . The greasing room in a new garage is like an immaculate kitchen, of gleaming blue and white tiles. It is officially the Lubricating Salon. . . . A plain envelope addressed by hand arrived at the offices of the British War Relief society in the Monadnock building the other day containing a $100 bill. Rare anonymous generosity. . . . And a shabby looking man entered a shop where clothing is being packed by the society to send to refugees and made a large cash donation. The women had thought perhaps he thought they were having a rummage sale.

Stolen Watercolor.

Rainey Bennett, young Chicago artist, an entire room of whose work was shown at the recent watercolor show at the Art institute—the same room in which Picasso's work was shown at a previous exhibition—has achieved something Picasso wanted to and didn't. One of his watercolors has been stolen. Shortly after a purchaser, Richard Loewenstein, had bought a Rainey Bennett from Georgia Lingafelt's gallery on East Walton place the painting disappeared and has not been recovered. Picasso, according to Gertrude Stein's book on him and his work, in his early days yearned to have a painting of his stolen for the sake of the publicity. When a thief did break into his studio one day he took, to the artist's chagrin, not a painting but some of his old shirts.

WPA GETS TOUCHY.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

Americans have long held it to be one of their inalienable rights to poke fun at even their most sacred institutions. Not even our dignified and austere Supreme court has been immune, as was well illustrated by the treatment accorded that body in the musical comedy, "Of Thee I Sing," which did our whole American system of government up brown and served it on a steaming platter of hilarity.

Far from being any indication that we disrespect or do not love our cherished institutions, this habit of treating them lightly on occasion has been rather a sign of our regard for them. It is a happy and well ordered family that indulges an interplay of wit between parent and child.

So it is becoming a little disturbing that those in charge of one of our newer American institutions, the WPA, are getting so touchy about a little joshing now and then. In recent months no one has been able publicly to crack a WPA joke without receiving a reprimand from some one in authority in the work program. The charge is made each time that the joke is made at the expense of people who are being made to suffer thru no fault of their own.

Granted that most WPA jokes have become worn out, just like any joke repeated too often, it remains that the slow motion of the pioneer WPA worker was a legitimate object of satire. Not having been present to see the "WPA shovel swim" at the Lakewood High school pool, we are unable to say whether it was genuinely funny. But if it was, no one need apologize for presenting it.

Religion is about the only thing Americans don't make fun of, and we hope WPA has not yet become a religion.

DO NOT THINK THE WORST IN CHEST PAIN.

PAIN in the region of the heart arouses anxiety—probably too much. We read about sudden death from collapse and the statement may be made that the victim had been complaining of "neuralgia of the heart" for several days.

While there is good reason to take account of this symptom, because stoppage of a coronary vessel which supplies the muscle with blood may occur, nevertheless there are scores of instances in which discomfort in this vicinity has little or no significance.

When one mentions a dull ache in the neighborhood of the left breast there is probably no organic disease. Most of those who exhibit this manifestation possess a nervous temperament and many are excessive users of tobacco. As a rule, careful study will fail to show any abnormality.

Another form has to do with sudden, sharp stabs in the same area. The majority of these patients will be found to have enlarged cardiac organs, with the seizures due to an extra beat or one that is unusually forceful. But no trouble with the coronary channels will be uncovered.

The type of agony which we do not like to see starts at the lower end of the breastbone. It is described as crushing in character, as tho a vise were fastened around the body with one of the levers pressing inexorably inward. Frequently this means that the heart is not getting enough blood because the coronary conduits have narrowed. Sometimes the distress begins in the upper or middle portion of the chest or beneath the left shoulder blade. All too often, when it appears near the stomach, the individual may err in believing that he has eaten something that did not agree with him.

Now, these paroxysms may come on when one is sitting quietly or even lying down and they differ from the signs of angina pectoris [breast pang] which usually follow exertion, great excitement, a heavy meal, or any factor that demands added work on the part of the body's pump. The warning in such a case is clear. While the distress is of short duration, from a few seconds to a few minutes, it is steady, boring, and for a time incapacitating. But the parts are not sore and the skin and the muscles are not sensitive. All such patients should carry with them tablets of nitroglycerin or ampules of amyl nitrite ready for instant use.

This ailment does not mean sudden death—far from it. But it does demand a slowing down program with every effort to ward off the bouts. An angina victim with whom I have had some contact for several years walks to his train every morning. He has learned not to hurry and should he be late he never accelerates his pace nor does he allow any circumstance whatsoever to disturb his mental poise. With the slightest suggestion of pain he takes one or two nitroglycerin tablets, and a dose will be called for about once in two weeks. He looks well and is as efficient in his work as he was six years ago when the complaint first came on.

But coronary blockage is quite different. It may occur during sleep when one is completely relaxed or it may be associated with exertion. The duration of the suffering may be hours or days. First of all we must admit that the afflicted person is seriously ill and the matter cannot be regarded as unimportant. But, while the heart muscle has been injured, with rest and proper management healing will take place and the span of life may be normal or even go beyond that period.

But we must not assume that a minor indisposition demands long confinement in bed. We may be dealing actually with a cardiac neurosis, or some such malady as herpes zoster [shingles], arthritis, neuralgia, gallstones, peptic ulcer, acute gastric upset, or a diaphragmatic hernia.

VOICE TRAINING.

Mrs. S. writes: My husband has a high-keyed voice, which makes him self-conscious. Some friends suggested an operation. Would this help?

REPLY.

One's speaking tones depend upon the shape and size of the throat, larynx, mouth cavity, etc. I know of no operative procedure that would be of value. Training in singing or public speaking should be helpful.

NAUSEA AFTER EATING.

Mrs. S. writes: What could cause a person to become nauseated about two hours after eating? The feeling disappears as soon as food is taken.

REPLY.

Careful examination of the gastric juice is advised. You may be producing too much hydrochloric acid. Occasionally the symptom is psychic and has no relation to disease. It is wise to make certain, however.

URGES PEOPLE TO WAKE UP.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Your editorial, "An American Wins This Round," contains truth, sincerity, and patriotism that cannot honestly be denied. I wish every American in the country could read it and take heed of it. There is, indeed, a great conspiracy to get our country into war.

Unless our people awake to the danger the conspirators are likely to accomplish their purpose before the November election. With war will come dictatorship, loss of civil rights, and an irresistible movement to prorogue the election [as England has done], and the last refuge of democracy will succumb. Ironically and tragically the war to fight for democracy of the world will accomplish its immediate demise here. Many of us well remember the bitterness and disillusionment brought to our people by the world war slogan of "Make the world safe for democracy."

Let me quote the actual words uttered by Vice Presidential Candidate Wallace on May 20, 1940, while a member of the President's cabinet: "When democracy is threatened," Mr. Wallace said, "it may be necessary to employ many of the weapons which we so heartily detest. Many individual rights may have to be sacrificed for a time to the democratic state in order to avoid the worse fate of being sacrificed to the imperialist state. . . . In the long run the real peril to democracy is within our own nation, within our own groups, within our own hearts."

There is no issue upon preparedness. Our people are united upon that necessary precaution and congress has freely voted all moneys necessary for the security of our country from attack. The hope of America lies with its loyal citizens—whose loyalties are "unmodified and undiluted." We can do without the divided loyalties of the "aid this and that" committees. The true American is only "pro-American," first, last, and always.

Vote now, citizens, by writing your senators and representatives to keep our country out of war—or you may not vote at all in November.

FREDERICK J. BERTRAM.

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE CHECKS.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29.—I have read several letters appearing in your column regarding issuance of some of the September warrants to old age assistance recipients in Cook county.

Here are the facts in this matter:

The delay in the issuance of some of these September warrants has been caused by a revision in the schedule of payments, the revised schedule made necessary by the merger of various offices and servicing areas of the old age assistance service, Cook county bureau of public welfare.

Altho it is true that approximately one-half of the recipients will experience a delay of between eight and ten days in receiving their September warrants, it is also true that the remaining one-half will receive theirs from eight to ten days in advance of the usual time.

The revision in the payment schedule will in no way affect the amounts of the individual warrants or the total payments for the month. All payments are made effective with the first of each month regardless of the date of mailing.

This is the first time the division has deviated from its payment schedule in nearly three years. The division of old age assistance has taken pride in the fact that it has been able to place assistance warrants in the hands of 139,000 aged persons, in every section of the state, regularly on the same date each month. This regularity of payment will continue in effect after September.

FLETCHER C. KETTLE,
Superintendent, Illinois Division of Old Age Assistance.

THEY WOULD "SEND," NOT "LEAD."

Elmwood Park, Ill., Aug. 28.—A newspaper's paramount duty is to present the daily chapter of history in as coherent a manner as possible and never to deviate from the truth as the facts present themselves.

Yet you constantly, editorially as well as reportorially, insinuate that Roosevelt, Bullitt, Pepper, et al, are trying to lead us into war.

Never at any time has the past record of any man or woman associated with the "let's fight for democracy" movement shown that they ever had or have now the least intention of leading us into war.

The facts point conclusively to their desire of the present as well as the past to SEND us into war while they and their kind "keep the home fires burning" and lead the singing about "our boys over there."

A STEP FOR BETTER HEALTH.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—The health division of the Council of Social Agencies, comprising some 60 health, medical, and dental organizations—hospitals, clinics, visiting nurse organizations, etc., has sent to Mr. Frank Bobrytzke, chairman of the hospital committee of the Cook county board, a resolution commending the county board on the establishment of the Cook county health department, and saying:

"The committee has long been aware of the fact that public health services in Cook county outside of Chicago were divided among too many governmental units and the majority of them were totally ineffective to provide the necessary safeguards to the health of the people in those areas. In the opinion of our committee the action of the county board can only result in great benefits to the health of the people of Cook county outside of Chicago and indirectly to the people of this whole metropolitan area."

ELIZABETH MCCONNELL,
Chairman, Health Division.

HOUSING AT THE ARSENAL.

Rock Island, Ill., Aug. 26.—As to reports that jobs are going begging in the Rock Island arsenal, they may be so, but what will people do for homes?

I came down here to work from Chicago and I don't find a decent place to live in the whole town. If you have children you might as well drown them; people won't rent to you.

Something must be done soon if Rock Island arsenal is to be the grand big plant that it can be. MRS. G. P.

HERE'S A REAL SLOGAN.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Our Washington hysteria looks like a trumped-up war scare to put over the third term—a hysteria that will quickly subside after the object has been accomplished. Therefore I would not be surprised to see the Democrats adopt the campaign slogan of "Re-elect Roosevelt and get the boys out of the trenches before Christmas."

J. W. H.

ALL MUST DO A PART.

Whiting, Ind., Aug. 24.—We now have a great leader in Wendell L. Willkie. But he cannot win this fight alone. Each one of us must do his part. I am sure if we give him the kind of support he deserves there can be no doubt as to the outcome of the November election.

R. E. STORMS.

RECALLS OLD CYCLING DAYS.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—In the old cycling days I saw the roads thru Lincoln park jammed with cyclists out for a Sunday spin. Then, with much noise and clanging of bells, I saw a mob of young "scorchers" come roaring along, heads bent over handlebars, forcing the orderly people out of the way, not caring whom they pushed aside.

Now we have the radio. The majority use it with at least some consideration for others. But, like the "scorchers" of the old cycling days, there is a thoughtless minority who turn on the radio full blast by an open window these warm nights, and even go out for a walk, quite forgetting the noisy nuisance they have left behind them, to the grief of those who are unfortunate enough to be living in the same apartment building.

One doesn't like to be calling the police—save as a last resort. And as for taking the law into one's own hands, that is not expedient.

What to do? Perhaps some one has a suggestion. SCOTTY.

STICKERS OBSCURE VISION.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—I recently saw an accident caused by a car that had so many safety stickers on the windows and windshield that the driver could not see the impending crash.

Am under the belief that there is a law prohibiting the obstruction of vision by placing stickers, signs, insignia, placards, etc., other than city vehicle tags and inspection stickers on auto windshields or windows. If there is such a law it is being badly violated.

Car manufacturers are doing their best to give drivers larger windows for clearer vision and greater safety. ALENA STILES.

DUMBER AND DUMBER.

Freeport, Ill., Aug. 25.—Last Sunday at Selfridge field, Detroit, two Americans could not help but wonder why new United States army bombers and other air craft were left unguarded. Only one mechanic was on duty at the time, and yet among the many visitors were groups of "foreign looking" individuals freely inspecting the planes and going in and out of the hangars as they chose—and yet we wonder at sabotage. Can it be that America is becoming dumber and dumber? E. D. A.

TO EXAMINE WILL.

La Grange, Ill., Aug. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My aunt, my mother's sister, died just recently. I was told that there is no will. My aunt has an only child. If there is no will [1] does my mother inherit any of the estate or [2] does my cousin inherit all of the estate?

3. If there is a will could it be kept from my mother and how would it be possible for me to know its contents or existence? In short, I would like to know [4] if my mother is entitled to inherit anything regardless of a will or no will. H. C.

2. Yes.
3. No, in the sense that your mother could insist that the will be filed in the office of the clerk of the Probate court where it or a copy could be examined.
4. No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Aug. 31, 1781

Beginning of the final major naval phase of the American Revolution. On this date the British fleet sailed from New York to aid the land forces at Yorktown. They were met and turned back at the entrance of Chesapeake Bay by a part of the French fleet. The British stayed in the vicinity, still hoping to reach Yorktown. Reinforcement of the French fleet made this impossible, however, and the British were forced to return to New York, leaving Cornwallis unsupported.

CHICAGO WOMAN AIDS SCALISE AT LARCENY TRIAL

Testifies for Defense About Accounts.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 30.—A young woman secretary from Chicago, with ledgers and account books stacked up before her on the witness stand, today testified about the "secret" agreement under which George Scalise contends he had a right to help himself to the funds of the Building Service Employés International union.

Mrs. Helen Lockwood Cumberland. [Tribune Photo.]

Mrs. Helen Lockwood Cumberland, former secretary in the main offices of the B. S. E. I. U. at Chicago, was the witness who appeared in behalf of her former boss, Scalise, who rose from the white slave racket to become a big shot labor leader, is being tried for grand larceny before Judge Jacob Gould Schurman and a jury in General Sessions court.

Identifies Accounts.

According to Mrs. Cumberland's story, she kept books on the "commissions" to be paid the defendant each month under an agreement with the late Jerry Horan, whom Scalise succeeded as president of the union in May of 1937. The defense claims Scalise had an oral agreement whereby he was to receive 50 per cent of the per capita tax payments on all new members of eastern local unions.

Mrs. Cumberland, who said she left the employ of the union last summer to become a mother, identified the ledgers in which she said she kept the record of the cash receipts from the various eastern locals and the book in which she stated she kept the Scalise "commission account."

Five Hours on Stand.

So painstaking was Littleton's examination of his star witness that, altho Mrs. Cumberland spent five hours on the stand, she had not nearly finished her story when court was adjourned until next Tuesday. In fact, she had waded thru the records for 1937 only, leaving more than two more years in the period of the indictment to be covered.

This showed Scalise drew $43,870 from the union during that year, of which $34,870 represented "commissions" and the remainder salary. Each month he sent an admittedly bogus statement of New York office expenses to the Chicago headquarters to cover the amount.

Mrs. Cumberland asserted with emphasis that she mailed the checks to Scalise and he would send the statements back to cover the amounts he received.

THEATER OWNER INDICTED BY U. S. ON BRIBE CHARGE

New York, Aug. 30 [Special].—A federal grand jury today indicted George P. Skouras, part owner of the largest chain of independent motion picture theaters in the country, on a charge of conspiring to bribe former Federal Judge Martin T. Manton.

A senior judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Manton was convicted a year ago of selling his judicial integrity for cash. He is now serving a two year prison term.

It was charged in the present case that after Skouras had loaned Manton $30,000 the jurist approved a receiver's sale of assets of the Fox Theaters corporation to the Skouras chain.

Indicted with Skouras were Harvey B. Newins, the Skouras Theaters corporation, and the Ktima corporation. Newins was accused of acting as procurer for Manton in obtaining the loan.

Skouras' attorneys, Arthur T. Schwartz of New York and George C. Vournas of Washington, issued a statement declaring that he is "innocent of this charge or any wrongdoing whatsoever."

INSURANCE FIRM EX-HEAD HELD IN EMBEZZLEMENT

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 30 (AP).—David O. Milligan, 39 years old, who resigned recently as president of the Western Mutual Fire Insurance company, was indicted by the Polk county grand jury today on a charge of embezzlement of his company's funds.

The indictment charges him with embezzlement of money in excess of $20, but grand jury witnesses testified Milligan admitted a shortage of between $50,000 and $60,000.

J. Dolliver Kent, president of the Inland Milling company, and acting president of the insurance company, said that more than 50 per cent of the funds involved in the case were not carried as admitted assets of the company, and that Milligan's bond covers a major part.

"The company will not be impaired financially," Kent said, "as it has reserves and surplus totaling more than $400,000."

DIES OF CRASH INJURIES.

Freeport, Ill., Aug. 30 [Special].—Fred Winters, 45 year old Warren farmer, died in a hospital here last night of injuries incurred in the afternoon when a truck driven by John Fiedler, on which he was riding, collided with a car in which six Warren men were driving to Chicago.

Dog Bed Causes Rift

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Dr. Milton Summerville with exhibit to prove wife guilty of contempt of court.

Dr. Milton J. Summerville, 39 years old, walked into the Superior court of Judge John L. Lupe with two shopping bags. From one he produced a deflated punching bag, with the neck torn off, and from the other his bathrobe and other clothing.

He started to tell the judge that his wife, Norma, 36, of 931 North Lathrop avenue, River Forest, had torn the bag and was using his clothing to make a bed for the dog. He also complained that she had used his credit card to buy $40 worth of gasoline. He wanted her cited for contempt for violating a joint injunction restraining each from disposing of the other's possessions.

Judge Lupe told the physician, who is an associate professor at the University of Illinois medical school and lives at 1011 Lake street, Oak Park, that he'd extend the injunction to the credit card, but would hear about the punching bag and dog bed next Wednesday. Summerville's pending bill for divorce charges cruelty, his wife's cross bill for separate maintenance misconduct with a nurse.

ANNENBERG OUT OF BOOKIE TRADE, U. S. IS INFORMED

Attorneys for M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher, now serving a three year federal prison term for income tax evasion, notified government prosecutors yesterday that Annenberg had withdrawn all his interest in his enterprises of printing and distributing rundown sheets and other bookie equipment.

Samuel Klaus, special assistant to the attorney general, said among the organizations which will cease printing the bookie sheets were the Bentley-Murray company of Chicago, the Consensus Publishing company of Cincinnati and St. Louis, and the R. D. Publishing company of Buffalo and New Orleans.

At the same time, District Attorney William J. Campbell warned that those holding small interests in the abandoned Annenberg enterprises would face prosecution if they attempted to continue operation.

MOTHER KILLS 2 SONS AND THEN ENDS OWN LIFE

Arcola, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP).—A coroner's jury held that the hatchet slaying of two young brothers and the poison death of their mother today was "murder and suicide."

The bodies of the boys, Loren Matthews Jr., 9, and Francis Edwin, 13, were found by their father in a bedroom of their home, their heads battered and their jugular veins slashed. Mrs. Loren Matthews, 34, was discovered dying in another bedroom.

Dr. J. Virgil Fischel said the mother apparently struck the boys on their heads, slashed their throats with a newly purchased hatchet and then drank poison.

The father, Loren Matthews, a restaurant worker, said he returned, after leaving for the restaurant, when neighbors reported the doors of his house were locked. He said no notes were found. He said his wife had been despondent.

Illinois Old Age Payments Are $2,947,303 for August

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 30 (AP).—Continuing their gradual rise, old age assistance payments in Illinois averaged $21.24 this month, or 21 cents above the July average, the state welfare department announced today. Fletcher C. Kettle, superintendent of old age assistance, reported August payments of $2,947,303 to 138,742 persons. This was an increase of 298 in the number of recipients and $35,724 in total payments. Since August of last year, pension payments have increased an average of $1.77 each.

GOLDSTEIN TELLS JURY OF JOHNSON REALTY DEALINGS

Attorney Testifies Against His Former Client.

farm, near Glen Ellyn, which cost $145,000 without additions or improvements, and became Johnson's home and estate.

Goldstein testified that all these deals were for cash. He said the money came directly from Johnson or his agents. The money for the farm—$145,000—was brought downtown by Johnson himself, Goldstein said.

The money made a large size package. It was in bills of $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, and $1,000 denominations, he said.

Dummy Ownership Described.

Goldstein said that in all except two or three purchases the titles first were placed in the names of dummy owners, who later signed quitclaim deeds conveying the properties to Johnson. The dummy owners, Goldstein said, were his son, Ted Goldstein; his law partner Isadore Goldstein [no relation]; his secretary, Miss Ann Homan, and one Abe Zimmerman.

Testimony concerning several of the major property acquisitions follows:

Q.—[By Prosecutor Hurley]—Did you have anything to do with purchase of the property at 3424 Lawrence avenue, known as the Albany Park Bank building? A.—Yes. I interviewed several persons in connection with a prospective purchase.

Q.—For whom did you negotiate? A.—For Mr. Johnson.

Q.—Did you make a deposit? A.—Yes, $5,000.

$59,887 Paid in Deal.

Q.—Please state the exact amount paid. A.—It was $59,887.

Q.—And the money was in what form? A.—Currency.

Q.—In whose name was the title made. A.—Ted W. Goldstein.

Q.—Who is Ted. W. Goldstein? A.—My son.

Q.—Was any change later made in title? A.—Yes, a quitclaim deed was made out to Mr. Johnson.

Q.—On what date was this property purchased? A.—July 16, 1937.

Hurley then called Goldstein's attention to the Bon Air Country club, on Milwaukee avenue, near Wheeling.

Q.—Did you have any part in the purchase of Bon Air? A.—Yes.

3 Month Negotiation Told.

Q.—Just what did you do? A.—I handled the negotiations and arrived at a price. I went out there on one or two occasions at Mr. Johnson's request and examined the buildings. The place was in receivership, and after talks covering three or four months we arrived at a price of $75,000.

Q.—From whom did you get the money? A.—From William R. Johnson.

Q.—In what form? A.—It was in currency.

Q.—In whose name was the title? A.—Ted W. Goldstein. Later a quit claim was given to Mr. Johnson.

Additional Acreage Purchased.

In June, 1939, Goldstein testified, he purchased 175 additional acres adjoining Bon Air for $60,000, with Johnson providing the cash. Title this time first was registered in the name of Zimmerman. Hurley then went into the purchase of Sunny Acres farm, formerly owned by the late Arthur Cutten, Chicago wheat king.

Q.—Did you arrange for the purchase of 773 acres known as Sunny Acres farm, in Du Page county? A.—Yes. After some negotiations, I arranged a price which I reported to Mr. Johnson.

Q.—What was the amount? A.—It was $145,000.

Q.—Did you later meet William R. Johnson in the loop in that connection. A.—I met him in the lobby of the Chicago Title and Trust company.

Q.—Did he have the money? A.—Yes, in a package.

Q.—What size package—was it large or small? A.—It was pretty good size. It was wrapped in paper.

Q.—Did you count the money? A.—Yes, Mr. Johnson and I counted it.

Q.—How long did it take? A.—Between one and a half and two hours.

Q.—In what denominations was the money? A.—In denominations from $5 or $10 up to $1,000—fives, tens, twenties, fifties, and one hundreds.

Title in Johnson's Name.

The title to this property was made out in Johnson's name. That was on March 18, 1937. On the following April 12 Goldstein bought 160 adjoining acres for Johnson for $16,050, he testified. He also told of other purchases, the prices ranging from $1,300 for city lots to $10,000 for the Dells in Morton Grove.

Johnson's attorney, Floyd E. Thompson, then began cross-examination, after losing a plea for a delay.

Q. [Mr. Thompson.] — Were you handling these transactions for Mr. Johnson as a lawyer? A.—Well, yes, but our relations were of a more friendly nature than lawyer and client.

Q.—How long have you known Johnson. A.—We've been friends 10 years. I still consider him a friend.

Q.—You were a defendant in this trial, were you not? A.—I was.

Q.—You were dismissed? A.—Yes.

Q.—You are now under indictment for perjury? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you talk to the district attorney about this indictment? A.—No.

Q.—The district attorney never told you that the way he'd prosecute you in this perjury indictment depended on the way you testified here? A.—No.

Q.—Do you know William R. Skidmore—have you been his lawyer? A.—Yes, for 24 years.

Thompson then sought to show that Skidmore, one of the original defendants in the case, who was dismissed along with Goldstein, owned half of the properties mentioned by Goldstein.

Q.—Wasn't Skidmore the owner of half the 97th and Western and the Dells properties? A.—Yes.

Q.—Didn't Skidmore furnish you the money for these places? A.—No, Mr. Johnson sent it down.

Q.—You're assuming that. A.—I'm positive. I had phone conversations with Mr. Johnson, and he said he would send the money down, I remember distinctly.

Q.—And he delivered the money himself at various places? A.—Yes.

Q.—Ten dollars at a time, I suppose? A.—I never said that.

There was some further examination as to the $145,000 with which Goldstein had testified he purchased Sunny Acres farm, the denominations of the bills, and whether Skidmore or Johnson owned most of the properties mentioned. Goldstein insisted Johnson was the owner.

Earlier in the day Nelson J. Goodsell and J. O. Shaw, certified public accountants, questioned by E. Riley Campbell, assistant United States attorney, revealed that Johnson apparently was the main owner of the Bon Air Country club. Johnson has disclaimed ownership, saying he was only a stockholder in it. Goodsell testified, however, that on Johnson's instructions he had transferred certain assets of $334,000 to Johnson's account from a group of four accounts accredited to Johnson, Wait, Bud Garry, and Roy Love. Garry and Love are Bon Air employés and Waits is a defendant.

Another early witness was Harry Grushkin, an air conditioning sales engineer. He testified that he installed a $15,000 cooling system in the D. and D. club, 1205 North Dearborn street, at Johnson's order, and inspected several other gambling places at Johnson's suggestion. The point in his testimony, according to the government, was to show that Johnson was a gambling house operator—and not merely a crap shooter, as he has been depicted by his counsel.

The trial will be resumed Monday.

Keehn Postpones Regular Bartenders' Union Meeting

Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, receiver for the Bartenders' and Beverage Dispensers' union, local 278, notified members of the union by letter yesterday, that the regular monthly meeting scheduled for Monday has been postponed until October. Officers of the union have concurred in the postponement, the letter said. Keehn said the postponement was necessary so that he might familiarize himself with union affairs. The receivership will continue until an election under court supervision is held.

RETIRED GENERAL KILLED BY GAS IN OFFICER'S HOME

War Hero Was Accused of Beating Woman.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 [Special.]—Brig. Gen. Walter G. Kilner, retired world war hero who was accused last May of beating the divorced wife of the fellow officer, was found dead today in a gas filled apartment here. Police said four gas jets of the kitchen stove were open.

Kilner, a pioneer in army aviation, was assistant chief of the air corps when he retired from active service last Nov. 30. He succeeded Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on the national advisory board for aeronautics last December. He was 52 years old.

Battle in Hotel.

The altercation three months ago took place in the Hotel Astor in New York. It involved Mrs. Naidene Parker Calvert, ex-wife of Col. Jay Calvert and daughter of Brig. Gen. John Henry Parker, also a world war ace.

The fracas resulted in the filing of a suit and countersuit for $100,000 damages and the presentation to the war department of charges that Gen. Kilner was guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Mrs. Calvert claimed that Kilner, whom she had once planned to marry, came to her hotel room to discuss old times. In an ensuing argument, she said, he blackened her eyes, knocked her down, cut her lip, and loosened her teeth. She asserted his attack left the room a shambles.

His Side of the Story.

Kilner blamed Mrs. Calvert for the row. He said he was strolling along a hotel corridor when she stormed up to him, forced him into her room, and rained blows on his head. Contending that he could not permit Mrs. Calvert to imprison him against his will, he said he "placed his hands gently upon her and used no force except with just provocation."

Mrs. Calvert said she and Gen. Kilner had been friendly prior to her Reno divorce last year from Col. Calvert and that they had intended to marry until something went amiss and his ardor cooled. Her attorney said the general paid her $9,000 to avert a breach of promise suit.

Dies in Officer's Home.

Gen. Kilner died in the apartment of Lieut. Col. G. De Freest Larner, another world war aviator and general manager of the National Aeronautics association. In announcing his death, the war department said Kilner had been living at Buffalo, N. Y., since his retirement.

A native of Shelby, N. Y., Kilner was graduated from West Point in 1912. Four years later he was a member of the army's first aero squadron, which was attached to Gen. Pershing's Mexican expedition. During the world war he was in charge of all army air corps training in the A. E. F. and was one of the first air officers sent abroad in 1917. He received the distinguished service medal for services in France.

FIFTH COLUMN PLOT IS FOILED IN W-G-N DRAMA

"Dollars for Sale," another chapter in the spy drama series, Wings for America, was presented over W-G-N and the Mutual network last night from the W-G-N main audience studio. The story involved a mythical plot by Fifth columnists to damage the relationships of the United States with South America countries thru purchases of oil and nitrates with counterfeit money. The conspiracy was broken up by Lorna Carroll, girl reporter played by Elissa Landi, and Riley Davis, news commentator whose rôle was handled by Phillips Holmes. Others in the cast were Sally Smith, Arthur Van Slyke, Sherman Marks, and John Walsh. Blair Walliser writes and produces the series.

Mud Daubers Happy

August 30, 1940.

ALTHO the workers on the Du Page county farm have had every reason to complain about the way the recent heavy rains have upset the work program, the mud daubers which chose one of the small sheds in which to build their homes must have been happy.

The mud dauber is a species of wasp noted for clever use of mud as a building material. Its work ranks it among the marvels of insect life, along with the burrowing digger wasp which again was found on the farm this year. The great golden digger goes underground to lay its eggs and raise its young. The dauber builds a small mud structure where it is easily seen.

How They Build Homes.

The daubers on the farm are about the size of any common wasp. They have moved into a small shed which covers a well near one of the farm homes. When we were on the farm recently we watched these insects at work and also examined several of their homes attached to the inside wall of the shed. The homes are about twice the size of a man's thumb. Sometimes, however, daubers will make a mud home as large as a man's fist.

The so-called daub of mud which these wasps put on a wall is anything but that. Actually it's a carefully constructed shelter made up of small earthen cells. To disguise the purpose of her work the mother wasp plasters mud and more mud until she has filled up all the spaces between the cells. Then the finished daub has the appearance of solidity. Into this unusual home the adult wasp carries small spiders which serve as food for the young insects. Altho we entered the shed where the mud masons have their homes, they did not bother us. Apparently they choose to live in buildings occupied by people and they show no inclination to attack.

Martins Leave Early.

Several readers have written this department about the departure of the purple martins from their nesting sites in the middle west. Judging by these letters some of the martin colonies have checked out earlier than usual. For example, John Boa of Knox, Ind., who has a large colony of these birds every year and has kept records on their arrival in the spring and their departure in late summer, writes that he is puzzled by what happened this month.

He says that his colony left his yard on Aug. 7. It's the earliest date on which the martins have left during the twenty years that he has observed them, and he wants to know if other bird fans have lost their martin colonies unusually early this season. Boa adds that his birds invariably check out between Aug. 19 and 25.

Two Boys Drown

Two boys who couldn't swim were drowned last evening when their dinghy capsized in Lake Michigan, about 300 feet south of the Naval Reserve armory at Randolph street. The victims were Tony Donatiello, 16 years old, 2941 Lexington street, and Frank De Phillips, 14, of 2927 Congress street.

They and Orazio Ciancanelli, 15, of 2942 Polk street, set out in the dinghy from the Chicago Yacht harbor, near the armory. A wave upset the light craft and flung the three boys into the water.

Orazio Ciancanelli.

Ciancanelli, the only one of the trio able to swim, said he held to the boat with one hand and grasped the others with his free hand. Another wave, however, loosened his hold and his companions sank. Ciancanelli then swam to shore. The bodies were recovered by a coast guard crew directed by Officer John Kirby.

George Seback, 24, of 5232 South Sacramento avenue, was seized with a cramp and drowned yesterday while swimming in the lake off 46th street. His companion, John Van Cura, 25, of 5342 South Fairfield avenue, tried in vain to carry him to shore.

MOTHERS CHARGE CAPITOL POLICE EJECTED THEM

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—A complaint by a group of Kentucky and Cincinnati women that they had been forcibly ejected from the office of a Kentucky congressman by capitol police brought a denial today from Representative Beverly M. Vincent [D., Ky.] that police had been summoned to disperse the delegation.

"They all tried to talk at once," Vincent said, "and I told them they'd have to leave. I really shamed them out, but no police were called."

Mrs. Brunetta Gausepohl, who headed the delegation, said the incident occurred late Wednesday in the office of Representative Noble J. Gregory [D., Ky.], which adjoins Vincent's. Mrs. Gausepohl, president of the Covington, Ky., unit of the Mothers of Sons forum, said her delegation, consisting of 30 mothers, came here to urge defeat of the conscription bill.

They called at Gregory's office, Mrs. Gausepohl said, and Gregory "said he was busy and slammed the door in our faces." Vincent then entered the office, Mrs. Gausepohl said, and "accused us of being a lot of Hitlers." Mrs. Gausepohl said police arrived as the delegation was leaving.

COPS HAVE JOHN'S $7,000, SO HE CAN'T RAISE $2,000 BAIL

John J. Zimmerman, who operated a tavern at 190 North La Salle street, was about to board a train early yesterday at the 12th street Illinois Central station when Policeman Arthur Manger arrested him on a charge of operating a tavern as an alien, a violation of the state law.

Police took custody of $7,000 found on Zimmerman. He said he intended to buy a ranch with the money. In Judge Harold P. O'Connell's court the case was continued until Sept. 16 and bond set at $1,000. But before Zimmerman could get his money, his estranged wife, Josephine, heard of his plight and had him brought before Judge Cornelius Harrington on her divorce suit.

There Judge Harrington set another bond of $1,000 and ordered police to hold the money pending further hearings. Deputy bailiffs took Zimmerman to the county jail last night. Police had his money and he couldn't post the bonds.

Workers' Alliance Picks Californian President

Richard McKibben of San Bernardino, Cal., was elected president of the Workers' alliance at the closing meeting of the fifth annual convention last night in Foresters' hall, 1016 North Dearborn street. The alliance draws its membership from the WPA and the unemployed. Robert Geiger of Norristown, Pa., was elected vice president and Frank Ingram of Washington, D. C., was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Gets 30 Days After Car Strikes Boy on Bicycle

John Lynch, 1908 North Dickey avenue, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and his driving privileges were revoked for 60 days when he pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Albert E. Isley of Newton, sitting in the County court, of reckless and intoxicated driving. His automobile struck and injured a boy riding a bicycle.

STANLEY YOUNG DIES; HEIR TO 50 MILLION ESTATE

Merchant's Grandson Has Heart Attack.

Chicago relatives were informed yesterday that Stanley de Korwen Young, an heir to the 50 million dollar estate of his grandfather, Otto Young, pioneer Chicago merchant, had died Thursday in Murray Hill hospital, New York City, of a heart attack following complications from pneumonia.

Stanley Young.

Young, according to his physician, Dr. Irving Epstein, suffered an attack of pneumonia in June which developed into a chest ailment, necessitating an operation. He died 12 hours after suffering the heart attack.

Young's father was Count Joseph de Korwen of Austria, who married Selma Cecile Young, daughter of Otto Young. After her divorce from Count de Korwen, she resumed her maiden name, and her son also used the name of Young.

Grandfather a Jeweler.

Otto Young, who died in 1906, was a jeweler and for many years a partner in a loop department store. At the time of his death his estate was estimated at $20,000,000, but it increased in value until it reached the present estimate of $50,000,000. The estate had large real estate holdings and formerly owned the site of the Stevens hotel.

Young, in his 27 years, was involved in many escapades. Last May he was fined $100 for driving while intoxicated. A month before that he was ordered to pay his wife, Ruth Jacobi Young, 31, of 900 North Michigan avenue, $100,000 in the next five years under terms of a separate maintenance decree. She was reported yesterday to be in a Florida hospital, recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Received $68,000 Annually.

At the time of the separate maintenance hearing testimony was given that Young received annually not less than $68,000 nor more than $100,000 from a trust estate.

This summer Young left his apartment in the Auditorium hotel and went to New York, where he took an apartment at 2 Sutton place, South, near the East river. He became one of the financial backers of an organization called the American Policast, designed to gauge public opinion by straw votes.

His body was being sent here last night for burial in Oakwoods.

U. S. CONSUL DIES IN AUTO CRASH NEAR COLOGNE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—The state department said today an American consular official in Belgium was killed and another injured in an automobile accident yesterday near Cologne, Germany.

Louis Sussdorff Jr., 52 years old, the American consul general at Antwerp, was killed. Charles Clinton Broy, 53, consul at Brussels, was injured.

Rob Circulation Manager of Journal of Commerce

Alexis Shuman, circulation manager of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, was beaten and robbed of $150 and his automobile by two robbers last night. The robbers stopped Shuman's car at Augusta and Oakley boulevards and after taking his money told him to drive them to Division street and Pulaski road. When they ordered him out of the car, he grabbed for their gun and one of the robbers struck him on the head. Then they drove away in Shuman's automobile.

Father Drops Match Into Gasoline; Fire Kills Child

Melvin Ruthenbeck, 8 years old, of 1403 Vincennes avenue, Chicago Heights, died in the St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, from burns suffered Thursday night when his clothing became ignited from a can of flaming gasoline. The tragedy occurred on the banks of the Kankakee river in Momence where the boy was preparing to go fishing with his parents. His father, Arthur, accidentally dropped a match in the gasoline.

OBITUARIES

Sir Joseph J. Thomson.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Sir Joseph John Thomson, whose brilliant physical research on the atom was said to have hinted at the dawn of a new era in science, died today at Trinity college, Cambridge university. He was 83 years old. As Cavendish professor of experimental physics at Cambridge for more than 30 years, he was credited by many scientists with having made one of the greatest contributions to modern physics. He made vital contributions to the world's knowledge of electricity, and aided in discovery of the properties of radium. He held 21 honorary degrees from universities in America and Europe. Sir Joseph won the Nobel prize in physics 34 years ago. In 1937 his son, Prof. Paget Thomson, received the same prize.

LABOR DAY'S FUN TO BEGIN LONG WEEK-END TODAY

Fair weather was promised Chicago yesterday for the summer's last three day holiday—the Labor day week-end—beginning today. Indications were that today's maximum temperature would be about 72 degrees and that the mercury would not get below 75 degrees tomorrow and Monday, the latter being Labor Day.

Chicago will be the crossroads for multitudes of city folk and out of town visitors as one of the biggest celebrations in years was expected to cause a large influx as well as a big exodus.

Reservations on railways and airways are 10 to 25 per cent above those of the 1939 Labor day week-end. The Chicago Motor club reports more inquiries regarding short trips out of Chicago than in any previous pre-Labor day period.

In and near Chicago hundreds of thousands of persons are expected to crowd parks, forest preserves, beaches, and other outdoor pleasure spots.

MORTON GROVE POLICE TO MAKE CENSUS SURVEY

Mayor Herbert A. Dilg of Morton Grove has ordered his police to make a house-to-house canvass starting Tuesday to determine the accuracy of the 1940 village census figures made public last month by the census bureau.

The census bureau reported that the village population was 1,940, a decrease of 34 since 1930. The mayor said this is impossible, because the village has 100 more water meters, a larger school enrollment, and a longer polling list than it had 10 years ago. Dilg estimated the present population at 2,200.

Three Lively Days Promised for Week-end

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE thousands who are leaving the city for the long Labor day week-end won't be especially envied by those left behind as the next three days promise to be anything but dull. Aside from the usual special Labor day events at the country clubs surrounding Chicago there will be racing at Washington Park track today and on Monday, when the season ends.

A new musical comedy, "Too Many Girls," opening tonight at the Grand, will have a second gala performance on Monday night. The matches in a polo tournament at the Onwentsia club, which twice have been postponed because of bad weather, will be played tomorrow afternoon unless rain again interferes. Rounding out a busy program are dozens and dozens of small parties for debutantes and brides-to-be.

Chicagoans are especially interested in the opening of "Too Many Girls," for a native daughter, Marcy Wescott, has one of the leading rôles. Miss Wescott and her mother, Mrs. Jay V. Wescott, arrived on Thursday from New York, where the show has had a successful run on Broadway. Miss Judith Abbott, daughter of the producer, George Abbott, accompanied Mrs. and Miss Wescott from New York, but will fly back east tomorrow. Mr. Abbott arrived yesterday by air for the opening.

Mrs. Lithgow Mitchell Giving Dinner for Debutantes.

Mrs. Lithgow Mitchell is giving a supper party for Miss Joan Revell and some of the debutantes and their beaux tomorrow night. Miss Revell is the junior Alexander H. Revells' debutante daughter.

Miss Alice Clay Judson, the Clay Judsons' daughter, doesn't want a debut party, preferring not to have a more formal party than a supper on Sept. 15 at the Lake Forest home of the John T. McCutcheons, her uncle and aunt. Miss Judson is staying on at Camp Ketchuwa for the postcamp season. She has been acting as a counsellor there this summer. Later in September Miss Judson will enter her sophomore year at Bryn Mawr college.

The engagement pads of the young men and women who will attend Miss Barbara Barry and Roger S. Barrett at their wedding next Wednesday are well filled. Mrs. Phil E. Gilbert Jr., the former Nancy Merrick, gave a tea and recipe shower yesterday for Miss Barry. Miss Helen Harvey is giving a luncheon and pantry shelf shower today and Miss Jeanne Miles is entertaining tomorrow night.

Spinster and Bachelor Dinner Being Given Monday.

Mrs. John Bland Townes will give the spinster dinner for her sister on Monday night, the same night that Mr. Barrett is giving his bachelor dinner. The bridal dinner will be given on Tuesday night at the Georgian by Miss Barry's parents, Dr. and Mrs. George Fravel Barry.

One of the nicest of the parties for Miss Doris Caesar, who is to be married next Saturday to Dr. Lyman Smith, was given on Thursday by Dr. Smith's mother, Mrs. William Dayton Smith, who entertained at a luncheon at the Union League club. Miss Jane Haberkorn is giving a luncheon and Mr. and Mrs. John Bick are entertaining at cocktails today for Miss Caesar and Dr. Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. McIntosh Jr. are giving a cocktail party tomorrow.

Golf matches seem to play the most important rôle in the way of entertainment at the country clubs. There will be 36 hole matches at the Indian Hill and Onwentsia clubs. Men over 45 will compete for the John F. L. Curtis trophy at the Knollwood club. A 54 hole golf derby will be started today at the Exmoor and concluded on Monday. John D. Ames and Miss Virginia French will be defending their titles of champion golfer at the Glen View club on Monday if the weather the elimination matches which start today. Members of the Chicago Golf will play for the Amy Irwin McCormick trophy.

Knollwood Tennis Finals Will Be Played Monday.

The finals of the men's and women's tennis tournaments will be played at the Knollwood on Monday. The sporting week-end will be concluded with a tea-dance at the pool Monday afternoon.

One of the most unusual and amusing of all country club Labor day parties is the Barrington Hills annual "Fruits of Labor" party. Every one entering a golf tournament on Monday must send a gift—anything from live stock to life insurance is acceptable. The donations are distributed as prizes at the close of the tournament. The score of the players determines who gets first choice.

The Shoreacres club hasn't planned anything special for the holiday because so many members are away. Next week-end will be a high spot in the club's summer calendar, however, for the club is to have a dinner-dance, the first such party it has held as a club since August, 1938. Next Saturday night will be an evening of reunions and of leave takings, for while some members will have just come back from summer trips others will be returning to their city homes after having spent the season in Lake Forest. Solomon B. Smith is chairman of the entertainment committee.

The Skokie Country club's big party of the week-end will be held tonight, a dinner-dance.

Golf, Tennis, Dinner-Dances on Bill at Lake Geneva.

Golf, tennis, and dinner-dances will keep Lake Geneva residents and their holiday guests busy over the week-end. The Lake Geneva and Big Foot Country clubs will have dinner-dances tonight. The annual championship golf tournament of the Lake Geneva Country club will be held today. Another golf tournament will be held on Monday.

Today brings the annual A boat race for the Sheridan trophy at the Lake Geneva Yacht club. It is the oldest of all major regattas held on inland waters.

Chicagoans Relax in Santa Barbara

Mrs. Albert B. Dewey dancing with James Ward Thorne of Chicago in the Coral Casino of the Biltmore hotel in Santa Barbara, Cal. The former Felicia Fisk of New York and Mr. Dewey, formerly of Chicago, have been in California since their marriage this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Thorne are among the many Chicagoans who journey to the west coast in the summer time. Mr. and Mrs. Dewey will live in Washington, D. C.

Season Closes at Algonquin; Last Kids Home

The Chicago and North Western depot seemed to have been given back to the Indians yesterday. The "Indians" were 275 sun bronzed youngsters who whooped, bawled, laughed, pranced around each other and generally disrupted the routine of the station.

Every one seemed pleased at the disruption, however, and travelers hastening toward their various trains paused to smile, pat the heads of several tots and ask the same question, "Where did all the children come from?"

The children, and 75 of their mothers who were vacationing with them, had come from Camp Algonquin, the United Charities camp for underprivileged children and needy mothers which borders a bend on the Fox river 45 miles from Chicago. They were the last of 1,330 women and children who had spent two weeks of happy, well fed, sunlit days this summer at the camp.

Everybody had a little bit of Algonquin with him yesterday. One little boy hoarded some garter snakes, another a bamboo fishing pole. One dainty, towhead girl clutched a paper bag of glistening shells which she had collected faithfully every day from the river bank.

From layers and layers of newspaper a little Negro girl drew two precious plaster flower plaques to show an interested bystander. She had made them herself at camp and was going to save them until Christmas to give her mother. Others had made and were keeping arrows, bright bracelets and necklaces woven from colored string, blue and red clothespin boxes, wooden dogs, flint bows, and plaster totem poles.

"Gee whiz," one little fellow called Johnny grumbled, "I just had made enough arrows and was starting on my bow when the vacation ended. It seemed I just got there and they closed the camp."

It was easy to understand his viewpiont. Two weeks of camping fun with a river for a back yard would certainly seem short to a youngster who had only known the heat of city sidewalks in other summers. Camp Algonquin opened its 31st season on June 26 for just such children as Johnny. Three hundred mothers and 905 boys and girls were given two weeks' vacation at the camp some time during the summer and 125 undernourished children stayed thruout the entire season.

Weight gains of 4, 5, and 6 pounds among the children were common. One 10 year old girl gained 8 pounds. In the undernourished group it was necessary to send some of the healthier ones home before the end of their eight weeks to make room for others. A boy who was told he was going home went on a hunger strike and ate almost nothing for two days. He thought that perhaps he would get "skinny" enough to stay longer.

Thruout the summer TRIBUNE readers have aided these youngsters by donations amounting to approximately $700. The found was swelled by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

How Hollywood Gets That Way

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 30.—A studio technical department is the place where movie miracles are worked—but Orson Welles stumped RKO's art staff the other day. He demanded a large oil portrait of a character in "Citizen Kane," to be ready at 9 o'clock next morning. The head art man explained that portraits in oil aren't run up that way, that Rembrandt, Da Vinci, and others took a little time at their work. "Then put two men on it," snapped Orson.

Caroline Lee, age 5, who first turned up in "Honeymoon in Ball," informed the unit man on the "Virginia" set that she was "a self-made kid." One day the child's mother was having difficulty getting her to drink her milk at lunch. "You must set an example to other children," said mamma. "Suppose the company sent out a story that you won't drink your milk." "Gosh," wailed Caroline, "can't I have any private life?" . . . Another 5 year old, Larry [Baby Dumpling] Simms, is glad shooting is over on "Blondie Plays Cupid"—for now he can take his bridge-work out.

History of a movie: Preston Sturgis wrote a scenario called "A Cup of Coffee," shot it as "The New Yorkers," edited it as "Something to Shout About"—and will release it in October as "Christmas in July." . . . Fellow named John Reinecke, avocado grower down San Diego way, wrote Mary Martin the following facts: His mother's maiden name was Mary Martin and he named a new avocado he had developed in her honor. But when he tried to register the name with the avocado association the association told him he'd have to get the actress' permission first. Mary gladly gave it. . . . It has finally been decided that Miss Martin will sing "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" in "Love Thy Neighbor"—but with new lyrics, and it will be a production number with the Merriel Abbott dancers.

Sidney Salkow was staging a cops-and-kidnapers chase in "Alias the Lone Wolf," newest Warren William "Wolf" flicker, and it wasn't going so good. Then he noticed among his players two former Keystone cops, Fred Kelsey and Jed Prouty. He turned the chase over to them and it came out fine. . . . Another art department yarn: Producer Herbert Wilcox wanted in a hurry a night club wall decorated with half a dozen petty-like nudes for a scene in "No, No, Nanette." "Got any ideas for the pose?" asked the art department. Wilcox said he hadn't and the art department said first it would have to have some. "How long," queried the hurried producer, "do you want to think?"

Edgar Bergen has two new characters he plans to introduce in his next film—a hen and a rooster. Their neck feathers slip over his wrist, heads operate on the one hand. The hen is chirpy, slightly ramish, has an on-the-make face. The rooster is dejected and weary. Bergen did the modeling himself. . . . Charlie McCarthy's bedroom in Bergen's hilltop house is kept locked. Charlie doesn't stay there, but two small McCarthy dolls occupy the full-size twin beds. The closet contains Charlie's wardrobe; any costume you can think of, including a perfect miniature Foreign Legion outfit because Charlie always joins the Legion when he gets sore at Bergen. Charles and Edgar have nine pairs of hats, exact duplicates except for size. The dummy wears size 5 suits.

Sweden's Signe Hasso, pretty young red head, finally got here after traveling three-quarters of the way around the globe at a cost of more than $2,000 to RKO. Day she arrived she had a 5:30 appointment with Producer Bob Sisk, so the transportation department was ordered to have a car call at Signe's hotel at 5:15. Transportation wanted to know if it would be all right to send the car at 5—and save 15 minutes overtime for a driver. . . . Gary Cooper sent his mother in Montana a badge of the John Doe club, with his picture on it. [He's John Doe in the new Frank Capra picture and there's a Doe convention in the story]. Mrs. Cooper had to quit wearing the badge because neighbors kept asking, "Is Gary running for something?"

Philip Van Zandt, old time assistant to Howard Thurston, landed the rôle of a card sharp in "Flotsam" by dealing Director John Cromwell a royal flush.

All-American Program Given at Grant Park

BY EDWARD BARRY.

For the first time in history the MacDowell A minor piano concerto was presented last night with a Victor Herbert medley interpolated between its first and second movements. The reason for this singular proceeding was the rain which drenched the Grant park band shell shortly before 8:30 and which started to come right into the piano on which Henry Jackson was performing.

Herbert Carlin, who is in charge of the lake front concerts, sensibly decided to do something else for a while and see what the weather had in mind. This something else took the form of a performance by the CBS orchestra, Milton Charles conducting, of the above mentioned medley of Victor Herbert tunes.

As it happened, the rain was a light one—not at all in the great Grant park tradition—and at the conclusion of the Herbert medley the concerto's last two movements were presented. Mr. Jackson, who had already in the piece's first movement made an excellent impression by the vigor and the musical intelligence of his phrasing, now went on to strengthen this impression by the suavity and the lyrical beauty with which he filled the andante and by the bravura sweep of the concluding presto.

The program was all-American. Besides the MacDowell and the Herbert pieces there were clumping country dances, sentimental melodies of the "Pale Moon" variety, a military march, and two radically differing popular tunes—"Alexander's Ragtime Band" and "Hawaiian War Chant." When the war chant was announced an appreciative patron in the front row was heard to exclaim: "Boy! Here's a piece of music!"

Mr. Charles conducted flexibly, expressively, and—when the music warranted it—with infectious vigor.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

Talk of the town is the lipstick 2½ inches long. It's a lot of lipstick for anybody's money. We have in idea its manufacturer put it out for purposes of a newsy little gag—but he's been nicely surprised. In New York, where it made its debut, it's a hit. And it's no slouch in Chicago either.

The outer case is a trifle more than 3½ inches long, but if you'd expect that to be unwieldy or clumsy looking you'd be wrong. It's rather a handsome, sturdy, square based pillar of lip rouge.

This is an automatic stick that pops out to the desired length. The stick itself is thick and fat and it should last you practically forever. The texture is very good, the shades all that fashion could ask. If you use gobs and gobs of lip rouge—and the Lord knows many women do—it's a buy. Also, because of its spectacular size, it's rather amusing and chic.

A gadget to be used with lipstick is another whim of the season. After applying lipstick, a second implement—a plastic magazine with refillable tips of a very soft rubber composition—is used as a "permanizer." The tip, it seems, absorbs the excess lipstick and gives the coating an effect of color depth that's quite attractive. And since lipstick is worked into even the tiniest crevice it stays on longer.

The Stage

The première of "Too Many Girls" at the Grand Opera house tonight gives the Chicago stage its earliest autumn opening in several seasons. The musical comedy, produced by George Abbott, is the coöperative product of a considerable number of celebrated craftsmen. Richard Rodgers wrote the music, and his inseparable teammate Lorenz Hart composed the lyrics.

The book is by George Marion Jr. Collaborating upon the visual aspects of the show were Jo Mielziner, responsible for scenery and lighting; Robert Alton, dance director, and Raoul Pene du Bois, costume designer.

The featured players are Mary Jane Walsh, Marcy Wescott, Hal LeRoy, Desi Arnez, and Diosa Costello. Harry Levant conducts the orchestra. Mr. Abbott and Mr. Hart arrived yesterday from New York to attend the opening.

Crosby Picture Is Gay, Casual, and Tuneful

"RHYTHM ON THE RIVER."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

It's gay! It's provocative! It's casual as a breeze and friendly as—Wendell Willkie. It is effortlessly and adroitly acted by a personality-plus cast, and its tunes are the sort you hum 'n' hum 'n' hum. . . . And its eventful serio-comic tale is a gentle, barbless burlesque guaranteed to entertain—by me, personal. "IT," of course, being "Rhythm on the River."

This delightful new Paramount output discloses Bing Crosby as an under paid ghost composer for a once popular song and lyric writer whose wells of inspiration had dried upon the "death" of the woman he loved. HOW the lady "died" Oscar Levant—yes, he's there, too!—enlightens you in characteristic fashion.

It presents Basil Rathbone, customarily so suave and sinister, as this sterile genius, and, tho I like him better as a menace, I must admit that he can be amusing as well as chilling—AND thrilling. Then, my darlings, there is Mary Martin, who has become a screen personality to reckon with.

She has EVERYTHING—no less. Looks, voice, charm, talent, spontaneity, and that human spark that kindles an audience. As for the rest of the cast—gaze upon those names at the head of the column and be content!

In their labors to uphold the fame of Oliver Courtney, Bob Summers and Cherry Lane meet and become "that way" about one another. . . . A separation from Courtney and their efforts to market their product independently brings them closer—you know how tribulations DO?—and they starve, battle the world, and make music with high heart until, at last, Lady Luck decides to enlist unequivocally on their side. The E. is very H., with everybody on the crest of the wave and Mr. Courtney, albeit reluctantly, flaunting sprouting wings of nobility.

[If I-all were you-all I wouldn't miss "Rhythm on the River."]

Three Sisters of Mercy Celebrate Golden Jubilee

Three members of the Sisters of Mercy, pioneer nuns of Chicago, celebrated the golden anniversary of their profession to the vows of the order yesterday. # Murder Is Not Mute

FIRST QUARREL.

INSTALMENT XXXVI.

"Was Truman the only man Texie met there?" asked Doyle.

At that Helen Voss was on her feet.

Doyle said dryly, "There were others before Truman. You know that, don't you?"

"No," she said. But she did not look at Doyle as she said it.

"She was kicked out of school because of scandal," the detective reminded.

"No," she said again stubbornly.

"And what about Follins?" Foyle inquired.

"I won't listen to you," Helen protested vehemently. "Now that she's gone, you or no one has any right to—I tell you there wasn't anybody but Truman."

Doyle let it go at that.

"O. K.," he said briskly.. "You sold the idea to Texie that it wasn't you who put the Bible in her room. Then what happened?"

"Why then," Helen said, gradually regaining her composure, "things were as they had always been. Until some one slipped an anonymous note under the door of Mr. Wunsch's study, telling him about Texie and Truman. The next day Mr. Wunsch made arrangements to send Texie abroad and to send Maman with her. Maman was to be responsible for seeing that Texie and Truman did not correspond. If this happened, Maman and Truman would be cut off from Mr. Wunsch's support and Texie would be disinherited."

"In their chagrin, the lovers turned on Helen. Helen was the only one who knew and could have betrayed their secret. And against all arguments, Texie believed anew that Helen had been responsible for the anonymous note and the marked Bible."

"How about that?" Doyle broke in, "Did you put the Bible in her room and did you write the note?"

Shock and indignation glowed in the young woman's eyes.

"Of course not."

"Then who did?"

Her eyes evaded his intent gaze and he had to repeat the question before he obtained her reluctant answer.

"Grossvater."

Doyle stared at her astonished. "How did the old man know what was going on?"

Her slender shoulders lifted in a shrug. "Perhaps he saw them in the brewery. He used to take walks then."

Doyle frowned. "But why would he write an anonymous note to his own son?"

"I don't know," she said wearily. "For the same reason he's put the Bible in Texie's room instead of speaking to her directly."

Doyle pounced on that. "What makes you so sure he was responsible for the Bible?"

"What else could have been?" she countered. "He's always reading the Bible. He's the only one here who'd know where to find special verses."

Doyle was watching the girl's face closely. "Did you suggest that to Texie when she accused you?"

"No. It wasn't until after Texie had gone that I learned the truth."

"How did you learn it then?"

"From Miss Doty."

"Miss Doty?" Doyle's tone sharpened. "What did she know about it?"

"She nearly lost her job on account of it," Helen Voss said surprisingly. "Mrs. Wunsch thought it was Miss Doty who had spied on Truman and made trouble for him, and so Mrs. Wunsch wanted to dismiss Miss Doty."

"But why would Mrs. Wunsch suspect Miss Doty?"

Helen's nervous hands began to fold and refold her napkins. "I don't think she ever liked Miss Doty. Because Truman would sometimes laugh and joke with her, and Mrs. Wunsch wanted him to pay attention just to Texie."

"Was Miss Doty interested in Briault?"

"No. She avoided him. And she used to complain that he'd cost her a good job if she didn't squelch him properly."

Doyle nodded. "Smart girl, Miss Doty." Then he scowled. Too damn smart, maybe. For all her seeming candor and coöperative spirit, what was the idea of never telling him this angle? He cast a quick interrogative look at Helen Voss.

"You say it was Miss Doty who told you the old man wrote that note?"

"Not exactly," Helen qualified. "But Miss Doty told me she wasn't going to get the old man into trouble to save her job. If Mrs. Wunsch didn't trust her, Miss Doty said, she might as well get out sooner as later."

Doyle rose abruptly and started for the door. It was his intention to grill the redheaded nurse. But Helen Voss' soft voice checked his progress.

"I think perhaps there's something else I ought to tell you."

He took his hand from the doorknob. "Yes?"

"It's about Texie and Truman. They quarreled."

At once he came back to the table and sat down. "When?"

"The night Mr. Wunsch found out about them."

"What did they quarrel about?"

"I don't know. I didn't hear what they said. I didn't sleep well, and about 2 o'clock in the morning I heard Texie get up and go out on the balcony. The first thought I had was that she was going to elope with Truman. I ran thru her bedroom and over to the balcony. And then I saw that she was in a dressing gown and that she hadn't gone into Truman's room—she was just standing in his window. She was there only a minute, and then she came running back and pushed past me and threw herself on the bed and began to cry as if her heart would break."

"Did you speak to her?"

"Yes. I tried to comfort her, but she wouldn't have anything to do with me."

"Didn't she say anything to you?"

"Not to me, no. But a couple of times she moaned, 'I hate him. O, God! How I hate him.'"

"She meant she hated Truman?"

Helen nodded.

"Had they quarreled before? Often, perhaps?"

"Never."

Doyle rubbed his chin. What the devil had Truman said to Texie that had so quickly changed passionate love to hate?

Maman reclined gracefully on a chaise longue, waiting for the detective to come. What a homecoming, Maman thought indignantly. She had been literally whisked thru the halls and shut into her room, without seeing any one but the chauffeur and the butler. Not even a maid sent up to unpack her bags. And her luncheon tray had been brought by Wunsch himself, appearing like an evil genie and ordering her not to see or communiate with any one until after Detective Doyle had talked with her.

All this fuss and discomfort because of that wretched girl, Texie.

Doyle entered. "Mrs. Briault?" He moved toward her briskly.

"The Comtesse de Briault," Maman corrected, "And you must not let my title make you uncomfortable," she babbled graciously. "I'm really just as American as you are." She smiled up at him. "I don't suppose you'd believe I was born in Brooklyn?"

Doyle said levelly, "I'm going to believe everything you tell me, lady. So be careful to tell me the truth."

Maman laughed gaily. "What woman would be so indiscreet as to tell a man the truth?"

Doyle sighed, looking down into the arch empty face. The only way to deal with a woman of this sort was to get her so mad that she'd forget acting and talk sense.

"You planned it with your son, didn't you?" he challenged. "You let him take Texie off the ship?"

Let Mistakes Be the Basis of New Happiness

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The past can be changed.

On first thought, this seems impossible. After all, the past is beyond repair. How can a broken romance, a disastrous marriage, an unfortunate mistake be changed into something good?

Yet actually we change the past every day. The humiliation of the clumsy boy who spilled soup on his best girl's frock becomes a joke when he is a man. The catastrophe of the bride's first badly cooked dinner turns into an affectionate memory when the couple have been married 15 years. Harrowing early struggles are the pet boast of a successful business man.

It is true of even more serious matters. A mistake may be a blight on our whole future or it may be an invaluable experience. A man wrote that his sweetheart refused to marry him because in her girlhood she had been sent to a reform school. Yet she could have used her unfortunate past as an added incentive for being a model wife.

A broken marriage can mean a lifetime of bitterness or it can be an invaluable lesson in coöperation, tolerance, and the need of unselfishness in love.

Nor do we need to wait 15 years to make the mistakes of our past into somethin, good. If we can laugh at yesterday's blunder or learn something from it, at once it becomes a step upward toward happiness.

Cooking Editor Tells You How to Make Pectin

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

HOW TO MAKE PECTIN—You can make your own pectin for jellying fruits which don't contain enough pectin themselves to make a firm jelly. Pectin may be made from apples, or from orange peel. To make it from orange peel, combine 1 cup of the white part of the peel with 2 cups of water and the juice of a lemon. Let stand overnight. Boil for 5 minutes and strain. To keep it, process in small fruit jars at simmering temperature for half an hour. A tablespoon of this pectin should be added to each pint of fruit juice to make jelly.

Apple peelings and cores may be used for pectin, as well as the whole apple. Most of the jellying property is in skins and cores, so if you peel and core apples for pie, save the discarded parts, add a small amount of water to them, and cook until soft. Strain and use this juice in combination with other fruit juices for jelly, to help thicken jam.

JELLY FROM MOUNTAIN ASH BERRIES—A reader who has trees loaded with these berries inquired recently about the safety of using them for jelly. They DO make good jelly, one particularly suited for service with game and fowl. The berries have medicinal uses also.

WHY THE GRAPE LEAVES—If you have an old-fashioned recipe which tells you to cure pickles in grape or cherry leaves you may have wondered why. Besides being a good protective covering the leaves are thought by many pickle makers to give a good green color to pickles.

Speaking of pickles, it's time for crabapples, and here's a good recipe to use.

Crabapple Pickles.

Washed crabapples
1 quart vinegar
4 cups sugar
1 tablespoon whole allspice
1 tablespoon stick cinnamon
1 tablespoon whole cloves
1 tablespoon blade mace

Remove blossom ends of firm, uniform sized crabapples, but do not peel or remove stems. Mix vinegar with spices [which have been tied in a cheesecloth bag] and sugar, and boil until the sirup will coat a clean spoon. Add apples and simmer gently [to avoid bursting skins] until tender. Pack into clean, hot jars, fill jars with boiling sirup, and seal. Some of the spices, all of them, if desired, may be left in the sirup.

HAIL THE GALLOPING TEA—"Galloping" teas are a new fad, but a worthwhile one. Usually they have some kind of wartime relief as an objective. Here's how the idea works: Some one plans a tea party and invites six guests, asking them to bring their knitting or clothing for refugees, or a dollar or whatever else may contribute to the cause. Each of the six guests then plans a tea of her own with the same purpose, and the chain letter teas continue until the quota has been reached.

The plan has been used successfully in the east. Only simple sandwiches and tea need be served. 'Tis said that a galloping tea may cost the hostess less than 50 cents.

TURKEY STEAKS—Some time soon the housewife may be able to buy turkey steaks cut from the breast of turkey. The poultry industry and its home economists are experimenting with these steaks, and if they think them good enough to find popularity we'll be seeing them at the meat markets.

2 OPERA ARTISTS WILL APPEAR ON SYMPHONIC HOUR

TODAY'S RADIO BROADCASTS

Today's Features

ON W-G-N.

[Central Daylight Saving Time.]

Joe E. Brown, movie comedian, will be heard over W-G-N at noon as guest artist on the program Command Performance. Brown will be starred in "Lady in the Moon," an original play written for radio by Basil Heatter, son of Mutual's commentator, Gabriel Heatter. Co-starring with Brown will be Grace McDonald, a young Broadway actress.

Another program in the W-G-N and Mutual Operatic Pop concert series will be offered from 8:30 to 9:30 p. m. The broadcast will be conducted by Cesare Sodero and will feature Elsa Zebranska, soprano, and George Britton, baritone, as soloists.

The Pennant Contenders, usually presented Thursday nights but canceled last Thursday because of the All-Star football game, will be heard at 5:45 p. m. today only. The program is presented each week from the home city of one of the eight first division major league teams. It offers informal interviews with players, managers, and coaches. This broadcast will originate in St. Louis, the home of the Cardinals, where Johnny O'Hara will interview Manager Southworth, First Baseman Johnny Mize, and pitchers Lon Warneke and Clyde Shoun.

At 4:15 p. m., Bryan Field, Mutual sportscaster, will describe the running of the Hopeful Handicap from Saratoga race track.

Aug. 31, 1940.

Universal Day—Stress all on practical, worldly issues today. Big business with a big B, or blitzkreig with a capital B!

Month Ahead—Those in an eight-year may feel like counting up the assets this month. The books should more than balance if you have taken advantage of this big year. This is the time to take in the hay, put in the stores, and look ahead to the needs you might have to meet later. So don't spend too much under the expansive vibrations. That feeling of being able to spread yourself will be strong this month.

Year Ahead—Pay a little attention to your nerves for the year ahead will call for nerve strain. The pace has been fast and furious and will continue so with more emotion involved.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

When 14 pairs in a duplicate game play a certain hand and not one pair arrives at the laydown slam there is something wrong. Admittedly, not all slams can be logically bid; sometimes the fortunate position of missing honors or the "miraculous fit" cannot be foreseen. But such a deal as the following—the case in point—should not be beyond the scope of modern bidding methods.

East, dealer.
Match-point duplicate.

NORTH
♠ Q 10 3
♥ A K J
♦ 8 7 6 2

WEST
♥ 7 6 3
♦ A K Q J 5
♣ 8 2

EAST
♠ 7
♥ Q 10 8 5 2
♦ 10 9 4 3

SOUTH
♠ K J 8 6 4 2
♥ 9 4
♦ None
♣ A 9 7 5 3

| East | South | West | North |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | 1 diamond | Double |
| 1 heart | 2 spades | 3 diamonds | 3 spades |
| Pass | 4 spades | Pass | Pass |
| Pass | | | |

At a few tables the South players made a slightly stronger effort to "get somewhere," but to no avail. Here the bidding went:

| East | South | West | North |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | 1 diamond | Double |
| 1 heart | 2 spades | 3 diamonds | 3 spades |
| Pass | 4 clubs | Pass | 4 spades |
| Pass | Pass | Pass | |

In this sequence, South's four club bid was intended to give North additional information concerning South's hand, and indeed North might well have taken stronger action than merely to return to spades. A four heart cue bid, in response to four clubs, would have involved little risk, but every North took the view that his previous take-out double and free spade raise had fully expressed his values. Hence all refused to offer further encouragement.

To my mind both the North and the South players missed several good bets on this board. I think that the bidding should have followed this course:

| East | South | West | North |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | 1 diamond | Double |
| 1 heart | 2 spades | 3 diamonds | 3 spades |
| Pass | 4 diamonds! | Pass | 4 hearts |
| Pass | 5 clubs | Pass | 6 spades |
| Pass | Pass | Pass | |

Instead of bidding a noninformative four spades, or a better but still not strong enough four clubs, South should have grasped the opportunity to show "no diamonds losers" via a four diamond cue bid. His original pass strictly limited his top card holding, from his partner's viewpoint, hence he did not have to fear that North would credit him with greater strength than he could actually supply.

The four diamond bid would be an eye opener to North. Now, with no honor in diamonds, he would not have to fear the slightest duplication of values and he would know that every top card he owned held great potential value. Therefore, despite the fact that North's hand in itself contained no real excess over the values previously announced, it would be only logical for him to answer South's cue bid with another cue bid in hearts. Then, when South disclosed his full distribution with a five club bid, North's K-Q-10 of clubs would take on added significance and, with his two honors in spades, would justify a jump to the spade slam.

Take Pleasure in a Child's Differentness

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Not long ago I met a mother and son. After the boy had left us, I remarked: "David is certainly his mother's son. He's the image of you."

"Do you think so?" his mother smiled delightedly. Then: "It's odd, isn't it, because he's adopted? We took him when he was a year old. But he is like me, in his nature, too. It seems to add to our happiness in him."

Not long after, I stood in school one day talking with a woman who taught in the school so her child could attend it, because she considered it very fine. The little girl was so charming and interesting that I commented on it.

"Did you know that Kathleen is my adopted daughter? No?" She paused. "I've often wondered if I'd have given as much interest and have gotten as much pleasure out of a child I had borne as I do out of Kathleen. She is so utterly different from me that I never know just what she is going to do and say, just how she is going to be affected by people and happenings and books and life in general. I have much more delight in her than I would if she were like me."

The other probably is due to the comfort of familiarity. You have a trait yourself, you have certain tastes, therefore you understand these better when they reappear in your child than you would qualities that are alien to you.

FOOTBALL FANS' ANGER OVER WALLACE 'STATIC' GROWS

PROTESTS POUR IN AFTER RADIO CUTS OFF GAME

Call Speech Blow to His Chances.

Protests continued to pour in yesterday from radio football fans thruout the country who were irate at missing more than a half hour of the description of the All-Star game in Soldiers' field Thursday night. This program—over station W-G-N and the coast-to-coast Mutual network—was interrupted to allow the broadcasting of Henry A. Wallace's acceptance of the Democratic Vice Presidential nomination in Des Moines.

The collective anger of the radio audience boiled over in hundreds of telegrams and letters to W-G-N and other stations in the network. There also was a flood of telephone calls to W-G-N and The Tribune switchboard during the time the All-Star game was off the air. The tenor of the messages—some in strong and picturesque language—was that Wallace's speech was an unwelcome substitute for the exciting details of the battle between the All-Stars and the Green Bay Packers.

Here Are Some Samples.

"He's talking about Roosevelt—we want Washington!" [Kenny Washington was one of the All-Stars.]

"Is Roosevelt so conceited that he thinks we'd rather hear his stooge than the All-Stars?"

Prefer All-American Stars.

"Don't tell me The Tribune has gone over to the Democrats."

"Let's have the All-Americans, not that All-American agricultural bore."

"I can hear a political speech any time, but I don't want it tonight with the All-Stars playing."

"I turned on my radio after being lured on false pretenses; I thought I was going to hear a football game, not a political harangue."

He Lacks a Back Field.

"Wallace's line was stale, and he has no back field."

"I'll never tune in on Mutual again if there's going to be anything like this."

SCHINDLER VOTED MOST VALUABLE ALL-STAR PLAYER

Kinnick, Washington and McFadden His Rivals.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Ambrose Schindler of Southern California was elected the most valuable All-Star player to his team by the nation's newspaper men in attendance at the game Thursday evening in Soldiers' field with the Green Bay Packers. The Packers won a record scoring duel, 45 to 28, before a record crowd of 84,567 for the 7 year old series sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Ambrose Schindler.

Schindler's choice was by no means unanimous, altho this does not detract in any way from his play. In truth, a half dozen All-Stars were excellent candidates on the basis of performance under most critical circumstances. In this list, all of whom received votes from the newspaper reporters, were Nile Kinnick, Iowa half back; Kenny Washington of U. C. L. A., who scored the All-Stars' second touchdown, and Banks McFadden, Clemson half back, who took one of Kinnick's passes all the way thru the Packers' secondary.

Kinnick Second in Voting.

Kinnick was second in the voting and undoubtedly he lost some votes because the electors felt he had already received high honor from the nation's fans when he piled up the largest number of votes in the players' poll.

Harry Smith, Trojan guard and All-Star captain, and Clyde Turner, Hardin-Simmons center, were the ranking linemen in the press box election.

That Schindler was named most valuable in this class of competition makes his victory greater. He is the third All-Star so honored since inception of the award in 1938. He will receive the silver trophy emblematic of his election between the halves of the 1941 All-Star game.

Cecil Isbell of Purdue, who shared the hero's rôle for the Packers Thursday night with Don Hutson, Alabama end, who caught two of Isbell's touchdown passes, won the All-Star most valuable player award in 1938. That year Isbell sparked the attack which smothered the Washington Redskins, 28 to 16.

Osmanski Winner in '39.

Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross full back, won the award in 1939 when the New York Giants whipped the collegians, 9 to 0. Osmanski was presented with the trophy Thursday evening by Frances Jones, Rosary college junior.

Schindler's value to the All-Stars was in his excellent plunging and pass receiving as well as his blocking. He scored twice. His first drive was typical of his work thruout the game. Moreover, he set up the opportunity for the first touchdown, by intercepting a pass by Isbell. Schindler was downed on the Packers' 18 yard line after running across the gridiron and narrowly failing to break away.

In three consecutive line smashes, Schindler went thru the Packers to a score. He hit defensive right tackle for 8 yards, followed at the other tackle with a 6 yard gain, and hit the same spot for the touchdown thrust.

Paved Way for Aerials.

If the Stars needed proof that their ground attack would function, this was it. That evidence also made possible successful forward passes because Green Bay continually feared repetition of Schindler's performance or a long, break away run.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THE All-Star game between the Green Bay Packers and College All-Americans in Soldiers' field Thursday night proved one thing, if nothing else. . . . It is possible to develop a strong offense in two or three weeks of practice. . . . There was almost as much scoring crowded into the 60 minutes of play Thursday night as had occurred in the six previous All-Star games. . . . Biff Jones, football coach at the University of Nebraska, said the first half, which ended 28 to 21 in the Packers' favor, was the most brilliant 30 minutes of offensive football he ever has seen. . . . Green Bay's aerials were clicking in midseason brilliance. . . . The All-Stars' running attack, always carrying the threat of a forward pass by Nile Kinnick or Kenny Washington, worried the Packers no end. . . . Both Curley Lambeau, coach of the professional champions, and Dr. Edward Anderson, leader of the All-Stars, promised a wide open game. . . . They made good their pledge. . . . The character of offense made the game unusually long, because of time out in incompleted passes, but the fans didn't mind. . . . They came to see great players play great football and they weren't disappointed. . . .

In the opinion of Coach Anderson the All-Stars lost the game in the middle of the last quarter. . . . The score was 35 to 28 in favor of Green Bay. . . . The Packers had the ball on their 20 yard line. . . . Two line plays netted them only two yards. . . . If the All-Stars held them on the next play, Green Bay would have to kick and the collegians, who had just scored a touchdown and were full of fire, would get possession of the ball. . . . But here it was that Green Bay demonstrated convincingly why it holds the world's football championship. . . . Cecil Isbell, who two years previous had distinguished himself with the All-Stars, flipped a pass to Don Hutson, the most brilliant receiver football has known, and the young man from Alabama raced to the Packers' 40 yard line for a first down. . . . Green Bay had worked its way out of a tight spot and a minute or two later advanced close enough to permit Ernie Smith to clinch victory with a field goal. . . . As Dr. Anderson jokingly remarked after the game, "There is only one defense for the Packers' attack—shoot Hutson." . . .

The professionals now hold the lead in the All-Star series, three games to two. . . . Two of the contests resulted in ties. . . . Green Bay again may represent the National league in 1941, altho it has a rocky route to tour for the next three months. . . . There will be an entire change of cast on the college side—men like Tom Harmon, Forest Evashevski, Milt Piepul, Bob Saggau, John Kimbrough, Don Scott, Red Hahnenstein, Paul Soper, George Franck. . . . We'll be happy if they turn in as fine a performance as the All-Stars of 1940. . . . This year's group was All-American, off the field as well as on.

The peace and calm of England
Is but a memory.
They're forced to send the children
Away to other lands,
Where they can live in safety.
Untouched by war's demands.
The country-side of England
I'd love to see again;
O God, protect its beauty

SNEAD RALLIES TO BEAT SARAZEN IN P. G. A. MEET

McSpaden, Nelson, and Guldahl Also Win.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 30.—Samuel Jackson Snead, the young man with the perfect swing, tomorrow will go into the semi-finals of the National Professional golf tournament with the tonic knowledge that he is not such a weak finisher as he has been charged with by golf galleries these last 15 months. He proved that he can go a winning route by rallying to defeat Gene Sarazen, 1 up, in the 36 hole quarter-finals of the P. G. A.'s main event at the Hershey Country club today.

In the first of tomorrow's 36 hole penultimate battles, Sam will meet Harold [Jug] McSpaden, the 1937 runner-up. The ham handed Jug, who has been asserting an utter lack of confidence in his game this week, had surprisingly little trouble in eliminating Paul Runyan, the champion of 1934 and 1938, by an 8 and 6 margin which made the customers wonder if it isn't an asset to be dubious about the destination of your shots.

Guldahl Wins Again.

The other semi-final matches a couple of Texas lads, who, like Snead and McSpaden, are members of the 1940 American Ryder cup team and fellow alumni of that traveling university of professional golf—the winter tour. Byron Nelson, 1939 National Open champion, who went 37 holes before surrendering last year's final to Henry Picard, gained one of the four spots with a 6 and 5 victory over dark horse Eddie Kirk of Detroit.

The fourth berth went to Ralph Guldahl, sole Chicago survivor. This giant Open champ of 1937 and 1938 never had reached the 36 hole bracket of the P. G. A. until this year, but now has won two over the long route, today's with a 3 and 2 decision over Ben Hogan, the year's leading money winner.

Sarazen Weakens.

Snead, author of that horrendous 8 on the 72d hole of the 1939 Open, started out this year's open in Cleveland with a 67, only to finish with an 81. His comeback today was compounded as much of Sarazen's weariness as his own skill. The little squire, who has taken this P. G. A. crown three times, said he was tired after his thrilling victory yesterday over Henry Picard, the defending champ. At noon today he admitted he was good and tired. Walking up the 26th fairway with a three up edge on Snead, Gene averred his 38 year old legs, which carried him to a tie for the open title this year, weighed a ton.

Going to the 28th tee Gene appeared not only to have the match wrapped up but also his first semi-final rôle since he won at Milwaukee in 1933. Snead won the 28th with a 15 foot birdie to go only two down. Sam got a splendid half at the 521 yard 30th, climaxing a recovery from a missed green by jumping a stymie he had laid himself. Sarazen yielded the 31st to a bush off the green, and Snead, stymied again on the short 32d, hopped it once more to halve the hole. He squared it when Sarazen overshot the 33d and went ahead for the first time by holing a 10 footer for a birdie on the 34th.

Sarazen Four Under Par.

Sarazen was 4 under for the day with a 68—74—142, while Snead bettered the card by five shots with a 71—70—141, which included a final nine of 34, three under par.

McSpaden, the extra hole hero of the 1937 tournament, which saw him go 37 holes before losing the final to Denny Shute, was 3 under for the 30 holes he played in routing Runyan, who was 4 over for the distance. Paul didn't win a hole in the afternoon 12, Jug dashing off four of them,

And Then the Indians Won, as Usual

Cubs Buy Novikoff, Stringer from Angels; Report in 1941

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Lou Novikoff and Lou Stringer, those two Los Angeles stars about whom you have been reading every time a Chicago author has wanted to paint a 1941 silver lining in a 1940 Cub cloud, are now the property of the Cubs. They were purchased yesterday from the Wrigley-owned Pacific Coast league club and never the details of how P. K. Wrigley goes about purchasing a player from P. K. Wrigley.

The point is that the Cubs have taken action in the acquirement of two players that some thought they should have had last spring. The Angels, however, are conducted as an organization the financial structure of which is independent of the Cubs, and Mr. W. did not interfere with the able gents who run the Angels when they said they weren't ready to part with the two Lous.

This Should Be Easy.

According to the announcement, part of a statement involving numerous other Cub-controled players, Novikoff and Stringer, were acquired for cash and "players to be named later." Maybe you who have been watching the current Cubs burrow into sixth place, under the .500 mark, may want to help name the Cubs to which Los Angeles will be welcome next year. We could help, perhaps, but we've got three more road trips coming up with the fellows and on those trips we're always just one happy family.

Novikoff, an outfielder, has led the hitters in every league in which he ever has played and last year he topped two leagues, the Texas and the Pacific Coast. He is on top of the coast league now with a batting mark of .356 as of yesterday morning. He has played in 152 games, and has made 222 hits for 356 bases, including 33 home runs, 38 doubles, and 3 triples. He has batted in 142 runs.

HEATH'S 3-RUN HOMER IN FIRST HELPS FELLER

It's 23d Victory for Cleveland Ace.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cleveland Indians, who expect to win a pennant unless unduly annoyed by the Yankees, saw their ace man, Bob Feller, knocked hither and yon by the White Sox last night under the glare of the Comiskey park lights but the lambasting failed to slow down the league leaders. Given a first inning lead by a three run homer off the bat of Jeff Heath, the dazzling Feller shook off one bad session after another to triumph, 4 to 2, before 44,877 fans, who exercised their lungs by pouring raspberries into the ears of the athletes who have tried to revolt against their manager.

The man who couldn't keep the Indians from adding a half game to their first place margin was Thornton Lee, who, tho far superior to Feller in the matter of hits, had to accept his 12th beating while his more illustrious adversary was recording his 23d victory. Lee's whole job, as it turned out, was wrapped up in the opening inning, when Heath's homer exploded. Lefty was brilliant thereafter, but it meant nothing because of the Sox's inability to recognize opportunity.

Bobby Gets No Rest.

Feller, who was razzed heartily by the ribald spectators, failed to have even one peaceful inning. The Sox hit him safely at least once in all except one. In that session he gave up his only pass of the evening. But in the pinches he had something, a fact vividly shown by 10 strikeouts and 11 men left on the bases. Of the vast assortment of hits that kept him from relaxing, only two were for extra bases, one being Julius Solters' 10th homer which drifted into the seats in the fourth for the first half of the Sox scoring.

Only two of the nine Sox who tried to prevent the Indians from beating them for the 13th time in 17 games, failed to hit. One of these was Lee, who struck out four times. The other was Luke Appling, the choicest batter of the lot. While Jim Webb and Taft Wright were picking up three hits apiece, Luke fanned once and in three subsequent efforts couldn't get the ball past the reach of an infielder.

Two Out—Then Trouble.

Lee's unhappy first inning also had its pleasant features. Both Chapman and Weatherly were thrown out before trouble began to pop with Boudreau's line single over Appling's head. A wild pitch helped to build up a pass for Trosky and a moment later Heath fired the three run shot that dropped into the seats back of the right field scoreboard. The disturbance continued with a two bagger by Keltner, but ended quickly on Mack's hopper to Appling.

The Sox weren't long making sure that Feller wouldn't drape them with another no-hitter. Rosenthal singled to right center with one out in the first, but it was the only worthwhile incident of the inning. The Sox made additional progress, altho in a small way, in the second. After Appling had given the fishy eye to a third strike, Wright banged a double to left center. Tresh came thru with a powerful fly, but Weatherly caught it just in front of the left center field wall. Kennedy grounded to Comrade Trosky for the third out.

Lee Just Misses a Shower.

Lee almost was on his way to the bath tub in the third. Weatherly, after escaping from a foul so close to the Sox dugout that Kennedy couldn't hold it, tripled to right center for a starter. Boudreau walked and the bull pen occupants began to warm up, but their services weren't needed. Trosky bounced to Kennedy and Weatherly was cut down by

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Ten speedy juveniles will race today in the $5,000 Prairie State stakes at Washington Park. This will be the semi-final program of the meeting, which will come to a close with the running of the $25,000 Washington Park handicap on Labor day.

The Valdina farm's Valdina Groom, which has been fairly consistent in high class company, probably will be installed as the favorite. This colt ran second to Swain in the Arlington Futurity and third to Porter's Cap in the Washington Park Futurity. Trainer J. J. Flanigan has him sharpened up for another good effort and it is generally conceded that he is the one to beat. At the rate favorites have been knocked off in previous Chicago area stakes, however, nobody will be much surprised if an outsider gallops in.

Flying Streak a Threat.

There will be plenty of speedy youngsters running with him in the six furlong dash. J. D. Well's Flying Streak, which set a new Washington Park track record for five and a half furlongs after running the fastest five furlongs of the Lincoln Fields meeting, is expected to get considerable support from the betters.

Then, too, there will be Jake Lowenstein's fleet juvenile De Kalb. Swell Chance, New Englander, Bushwhacker, To a Tee, Even Roll, Smacked, and Pat's Boy complete the field. If all 10 start, the race will gross $6,500 and will net the winner $4,530.

Swell Chance is the horse which Trainer Euall Wyatt claimed from Calumet farm for $2,500, after which he beat Swain and other high grade colts in a trial race the Tuesday before the Arlington Futurity. Swell Chance wasn't eligible for either of the rich Futurities at Arlington and Washington Park.

Howard Entry Favorite.

While the juveniles are having their last fling of the meeting, the stars of the older division will be going thru their final conditioning for the $25,000 handicap on Labor day.

The Charles S. Howard pair, Kayak II. and Advocator, are expected to get the heaviest play in the mutuels. Valdina farm's Viscounty earned many new friends by the way in which he won a trial race earlier this week. Tom Taggart's Yale o' Nine continues in good form.

Mrs. Marie Evans' distance star, Shot Put, and J. C. Brady's War Plumage are others expected to go in this mile and a quarter event.

Noble Count, which had won six out of seven races while in the hands of Trainer Euall Wyatt, scored yesterday for the first time since Hirsch Jacobs claimed him on July 30. It was the first time Jacobs got him down into the class at which he had been winning consistently for Wyatt. He was running yesterday with a claiming tag of $2,750, which was only $250 more than the price at which Jacobs picked him up.

Scandalous 2d by Head.

The occasion of his victory yesterday was the Midway purse at a mile. After taking the lead away from Scandalous in the stretch, Noble Count went on to win by three lengths. Scandalous saved second place from Memory Book by a margin of a head.

NOBLE COUNT, under steadying restraint early, responded well when called upon, took command after entering the final furlong, moved to the inside after drawing clear and, altho enjoying a comfortable lead, had to be kept under strong handling to the end. SCANDALOUS, rushed to the front, drew clear after a quarter mile, increased his advantage during the run to the stretch, was unable to withstand the winner and weakened rapidly near the end. MEMORY BOOK improved his position on the outside and closed with a rush.

MOE SPRINGER, JOHN GRAW WIN IN COUNTY GOLF

Clash in 36 Hole Final for Title Tomorrow.

Marshall [Moe] Springer of Evergreen, the medalist, and John Graw, unattached, will meet in a 36 hole match for the Cook county amateur golf championship today on the Columbus park course. Springer defeated Lew Sherper of Evergreen, 2 and 1, and Graw eliminated Harry Wils Sr. of Lincoln Park, 4 and 3, in semi-final matches yesterday.

Followed by a large gallery, Springer toured the first nine holes in 34, one over par, while Sherper made the same distance in 35. The former Chicago district junior open titleholder won the first three holes after Sherper's tee shot was short of the green at the 186 yard second, and employed an extra putt at the third green. Springer had previously birdied the opening hole after his drive was on the carpet at the 274 yard No. 1.

Makes Up Lost Ground.

However, Sherper made up his lost ground with a birdie on the fourth and annexed the fifth and sixth holes where Springer hooked two tee shots. Springer led 1 up at the turn. Up to that point not a hole had been halved.

Sherper squared the contest on the tenth with a birdie 3. Springer traded the twelfth which he birdied with a putt of 15 feet for Sherper's par 4 thirteenth, after Springer wasted two strokes in the bushes for a bogey 6. Springer was 1 up approaching the seventeenth and ended the match with a subpar 3 after sinking a 20 foot putt.

Graw Cards a 34.

Graw, the 1931 western junior finalist, parred six of the first nine holes, birdied the sixth with a short putt, and took bogeys at the third and eighth holes, for a score of 34. Wils traveled the same distance in 36. With the match squared only once, Graw regained the edge at the sixth and held it thruout the contest. He was 1 up at the turn and increased his lead on the back nine where he captured the eleventh, thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth holes in par figures.

Wils, who recently captured the midwest public links amateur tournament, sent two drives into the bushes at the eleventh and thirteenth holes, and three putted the fourteenth. Wils conceded the last green and match to Graw after his second shot was trapped off the green. The cards:

New Hope for the Cubs of 1941

Fans, meet two brand new Cubs. They are Lou Novikoff, slugging outfielder (left), and Lou Stringer, a second baseman who is said to be the fanciest fielder in the Pacific Coast league. The north siders acquired the pair from Los Angeles yesterday for cash and players to be delivered later. The new men will report to Manager Hartnett next spring.

Snead Rallies; Beats Sarazen on Home Hole

the last two with birdie putts of 9 and 15 feet.

Nelson Wins Easily.

Nelson, who appeared to have found his game again yesterday in his decision over Dick Metz, the tournament medalist, was still very much on it today. He won the first two holes and thereafter Kirk never was able to overtake him. By was 3 under for the 31 holes of the match, being 2 up at nine, 4 up at eighteen, and 5 on top at the 27th. His approach within a foot of the pin at the 343 yard 29th, was the decisive shot of the match, the last two being halved.

The Guldahl-Hogan match was the slowest of the day, in contrast to the speedy play of Snead and Sarazen. It did, however, provide the best medal scoring of the quarter-final round. Big Ralph was 8 under for the 34 holes, while Ben tagged along right after him with a 5 under par record. The contest was such that only eight holes were won in all. Six of the 28 halves holes were shared in birdies. Two up at noon, the Chicagoan made his advantage 3 up at the 27th, and they halved the next seven holes in even par. Guldahl fired the best front nine of the tournament in the afternoon, a 4 under 32.

Sarazen Awes Gallery.

The gallery was still marveling at the 38 year old Sarazen after he had shot his second consecutive 68, five under par, to take a 2 up margin over Snead at the end of the morning 18. Snead was doing a fairish job himself, being three under and still 2 down after 13 holes. Sarazen knocked a wedge dead to win the first and Sam could never do better than even it at the fifth with a 25 foot birdie putt, because Sarazen hammered in birds on the next two holes. Sam got one back with a 12 foot try on No. 10, and Gene ran down another 12 footer on the 12th after matching Snead's bird on the 11th. Sam got down a 10 footer at the 15th to be only 1 down, but missed short putts on the last two greens, yielding the 18th to Gene's par.

Nelson Three Under Par.

McSpaden was away to a ragged start that left him 2 down after seven holes. Runyan three putted the eighth and Jug squared it by smacking his tee shot to the ninth six inches from the flag. The Boston pro then took four of the next five holes for his ultimate 4 up advantage. Runyan was trapped at the 10th, and Jug, after getting birdie putts on the 12th and 13th, holed out from the sand for a winning deuce at the 189 yard 14th. Jug had a 72 to Paul's 75.

Kirk held Nelson to a 2 up edge at the ninth by getting the jump with a 30 foot birdie on the first. Eddie found a bush off the second green and three puttted the seventh, but holed out from 25 feet to win the eighth. Nelson then dropped a seven foot effort on No. 11, and reached the 521 yard 12th in two for another bird. He finished the round with a 70, three under par.

Cubs Acquire Pair of Coast League Stars

tryout at short and third, has played in 151 games, and while his batting average of .260 is not spectacular, he has shown himself to be a timely smacker with 74 runs batted in. He has made 13 home runs, 24 doubles, and 7 triples.

There are those who fear that Novikoff may have trouble with major league pitching, but scouts say Stringer probably will do as well against major slinging as he has done against the softer Pacific coast brand. Anyhow, it's Stringer's defensive skill that has the Cub management a-twitter with excitement.

In getting Novikoff and Stringer, the Cubs also purchased Paul Erickson, right handed pitcher who has been with Tulsa, tho the property of Los Angeles. He has won 11 and lost 10 in the Texas league.

Battle Reds Today.

The Cubs, as presently constituted, will open a western road trip in Cincinnati this afternoon, engaging the Reds in a single game today and a double header tomorrow. They will play a Labor day double header in Pittsburgh, then move on to St. Louis for one night and one afternoon affair. Claude Passeau is scheduled to go after his 18th victory in this afternoon's match.

44,877 See Indians Beat White Sox, 4-2

Tresh. Heath grounded to Webb and Lee emerged successfully on Keltner's pop to Webb. All the Sox got in their half was a pass to Webb with one out. Rosenthal fanned and Kuhel's scorching liner was taken by Chapman.

The third Sox hit was a little different. It was Solters' 10th homer that arched into the left field pavilion to open the fourth, precipitating a shower of straw hats. It was the only hit of the inning. In the next inning the Sox caused another flutter, but to no purpose. After Kennedy and Lee had fanned, Webb and Rosenthal dispatched singles into center. Feller quickly removed this mild threat by fanning Kuhel.

The Indians' run in the sixth wasn't exactly the result of robust hitting. Heath opened with a soft bounder to Lee but it escaped the southpaw's glove for a single. He was sent to second by Comrade Keltner's bunt. Mack grounded to Kuhel but Lee was late getting over to cover the bag and Mack beat his modest contribution for a hit, Heath going to third. Jeff scored on Hemsley's long fly to Rosenthal.

The Sox crept forward with one run in the sixth by touching off three singles in succession but they came after the first two batters had been purged. Wright, Tresh, and Kennedy rattled singles into center, Wright scoring, but Lee struck out. Then the Sox turned up with more business in the seventh, but couldn't close a deal. Webb led off with a safe drive to right and was nailed trying to stretch it to a double. Rosenthal fanned, Kuhel singled, and Solters survived on a bad throw by Comrade Keltner. Then Appling bounced to Trosky.

The Indians kicked up a two-sided fuss in the ninth. Kennedy's bad throw put Chapman on base with one out and he stopped at third on a double to right by Weatherly. Boudreau fouled to Tresh for the second out. Then Chapman tried to steal home, only to be called out. The Indians didn't like the decision, claiming Lee had balked when he saw Chapman streaking for home. All the protest netted was a mild shower of beer cans for Chapman when he took his position in right field.

Wright opened the eighth for the Sox with a single but nothing followed. It was the same in the ninth when Webb led off with his third single and the 12th hit off the Indian mound expert.

2 Smith Boys, Eddie and Al, to Pitch Today

Eddie Smith, who hasn't had much luck deflating the Indians this year, will try it again at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the second of the series in Comiskey park. Al Smith, also a left hander and a fellow who has had the Indian sign on the Sox all season, will be turned loose by the Tribe.

A Harvey, Ill., delegation appeared at home plate before last night's game and presented townsman Lou Boudreau with a giant radio. It was too big to truck to the ball park so the delegates just gave him a description of the gift.

Jim Dykes' White Sox family had an addition yesterday. The newcomer was Jack Hallett, a youthful right handed pitching giant purchased from the Shreveport, Texas league club.

Hydrox Girls Win from Rockolas to Take Title

The Hydrox girls' softball team last night won the Major league championship, defeating the Rockolas, 5 to 0, in Shewbridge field in the finals of the playoffs. The Rivals won second place, triumphing over the Mills, 8 to 3.

Red Sox Beat A's, 5 to 4, and Gain on Yanks

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP).—Boston's Red Sox gained a half game on the idle third place New York Yankees today by capturing the opener of a four game series with the Athletics, 5 to 4. Doc Cramer's double and Ted Williams' triple, scoring Cramer, broke a 4 to 4 deadlock in the seventh. Relieving Fritz Ostermueller in the fourth, Joe Heving pitched brilliantly, limiting the A's to two hits in five and one-third innings.

GREEN BAY FANS GREET PACKERS AFTER VICTORY

Gather at Station as Players Arrive.

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 30 [Special].—Hundreds of enthusiastic fans were at the Milwaukee railroad station late this afternoon to greet the Green Bay Packers who last night defeated the College All-Stars, 45 to 28, in the annual All-Star game in Chicago. No formal reception had been planned, but the gathering of fans at the station was evidence of their appreciation of the Packers' victory.

Many in the crowd had seen the game, and returned by earlier trains. Others, who battled with the Wallace address on the radio, pieced the story together by radio and newspaper accounts and by questioning the football players for first hand information.

Packer Fans Celebrate.

The football special that rolled into Green Bay this morning, carrying several hundred Wisconsin fans who left soon after the game last night, provided a wild picture in assorted victory celebration. Toasts to the winning Packers were drunk in beer, pop, milk or whatever was offered. More sedate fans gathered in coaches farther back and quietly went over the spectacular scoring spree enjoyed by both teams.

Coach E. M. [Curley] Lambeau told well wishers at the station that players who didn't see a lot of action in the game will carry the burden against the Washington Redskins in a nonleague game in Milwaukee Monday afternoon. He announced that eight or nine of the regulars would be excused from practice, but the others must be out as usual.

Lambeau Notes Mistakes.

"We have a lot to do from now on with the National league schedule ahead," he stated. "We made several mistakes last night. It is nice to be able to win and straighten out the mistakes afterward."

The Packers will leave Sunday morning for the Milwaukee exhibition and fans who envision another victory after the successes of last night will follow by auto and train.

Fans' Anger Over Wallace 'Static' Grows

air, returning after the game broadcast resumed.

"Are we mad! We have supported the Democratic party 8 long years. Have decided that politics cannot interfere with our sports. We have voted for All-Star players, now pledge our votes to Willkie." [From Sigma Tau fraternity at Cincinatti, O.]

"When did THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the world's greatest newspaper, become subservient to the Wallace Farmer?"

"I did not think THE TRIBUNE would present any politician, especially a guy like Wallace, in the middle of your creation—the All-Star game."

"I have heard the seed merchant from Iowa make a speech. He interferes with my All-Star radio program. I ask if it is treasonable or seditious to ask you whether or not the President may run for a third term and might not Wisconsin petition authority of the nation, to wit, its congress, to secede from the nation and ask the rest of the northwest territory to fall in?" [From Attorney Carl F. Young of Green Bay, Wis.]

Too Late to Change, He Says.

G. W. Johnstone, radio director of the Democratic national committee, said yesterday that during the last week in July he had called in representatives of the three national radio chains—Mutual, National, and Columbia—and these representatives indicated that the nights of Aug. 22 or 29 would be satisfactory for Wallace's broadcast. There was no definite commitment, however, to either of these dates at that time, Johnstone admitted.

About three weeks ago, he informed Mutual and the other two chains that Aug. 29, between 9:30 to 10 p. m. central daylight time was the time chosen. A day later Mutual's New York office notified him by night letter that the time decided on would cut into the All-Star broadcast and requested that the time or date for Wallace be changed.

"This was unfortunate," Johnstone said, "but nothing could be done because all arrangements had already been made for Wallace's talk."

Game Booked Long Ago.

Mutual officials said no definite agreement had been reached when they received Johnstone's notification of the date. The All-Star game had been booked long before. It also was pointed out that Wallace's speech could have been broadcast at other times during the night as the whole period from 7 to 10 p. m. is favorable radio time and the All-Star game did not begin until 8:30.

Five minutes after Wallace went on the air, the telephone wires were hot with indignant protests. More than 1,500 calls—some of them long distance — swamped the night telephone force before the game came back on the air, and the special bulletin service was used.

INDICATE FOREIGN CENTRAL BANKS SEND GOLD TO U.S.

Deposits Have Reached New High Mark.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—Hints that foreign countries may be moving a part of their central bank reserves to the United States for safekeeping was indicated today in federal reserve bank figures showing foreign central bank deposits in reserve institutions here have increased to a new high of $888,000,000 from $360,000,000 on May 1.

"What may be a significant change appears to have developed during the last three months in the relation between foreign sales of gold to the treasury and foreign official balances at the reserve banks," said the Federal Reserve bank of New York in its September review of credit and business conditions.

More Held as Deposits.

"During the first nine months of the war such sales of gold appear to have been related chiefly to current demands for dollar exchange and foreign official balances tended to decline. During the more recent months, however, substantial amounts of the proceeds of these sales of gold have remained in deposit accounts in the reserve banks and increased the total volume of such deposits to record levels.

"The foreign central bank deposits in the federal reserve banks have increased from less than $360,000,000 on May 1 to $888,000,000 on August 28. And this rise is not the full measure of growth in foreign official funds in this country, as some foreign central banks maintain deposit accounts in commercial banks, and foreign governments also have deposits in American banks."

Receipts by Countries.

Gold arriving from foreign countries during the first three weeks of August included $213,100,000 from Canada, $50,600,000 from the United Kingdom, $11,500,000 from Portugal, $10,100,000 from South Africa, $8,300,000 from Colombia, $4,600,000 from Brazil, $4,300,000 from the Netherlands Indies, $3,600,000 from Sweden, $3,200,000 from Mexico, $2,900,000 from the Philippines, $2,700,000 from Hong kong, $700,000 from Peru, and $700,000 from British India.

FARMER RENTS NEW $1,300 HOME FOR $50 A YEAR

Thomasville, Ga., Aug. 30 [Special].—The federal government's latest venture in housing got its official start today when E. Vernon Ellis, a farmer, moved into a new five room house near here, built at a cost of $1,300, for which he will pay $50 a year in rent. The house is wired for electricity and has an open fireplace and two porches, one screened.

It is the first of 250 planned in Thomas county by the County Housing authority, working with the state housing board and the United States Housing authority on a program aimed at removing "rural slums." Upon completion of each unit, some substandard farm dwelling in the county must be dismantled.

Under housing authority provisions, the prospective renter deeds an acre of land to the county authority. In addition to the $50 a year rental, the farmer-renters must do ordinary repair work.

BUSINESS BOOKS

"Depreciation of Public Utility Property," by Maurice Scharff, Dr. F. J. Leerburger, and Joseph Jeming. [Burstein & Chappe, N. Y., $3.50.]

This book is timely in the light of current problems of depreciation and amortization and their application to war contracts, as well as with regard to recent public utility regulations.

The authors present their solutions to the problems created by the change from old to new requirements of depreciation accounting. Valuation and rate cases are given as illustrations. Detailed treatment is accorded depreciation in relation to corporate finance, income, and property taxes and rate and valuation determinations.

There are several suggestions as to mathematical methods of making allowance for variations of maintenance expenses. Straight line and "estimated actual" depreciation methods are analyzed.

GEN. ELECTRIC, KRUPP INDICTED IN TRUST CASE

Price Conspiracies Are Alleged.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—A special federal grand jury investigating alleged antitrust law violations in war industries today indicted the General Electric company and the Krupp company of Essen, Germany, on charges of conspiracy to fix prices and control the supply of hard metals and tools vital to the nation's defense program.

The indictment, described by federal investigators as the most important defense-monopoly bill yet returned, was the second naming General Electric company, and the fourth war industry indictment by the grand jury in as many days.

Charges in Other Actions.

The first charged four firms with price-fixing in the airplane fabric industry, the second accused four companies of monopolistic practices in the glass bulb field, and the third accused five corporations of conspiring to control production and sale of bentonite—a moulding clay. Individual officers were also named in each case. General Electric was cited in the second.

Named in today's bill, besides the General Electric and Krupp companies, were:

Walter M. Stearns of Schenectady, N. Y., manager of trade relations and special contracts for General Electric; Carbaloy company of Detroit, Mich., a wholly-owned subsidiary of General Electric, and W. G. Robbins of Detroit, president, and Zay Jeffries of Cleveland, chairman of the board.

Denies Violating Law.

In Cleveland, Jeffries declared orperations of his company "have been carried out in guidance by competent counsel" and that the firm "has not knowingly violated any statute of the United States."

The Krupp firm, thru power to veto patent licenses to American firms for manufacture of tungsten carbide—used in machine cutting tools—holds the power to exert control over this country's defense program, the government charged.

The indictment alleged Krupp agreed not to export tungsten carbide, tools, and dies to the United States; and that General Electric and Carbaloy, in return, agreed not to export, thus setting up international control of the cutting elements.

The prosecutors expressed the opinion that similar agreements between Krupp [London dispatches said British bombers raided its Essen plant last night] and English firms had affected England in her defense preparations.

Charge Price Is Boosted.

When the agreement between Krupp and General Electric was signed in 1928, the prosecutors said, Krupp was selling its tungsten carbide products in this country at $48 a pound. After the contract the price soared to a top of $453 a pound, and the current price is $205. General Electric was said to have paid $1,100,000 for American rights to the Krupp business.

Krupp obtained the license veto power in 1936, and until the present, General Electric has extended, thru Carbaloy manufacturing privileges to only three American firms, said the indictment.

Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey set Sept. 10 for pleading.

ARMY REVEALS PLANS FOR FIVE ARMS DISTRICTS

Seeks to Avoid Use of Border Sites.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—Enlarging upon a statement made by President Roosevelt, army officials today disclosed plans for development of five interior strategic areas to be made at least partially "self-sufficient" in arms production. The President said at Hyde Park, N. Y., that action had been taken to locate vital defense establishments in the interior.

The army has received $244,000,000 from congress to expand armaments facilities, and contracts have been signed for four government owned, privately operated plants. Negotiations are under way for some 60 more.

Seek to Avoid Border Areas.

Officials said that wherever plants were built by the government and, insofar as possible, wherever private industry used government funds, the policy would be to place the plants in an area whose borders were at least 200 to 250 miles from any international boundary or coast.

A map of the United States has been drawn, with the interior area demarcated, and the whole region has been divided into five cross-country strips. In each one of those strips, it is intended eventually to place a group of industries such as a small arms plant, an ammunition loading plant, and perhaps an aircraft factory.

Present Area Markings.

Additional areas may be mapped, and the present ones may be changed, but the present areas have been marked as follows:

Purposes of Procedure.

Strategic purposes are to locate new plants out of range of air attack, and to avoid a highly vulnerable concentration of industry such as exists today in the "industrial triangle" which has Pittsburgh, Boston, and Wilmington, Del., as its three points.

In keeping with that policy, new powder plants were spotted at Charleston, Ind., and Radford, Va., and an ammunition loading plant at Ravenna, O.

A Chrysler tank manufacturing plant will be located at Detroit, opposite the Canadian border, but officials explained that this was done so that it would be near other Chrysler enterprises and convenient to sources of raw materials, labor, etc.

Negotiations also are under way now with North American Aviation, Inc., of California, for the construction of a plant at Dallas, Tex.

ARMY ORDERS 687 AIRPLANES 20,000 ENGINES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—Contracts for 687 combat airplanes and another order for 20,000 airplane motors were announced today by the war department.

The planes will cost $100,728,742, consisting of 410 interceptor pursuit ships, costing $30,278,787, from the Lockheed Aircraft corporation, Burbank, Cal., and 277 heavy bombers, valued at $70,449,955, from the Boeing Aircraft company of Seattle, Wash.

Altho no official figures were given on the cost of the 20,000 engines to be produced by the Wright Aeronautical corporation, it was estimated that they would involve an expenditure of between 180 and 200 million dollars.

Largest Order of Program.

This is the largest engine order of the defense program, topping the deal for 17,000 Pratt & Whitney motors, costing about 160 millions, for the army and navy, as announced yesterday by the navy department. Officials said that the two engine orders should meet the joint requirements of the army and navy for 1941 and 1942.

The war department also announced today that the Curtiss-Wright corporation has agreed to produce 14,000 airplane propellers.

The length of time required for production of the two engine orders was not estimated, but officials said that work on the orders would be pushed.

As in the agreement announced yesterday, the navy will take some of the engines ordered by the war department and reimburse the war department. Funds are included in the supplemental defense appropriation bill of more than 5 billion dollars passed yesterday by the senate and sent to the house for concurrence in amendments. After this is completed the bill will be ready for the President's signature.

Difference Between Contracts.

The formal contracts for the engine orders await action on the appropriation bill. The national defense advisory commission, however, has approved both engine orders.

War department officials said that the only particular difference between the deal with Wright and that with Pratt & Whitney, a subsidiary of United Aircraft corporation, is that Wright will furnish the machine tools necessary for filling the engine order, while under the Pratt & Whitney contract the navy will finance the machine tools and retain title to them. The company will finance the necessary expansion costs, which were estimated at 2½ million dollars, compared with a machine tool bill of about 7 millions.

No Estimates on Expansions.

No estimate was made on expansion costs to fill the Wright order. However, the Reconstruction Finance corporation has made available to Wright Aeronautical a defense loan of 92 million dollars. It has also set aside for Curtiss-Wright a loan of 34 million dollars to acquire plant sites and erect and equip plants for airplane manufacture at Buffalo, N. Y., Columbus, O., and St. Louis, Mo.

The RFC also has agreed to lend Curtiss-Wright up to 15 million dollars for labor, materials, and other necessary expenses in manufacturing at least 3,791 airplanes for the government, with the government holding an option for the same number of additional planes. Companies cooperating with Curtiss-Wright on the plane orders can get up to $2,160,000 from the RFC for machinery and equipment financing.

The Boeing company has received a loan of 10½ million dollars from the RFC for defense work.

"Spirit of Coöperation."

The war department said of the new arrangement between the army and navy for pooling orders that it gives "expression to the spirit of coöperation which has always existed between the armed services."

The army also announced contracts totaling $7,952,028 for tents, cots, clothing, and bedding required for the National Guard mobilization and conscription programs. While this announcement was made, Representative John Taber [R., N. Y.] criticized war department plans for housing drafted men in tents this winter. He called the attention of the house to a war department announcement that 180,000 men would be so housed. "That is practically half of the troops they are going to call up," he told the house. Taber said that he intended to offer an amendment to the conscription bill preventing the army from calling men until it could house them in cantonments.

New Tin Plate Method Called Supply Saver

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP).—A new process of making tin plate that potentially would conserve this nation's vital imported supply of tin for defense needs was disclosed today by the Standard Steel Spring company of nearby Coraopolis.

The new plate, called nickel-tin, consists of half nickel and half tin. It can be produced at the same cost as by the all tin method, the company stated. It is applied in layers, first of nickel and then of tin, to steel sheets by a process of electrolysis known as corronizing.

The development recently was disclosed by the company to the council of national defense.

Vital to Defense Needs.

Tin is a basic necessity in the making of scores of vital defense needs. The United States' supply is almost entirely imported from Great Britain and the Dutch East Indies.

Steel sources estimate this nation holds in reserve a year's supply of tin, about 75,000 tons. W. F. Rockwell, chairman of the board of Standard Steel Spring, declared that substitution of corronizing for the present hot-dip method of making tin plate would stretch the year's supply over a four year period. Enough hot-dip plants could be converted into corronizing plants in six to eight months to meet the nation's needs, he added.

Half Used For Tin Cans.

About half the nation's consumption of tin goes into tin plate for the making of tin cans, bottle caps, collapsible tubes for tooth paste, etc.

Corronizing, as a method of plating, in not new. It was first announced, after two years of research, by Standard Steel Spring in 1939. However, at that time it was restricted to plating with nickel and zinc as protection against corrosion. That plate was called nickel-zinc.

The research for a nickel-tin plating followed. Experiments have shown nickel-tin can be produced satisfactorily from reclaimed tin also, Rockwell said.

Hot-dipped tin is made by dipping steel sheets—the base of all tin plate—in a bath of molten tin. For a thick coating of tin the article must be dipped a number of times.

Method Permits Savings.

Standard Steel Spring claims application of tin plate by its process can be regulated from a thickness of ten one-millionth of an inch to one hundred times that amount, and further that the outside of a tin can could be given a light coat and the inside a coat of 30, 40 or 50 one-millionth of an inch. It is this feature that the company contends will result in tremendous savings in the amount of tin used—from 65 to 90 per cent less than hot-dip plate—while giving equal protection to foods or other contents of the can.

In a letter reporting the development to the council of national defense, Standard Steel Spring declared the following hot-dip tin plate mills could be converted in 60 days to produce corronized nickel-tin plate:

Gary, Ind., plant of the Carnegie Illinois steel corporation; Steubenville, O., plant of the Weirton Steel corporation; Canonsburg, Pa., plant of the Standard Tin Plate company; Midland, Pa., plant of the Crucible Steel company; Warren, O., plant of the Thomas Steel company, and the Monroe, Mich., plant of the Republic Steel corporation.

CARNEGIE STUDIES PROCESS.

Officials of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation in Chicago said yesterday that they have been considering the new tin plating process developed by Standard Steel Spring. They said, however, it is too early to express an opinion as to its feasibility for the Gary works.

WORKERS SPEND 69.8 PCT. OF PAY ON MERCHANDISE

Middletown, Conn., Aug. 30 (AP).—The Russell Manufacturing company, which recently paid off in silver dollars [easy to trace] to learn more about its employes' spending habits, reported today that merchandise took 69.8 per cent of the $35,000 weekly payroll.

Insofar as the company was able to learn from figures checked in the Middletown area, 14.2 per cent of the weekly pay roll went into savings accounts, 4.6 per cent was used to pay utility companies for their respective services, and .014 per cent was devoted to amusements.

This totaled 88.614 per cent, leaving 11.386 per cent unaccounted for. Company officials said they believed it was spent in other communities.

Total offerings during the week ended yesterday were $83,290,340, the biggest volume in six weeks. Municipal financing was comparatively small.

EMPLOYMENT CLIMBS IN JULY TO HIGHEST SINCE OCTOBER, 1937

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Employment in the United States during July reached the highest level since October, 1937, the National Industrial Conference board, a research organization sponsored largely by industries, reported today.

The July total of workers was estimated at 46,882,000, a figure 4,000 higher than June and exceeded in the last three years only by the 47,516,000 employed in October, 1937.

However, due to an increase in persons available for jobs, July saw a rise of 54,000 in the unemployed, bringing the number of jobless to 8,235,000. It was the first rise in unemployment in five months.

"The increase is not regarded as significant," the board stated, "since it is entirely accounted for by the normal increase in the labor force, which is estimated at about 58,000 a month."

More than offsetting the unemployment increase, the board reported, was a rise of 95,000 in the number given work in WPA and CCC, carrying the total in those government agencies to 2,038,000. It was the first increase noted in these rolls in five months.

TREASURY EASES BAN ON CASH FOR INVADED NATIONS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—The treasury today authorized a resumption of personal remittances of money by Americans to friends and relatives in the invaded European countries. These remittances were blocked by decrees of President Roosevelt, issued since April 8, restricting the movement of money to or from each of the invaded countries.

The order has no effect on Poland, Germany, or other countries which were not included in the Presidential "freezing" orders.

The new regulations permit remittances only by persons who have lived in the United States continuously for more than one year and had been making similar remittances for at least six months prior to April 8.

The payments were limited to a maximum of $50 for any one person or $100 for any one family, per month, in the foreign country. Evidence that the money is intended only for necessary living expenses also will be required.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL RENEWS 5 YEAR POWER CONTRACT

One of the largest customers of the Commonwealth Edison company, the Illinois Central railroad, that bought enough electricity last year to supply a town of 400,000 persons, renewed its five year contract yesterday at unchanged rates.

Officials of the railroad said the electricity bill in 1939 totaled approximately $790,000 of which $700,000 was for suburban service. The line operates about 460 suburban trains a day.

The original contract between Commonwealth Edison and the Illinois Central was signed in 1926 when the road electrified its suburban service. That contract was for 10 years and the subsequent ones, including the one just signed, were for five years.

Chinese Bond Selling Body Told to Register with SEC

Surprise Rally Sweeps Stock Market Higher

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Contrary to the opinion of many that the stock market would do nothing today because of the approach of the lengthy Labor day recess, a surprise rally pushed prices of selected rails, steels, motors, aircrafts, and other industrials up 1 to more than 2 points.

Mildly improved tendencies were evident at the start. Volume then died down and prices wavered. A buying wave soon swept over the carriers and spread to other departments. Blocks of 1,000 or more shares lifted the volume on the way up. There were subsequent slowdowns, but the turnover of 563,510 shares compared with 264,760 yesterday and was the largest since Aug. 13.

Index Up .7 Point.

While price gains were reduced in some cases at the close, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks held a net advance of .7 of a point at 43.5.

The upturn duplicated that of Aug. 21, which was the best since July 30. A total of 700 individual issues were traded against 577 the day before. Of the total 525 were up, 48 down, and 127 unchanged.

Brokers found it difficult to suggest any single reason for the rally. They pointed out, tho, that the apparently growing strength of the British in their air battles with the Nazis was a heartening speculative influence; that the brightening domestic business picture came in for more attention, and that Wall street entertained firmer hopes for constructive congressional action on the national tax program and conscription bill.

Wright Stock Up 9 Points.

Aircrafts were aided by announcement of the war department that an agreement had been reached with the Wright Aeronautical corporation and Curtiss-Wright on a big order for plane engines and propellers. A single 10 share sale of Wright Aeronautical was negotiated at 100, up 9 points. Curtiss-Wright was up ½. Fractions to 2 were added to United Aircraft, Douglas, Glenn Martin, and Sperry.

CHICAGO STOCKS RISE.

YEAR'S COLLECTIONS OF INTERNAL REVENUE MOUNT 158 MILLIONS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—Guy T. Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue, said today that internal revenue collections for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1940, were $158,878,394 more than those of the preceding 12 months. Collections totaled $5,340,452,346.

Income tax payments, both corporate and individual, showed decreases, however. Corporations paid $1,120,581,550 in the period, compared with $1,122,540,800 in the preceding year. Individuals' payments amounted to $982,017,376, compared with the $1,028,833,796.

Gains were registered in the miscellaneous levies and employment taxes.

Peoria Steel Maker's Profit and Sales Rise

Profits and sales of Keystone Steel and Wire company of Peoria, Ill., increased in the fiscal year ended June 30, W. H. Sommer, president of the company, told stockholders yesterday in his annual report.

Net income after all charges and taxes was $1,418,221, equal to $1.87 a share on the capital stock. In the preceding year the company earned $897,299, or $1.18 a share. For the quarter ended June 30 profit rose to $446,423, or 59 cents a share, from $380,738, or 50 cents a share, in the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year.

Sales at All-Time Peak.

Sales for the year were the largest ever shown in the 51 annual reports which the company has issued. The increase in dollar volume was 20 per cent, to $13,279,520 from $11,040,319. On a tonnage basis sales rose 16.2 per cent, totaling 241,139 tons against 207,669.

For the quarter ended with June sales were higher at $3,765,757, against $3,434,494 a year earlier.

"Operations during the year were favored by relatively stable selling prices," Sommer's message said. "Prices on the whole, in fact, averaged somewhat higher than in the preceding year.

"These increases, however, were substantially offset by advances in raw material costs, with the result that the higher selling prices found little reflection in profits. Gains in profits were almost entirely due to increased volume."

N. Y. EXCHANGE REFUSES TO HOLD UP TRADING RULE

New York, Aug. 30 [Special].—If the studies of the Securities and Exchange commission uncover new facts with regard to multiple trading, the New York Stock exchange will be happy to reëxamine the matter. This, it is understood, is the substance of the letter written yesterday by William McC. Martin Jr., president of the stock exchange, to Sumner T. Pike, acting chairman of the SEC.

The exchange did not accede to the request of the commission that enforcement of its multiple trading rule be postponed for 60 days.

On July 12 the exchange committee on member firms announced that the rule would be enforced after Sept. 1. It forbade members of the New York Stock exchange to make markets in New York Stock exchange securities traded on other exchanges.

Martin said that "stays of execution" for 30 and 60 days were being granted at the request of individual concerns that were affected.

Defense Group Says Wood Pulp Supply Enough for '41

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP).—The defense commission reported today that wood pulp supplies in the United States in 1941 would be sufficient for requirements and that no government sponsored program for new plants or any curtailment of the use of pulp was in prospect. Edward R. Stettinius Jr., commission member in charge of raw materials, said that increased domestic production, imports from Canada and increased use of waste paper would more than offset a decline in shipments from Sweden, Finland and Norway.

CHICAGOAN BUYS DAIRY MACHINERY MAKING COMPANY

Birkenstein acquired both the physical assets and the business, taking immediate possession. The purchase price was not revealed.

1,000 PLYMOUTH SALESMEN VIEW NEW '41 MODELS

More than 1,000 Plymouth dealers and salesmen in the Chicago area yesterday were given their first glimpse of the 1941 Plymouth cars at an advance showing at the Stevens hotel. The public was admitted to the special display, but the new Plymouth models will not be on view generally in dealers' showrooms for several days.

L. D. Cosart, sales manager for the Dodge truck division, represented the Chrysler corporation at a two day meeting of the dealers and their sales staffs. Cosart said details as to the many improvements in the new cars will be made public next week. E. J. Barlow, De Soto's Chicago regional manager, presided at the sales meeting.

Cosart told the group that with industry operating at a high rate many millions of dollars in purchasing power is being released to the public which indicates that prospects are good for the automobile industry.

HEARINGS ON TAX BILL TO BE HELD BY SENATE GROUP

Companies Get Chance to Criticize Plan.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—Chairman Pat Harrison [D., Miss.] of the senate finance committee decided today to hold hearings on the proposed new excess profits taxes and invite affected corporations to criticize them.

"The country is entitled to express its opinions on how this would operate," Harrison said. He described the excess profits legislation rushed thru the house yesterday as the "most intricate tax bill ever presented to congress."

At the same time, Harrison predicted that the senate would speed action on the bill. President Roosevelt and defense leaders have asked early enactment of an excess profits measure, saying that some concerns were holding off from defense contracts until questions involved in the legislation were settled.

Hearing to Run 3 Days.

Harrison said that spokesmen for interested government agencies and private corporations would be heard for three days, starting next Tuesday. Then the finance committee will sall in treasury tax experts for a general study of the house-approved provisions.

"We should have the bill ready for senate action a week from Monday," he said. "I don't think it will take long after that."

Joint senate-house hearings were held on the excess profits question early this month, but the house ways and means committee later redrafted the bill and the measure was brought up in the house under procedure whereby no amendments could be offered.

Pending a detailed study of the measure, Harrison said he could not predict possible senate changes. Several senators, including Senator Robert La Follette [Prog., Wis.], are expected to urge higher rates on excess profits than the 20 to 50 per cent levy voted by the house.

Estimates on Revenues.

Tax experts estimated that the house bill would net $300,000,000 the first year and $700,000,000 to $900,000,000 annually thereafter from about 70,000 of the 500,000 corporations in this country.

A provision allowing every corporation $5,000 profit before the levy is applied is expected to exempt more than 400,000 corporations.

In an effort to encourage private industry to expand plants and factories for defense contracts, the bill would allow deduction of these approved costs over a five year period before a corporation figured its excess profits or regular income taxes.

HOGS WIPE OUT LOSSES AND GO TO NEW PEAKS

After a slow start following a slight setback on Thursday, the hog market rallied strongly yesterday and prices rose 10 to 20 cents to new high levels. The top, at $7.75 a hundred pounds for light butchers, was highest since last September's war boom and is the highest for August since 1938. Good shipping demand and a light supply combined to force prices higher.

Only one load of hogs sold at the top while the next price was $7.70 for several loads. The bulk of the day's arrivals sold from $6.15 to $7.70.

Fed steers and yearlings were in demand with prices fully steady. Short fed and grassy cattle were weak to somewhat lower.

Two loads of steers grading good sold at $11.50 and a top of $11.70 a 100 pounds was paid for some 950 pound yearlings. The best of the heifers were steady while plainer kinds were weaker. Beef cows suffered a slight decline.

COURT STAYS SEC RULING AGAINST DETROIT UTILITY

Columbus, O., Aug. 30 (AP).—An order temporarily staying a decision of the Securities and Exchange commission holding the Detroit Edison company to be a subsidiary of the North American company was granted the Detroit utility by Judge Herschel W. Arant of the Sixth United States Circuit Court of Appeals today.

The order provided that the commission's decision, which would bring the Detroit firm under regulation of the securities division, shall not become effective until the Circuit court determines whether a permanent stay shall be granted. The court is considering an appeal asking that the commission's ruling be set aside.

The full court will convene in Cincinnati Sept. 27 when it will probably consider the permanent stay question.

ELMER KIMBALL SUSPENDED FROM EXCHANGE TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Grover B. Hill today ordered all contract markets to refuse trading privileges until further notice to Elmer C. Kimball of Chicago. He also has revoked Kimball's registration as futures commission merchant and floor broker.

Kimball was found guilty by the assistant secretary of having taken the opposite side of trades which he executed on the Chicago Board of Trade for customers without the knowledge or consent of the customers.

The German caption describes this as lights over Berlin during British air raid. The streaks are caused by tracer bullets, antiaircraft fire, and searchlights. British flyers opened new attacks on Berlin this morning, dropping some of their bombs within four blocks of the Wilhelmstrasse. [Acme Telephoto: Sent yesterday from Berlin by radio.] (Story on page 1.)

Germany and Russia as they appeared on the map of Europe a year ago. On Sept. 1, 1939, Nazi troops invaded Poland. Two days later, France and Britain declared war on Germany.

Sharon Conn, 22 months old, and Donald Parker, 15 months, judged healthiest girl and boy at Iowa State fair. Sharon's parents are on direct relief. She set record with 99.4 score. [Associated Press Wirephoto.] (Story on page 8.)

The German caption describes this as a dive bomber attacking a tank, but does not give the location of incident.

The area covered by diagonal lines has now spread over Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium, Luxemburg, and France, while Russia has taken part of Poland, Finland, Rumania, and the Baltic states. Further territorial changes yesterday involved Rumania and Hungary.
